CATHOLICS IN CLASH

Mexican Troops Called Out

Worshipers Assembled in Defense of Church Defy Efforts at Dispersal

Religious Boycott Results in Falling Off of Tax Revenue in Capital

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 15. (AP)—Several Catholics and a number of policemen were wounded, apparently slightly, in a clash this morning in the Mexico City suburb of Tacubaya. The Catholics had assembled to defend the Church of Lourdes in response to unfounded rumors that the Mexican Catholic Reformist church, which does not recognize the Pope, was planning to seize the edifice.

The police were unable to disperse the crowd and when soldiers arrived they tried to scatter the Catholics by stampeding them by throwing stones.

Just half a dozen persons were injured.

ATTENDANCE INCREASES

Despite the third Sunday of deprivation in Catholic churches throughout Mexico City passed peacefully. To all outward appearances the city's life is proceeding normally. Guadalupe Church was attended today by more worshipers than on any day since the suspension of services, but less than normal. Other churches were well filled.

Mexican Protestant ministers conducted the usual services in the native churches.

The League for the Defense of Religious Liberty has issued a bulletin asserting that the attendance at some of the moving-picture houses in Mexico City has been reduced from 50 to 75 per cent because of the economic boycott in protest against the new religious regulations. The people are urged to continue their abstention from theaters and other avoidable expenditures.

Amusement taxes in the City of Mexico have been reduced 40,000 pesos, it is declared, since the boycott began.

DELOYERS CIRCULARIZED

Attorney-General Ortega today announced that the Department of Justice expects soon to accept the resignation of every agent who is not sympathetic with the government's religious policy.

The Attorney-General recently circularized all employees requesting a statement as to their attitude. Attached to the circular was a resignation form, which each employee must fill out and return with his reply. Those who support the government will be retained at their posts; the resignations of the others will be accepted. The number replying as favorable to the government's policy has not been announced.

TINY TARZAN BACK HOME

Lad Found After Three Days

Seven Year-Old Oregon Boy Lost in Canyon Near Mount Hood

Little Woodsman Lives On Huckleberries and Raw Fish

PORTLAND (Or.) Aug. 15. (AP)—Little Jack Strong has been found. The 7-year-old lad, son of H. W. Strong of Gresham, Or., lost since Thursday in the rugged canyon region on the lower slopes of Mount Hood, and sought since then by scores, called "hello" to an isolated searching party of three Hood River men at noon today and seven hours later dined on chocolate and orange juice at the Clear Fork ranger station on Clear Creek.

Nate Baldwin, Percy Bucklin and Jesse Fully found him. This morning they climbed along Yocum Ride, between Clear Creek and the Muddy Fork of the Sandy River, firing shots as signals as they went. Nearly to the snow line they were about to halt when the call of the boy came through the woods. They hurried to him, fearing that the boy might be suffering from his three days and nights on the cold slopes, without food except that produced from the bushes and streams, and with only underwear, trousers, thin shirt and tennis shoes for clothing.

EATS FISH AND BERRIES

The men offered to carry Jack, but he would not allow it. Instead he walked two and one-half miles of the return journey to the ranger station unaided.

"I'm not hungry," he told them. "I ate three fish and picked some huckleberries."

That was all the food he had during the seventy-two hours alone in the mountains.

When found he was only one mile from the point where he had spent the night, sleeping in thick underbrush.

On the last few miles of the distance to the ranger station Jack admitted being tired, and received assistance. At the station a stimulating medicine was offered him but he refused to take it. Nor did he ask food, but after drinking a glass of orange juice his hunger returned.

"Frightened? Me? Why, no," was his reply to questions as to the three nights in the dense woods and rough terrain, known to shelter wild animals.

MOTHER COLLAPSES

Mrs. Strong, mother of the boy, collapsed upon receiving word of his being found. With steel-like courage she had borne up during the search, giving assistance day and night.

For three days the area for miles around had been searched, beacons burned at night, shots were fired repeatedly, in the hope that Jack would be found or that the boy might

BLOODSTAINED HAT MAY BE CRIME CLEW

SAN JOSE, Aug. 15. (AP)—Possibility that a bloodstained hat picked up here this morning may be a clew to the identity of the murderer of Peter Cirro was being considered by the police and Sheriff here today. Cirro's body, two bullet wounds in the head, one of which evidently caused instant death, was found by an autoist on McKee Road, three miles east of here last night. He had been dead at least an hour, officers thought. Cirro's wife told the officers this morning that the hat was not her husband's.

'KITCHENER' BODY SEIZED BY ENGLAND

Government Takes Casket Said to Contain Body for Official Inquiry Today

(Copyright 1926, in Great Britain by the Referee; in all other countries by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

LONDON, Aug. 15. (Exclusive)—The government today seized the remains brought from Norway by Frank Power, free lance newspaper writer, which he asserts are those of Lord Kitchener of Khartoum, lost with H. M. S. Hempshire during the World War.

In a statement yesterday written exclusively for the London Referee, Los Angeles Times and North American Newspaper Alliance Power put the disposal of the body squarely up to the government. He claims to have irrefutable proof that the body is actually that of the field marshal of the British armies.

"I am glad that official action has been taken," Power told a representative of The Times tonight." It shows that the government is at last beginning to attach some importance to the whole affair. I shall urge that it is only fair that either I or my representative be present when the coffin is opened.

"I shall do my best to help the authorities in any case."

In government circles it is understood tonight that the coffin will be opened and investigated tomorrow.

Boy Prospector Buried Alive by Cave-in at Mine

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 15. (AP)—Buried alive by a cave-in at the mouth of a freshly excavated tunnel at the Westlake mine, nine miles southeast of Cisco, Placer county, early this morning, Thomas B. Crawford, 17 years old, of Sacramento, was dead when rescued a short time later by his partner, M. Westlake.

According to reports brought to Auburn by Victor Mathews, pack-train operator, the accident occurred when Westlake and Crawford, who went into the hills six weeks ago, were on a prospecting tour of their mining property.

The newspaper adds that Gen. Rhinow "is expected to be succeeded by Andrew Volstead, former Congressman and author of the National Prohibition Enforcement Act, who now is legal adviser for the northwest district prohibition headquarters."

ARRANGE LENNON FUNERAL

Requiem Mass for Late Justice Set for Tomorrow; Flood of Condolences Received

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 15. (AP)—Many messages of condolence were received today by the family of Thomas J. Lennon, Associate Justice of the California Supreme Court and a candidate for the chief justiceship, who died here yesterday. Among them was one from Hugh McIsaac of Santa Monica, who was Justice Lennon's opponent for office the first time the latter was elected to the Superior Court of Marin county.

Plans for the funeral have been completed. The service, a requiem mass, will be conducted at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday at the old St. Mary's Church, two blocks from the hotel at which the magistrate had lived for the last five years. Interment will be in Holy Cross Cemetery.

A memorial service will be conducted tomorrow evening by the San Rafael Lodge of Elks, which was founded by Justice Lennon.

MAY REMOVE LENNON'S NAME FROM BALLOTS

If it be possible legally, the name of Thomas J. Lennon, associate justice of the State Supreme Court and candidate for chief justice, who died Saturday at San Francisco, will be removed from the primary ballot, Joseph McInerney, his State campaign manager, announced yesterday.

"I have consulted with the family, and both the family and myself will co-operate in every possible way to have the name of Justice Lennon removed from the ballot, if it can be accomplished legally," Mr. McInerney said.

It is possible, he stated, that a writ of mandamus may be obtained directing the Secretary of State, who certifies the election lists to the county clerks, to order them to have Justice Lennon's name removed. The ballots for the primary of the 31st inst., are now in the course of printing, Mr. McInerney said. This, naturally, would necessitate reprinting in some instances.

Mr. McInerney said he and Justice Lennon's family are desirous of doing everything possible to avoid confusion to the voters. An exactly similar situation had never before arisen in California, he said. In no other instance had a candidate died within such a short time of the balloting. Mr. McInerney said he had been in touch with Chief Justice Waste, now the sole candidate for the nomination, and believed some action might be determined upon early this week, probably at San Francisco.

Mr. McInerney stated that he and Attorney Milton Cohen, Justice Lennon's manager for Southern California, desired to thank friends in the south for the many expressions of sympathy tendered.

QUAKE HITS LARGE AREA OF ENGLAND

Severe Tremors in Wales and Midland Counties Cause Terror to Residents

LONDON, Aug. 15. (AP)—England experienced today earth shocks covering a wide area extending almost through the whole midland counties and as far south as Bernet, within ten miles of London. A part of Wales also felt the shocks.

No damage has been reported and there were no casualties, but news from dozens of places indicated that the shocks, all of a similar nature, occurred about 5° o'clock this morning. The disturbances were said to have been accompanied by the swaying of furniture and the breaking of crockery. The tremors lasted a few seconds, producing consternation among the people aroused from their sleep, especially children.

The counties affected were Derbyshire, Leicestershire, Radnorshire, and also Bath and Bristol and Landridod. In some cases the shocks were described as lasting minutes, but this may have been due to misapprehensions owing to th eunseemly hour and the popular dread.

England recently has experienced slight earth tremors.

NINE HELD AS GUNRUNNERS

Accused Mexicans, All From Los Angeles, Led by Gen. Aurelio Sepulveda

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 15. (AP)—One American and eight Mexicans were arrested for violation of the neutrality laws by A. A. Hopkins and four other Department of Justice agents this afternoon as they passed through La Mesa, eight miles from here, on two trucks loaded with machine guns, rifles and ammunition.

The truck were headed for Imperial Valley with Mexico as their ultimate destination, Department of Justice agents said. Soon after the arrest of the nine at La Mesa, a party of thirty other Mexicans said to be leaders in a contemplated revolt in Lower California were captured at Dulzura on the Imperial Valley highway.

Enrique Estrada and Gen. Aurelio Sepulveda, the former of Los Angeles and the latter from Mexico City, were the leaders of the La Mesa gang, agents said. With the exception of Earle C. Parker, the only United States citizen in the group, the men gave Los Angeles as their addresses.

The men, who are held in the County Jail in San Diego under charges of violation of the neutrality laws, gave their names as Gen. Aurelio Sepulveda, 40 years of age; Enrique Estrada, civil engineer, 35 years of age; Miguel Valenzuela, laborer, 30 years of age; Jose Manzanares, mechanic, 25 years of age; Carlos Alcantar, truck driver, 38 years of age; Lucas Amador, laborer, 32 years of age; Benjamin Roque, salesman, 40 years of age; Faustino Garcia, mechanic, 30 years of age, and Earle C. Parker, 29 years of age, San Diego merchant.

All of the men were well supplied with money and stayed at high-class hotels Saturday night, Department of Justice agents said. First trace of the ammunition trucks was discovered in Los Angeles, they declared. The trucks stopped in Santa Ana Saturday night and left early this morn-

INDIANS AID MAN HUNT

Fifty Join Posses in Search

Planes on Cross-country Postal Route on Watch for Robbers

LANDER (Wyo.) Aug. 15. (AP)—Fifty Shoshone and Arapahoe Indian braves, traditional friends of the white man, tonight were enlisted in the man hunt for two train robbers who early Saturday plundered a score of registered mail pouches on the mail car of Union Pacific passenger train No. 5 between Rawlins and Wamsutter, Wyo.

At the request of authorities who have spread a network of posses over Southwestern Wyoming for the bandits, the redmen late tonight were joined with a posse of twenty Wyoming National Guardsmen, sheriffs and cowboys to trek into the fastness of the Wind River Range and Washakie National Forest, where the two men are believed to have fled.

EAGER FOR CHASE

The Indians were eager to be on the trail once more and, like their white brothers with whom they fought half a century ago to avenge the massacre of Custer's command, had received orders to "shoot to kill."

It is believed that the bandits' ultimate goal is the Jackson Hole country, a wild, sparsely populated section where a decade ago Wyoming outlaws and cattle rustlers made their last stand against the law in the rugged Teton Mountain ranges.

The newly organized posse, accompanied by ten pack horses, with enough provisions for a week, was placed under the leadership of Col. Tim McCoy, former adjutant-general of Wyoming. At the Indian reservation Col. McCoy is regarded by the native inhabitants as a "great white father" and has been given the title of "White Eagle."

The posse expected to reach Sweet Water on the fringe of the Red Desert tomorrow where it will deploy and combat the country during its advance.

ABANDON KLEIGS

The aborigines were engaged in filming a western thriller when the call for the posse came and they abandoned kleig lights and grease paint for war paint, serviceable moccasins and weapons.

For the Shoshones and Arapahoes to ally themselves with white men is nothing new. Under Chief Washakie, who ruled the Shoshones, the tribe extended the pipe of peace to the earlies', white settlers and, after the Custer massacre, Washakie offered the services of his braves to track down and punish the Sioux and Crow who slew the command.

PLANES SCOUT

While posses were patrolling the sandy wastes, overhead pilots of Uncle Sam's transcontinental air mail planes, flying between Cheyenne and Salt Lake City, were on the qui vive, scanning the country from the clouds for a possible glimpse of the robbers.

Union Pacific Railroad officials today abandoned the theory that a semaphore signal had been tampered with, setting signals against the train and causing it to come to a halt west of here so the robbers might escape, when it was discovered that a broken set screw and not tampering was responsible for the irregular manner in which the semaphore signal operated. Intensive search of the country near where the train was halted failed to reveal any footprints showing that the bandits made their escape from the train at that point.

VIRGIN PEAK CONQUERED BY SCALER

Swiss Musician Completes Big Feat in Gaining Crest of Alpine Mountain

GENEVA, Aug. 15. (Exclusive)—M. Blanchet of Lausanne, a Swiss musician and personal friend of Paderewski, has just accomplished a remarkable feat by climbing a virgin peak of the Aiguilles du Diable, more than 12,000 feet in altitude, in the Mont Blanc range.

The Aiguilles Du Diable consist of five almost perpendicular points (all more than 12,000 feet high) four of which had been climbed. The fifth, which has just been ascended by M. Blanchet, had resisted all efforts of the best Alpinists and guides.

M. Blanchet, with two guides, left Chamonix and returned there exactly twenty-two hours later, having rested only two hours during the expedition to take refreshment.

Two climbers have been killed while attempting this ascent and three injured.

Paderewski, who lives at Morgestar, near Lausanne, was among the first to send congratulations to M. Blanchet.

Death Ends Twenty-eight Years of Experiments by English Scientist

LONDON, Aug. 15. (AP)—John Francis Hall-Edwards, who devoted twenty-eight years of his life to experimenting with and perfecting the X-ray, died tonight at Birmingham. He was one of the pioneers in X-ray investigation and continued the work despite the heavy handicap of the loss of both hands through ray burns.

In 1908 John Francis Hall-Edwards in recognition of services rendered to the country, was awarded a civil list pension. He was awarded the Carnegie hero trust medallion in 1922.

Air Route to South America Infeasible Yet

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 15. (AP)—Maj. Eduardo Olivero, who accompanied Bernardo Duggan, Argentine sportsman, on his flight from New York to Buenos Aires, believes that the flight "proved the impracticability for the present of regular aerial communication between the United States and Argentina."

Maj. Olivero based his opinion on his observation of the flight, which required eighty-two days, although it had been hoped to cover the distance leisurely in about three weeks. The Major said that the chief difficulty was the changeable weather prevailing in the northern and southern hemispheres.

VALENTINO COLLAPSES

Screen Star Goes Under Knife

Appendix and Gastric Ulcer Removed After Attack; Peritonitis Starts

Condition of Actor Grave; Crisis Expected in Forty-eight Hours

NEW YORK, Aug. 15. (Exclusive) Rudolph Valentino, screen star, collapsed suddenly today in his apartment at the Hotel Ambassador. Several hours later he underwent operations for a gastric ulcer and appendicitis.

Late tonight it was said at the Polyclinic Hospital where the operations were performed that the actor is in a serious condition. It is believed, however, that he will recover.

Mr. Valentino and his valet, it is said, were the only persons in his apartment at the time of the collapse. The screen star suddenly gasped, put his hand to his body and fell in a faint. The valet summoned assistance and notified Barclay Warburton, Jr., a broker and friend of the film actor.

Mr. Valentino did not come out of the anesthetic until after 11 o'clock and it was said his first words were a question about his courage which he felt had been impugned in an editorial in the Chicago Tribune headed "Pink Powder Puffs." The editorial prompted the actor to challenge the anonymous writer to a duel but nothing ever came of the challenge.

"AM I PINK PUFF?

As Mr. Valentino came out of the anesthetic it was said he looked up at Dr. Durham and asked, "Doctor, am I a pink puff?"

"No, indeed," replied the doctor. "You have been very brave."

A conference of the doctors present at the operation and Dr. Gustav Manning, who was called in for a consultation, was held a short time later. It was said at the hospital that as in all cases of this kind peritonitis has set in, but that in the belief of the physicians it has been checked thus far. A crisis may be expected in about forty-eight hours, it was said, when it will be determined whether the peritonitis has been localized or has started to spread. In the latter event, it was intimated, the actor's life may be threatened.

Shortly before midnight his condition was described as "fair."

The screen star has been in the East for several weeks, having come from Hollywood to be present at the New York premiere of his latest picture, "The Son of the Sheik," in which he played the part of the son of the character that brought him world-wide fame and made the word "sheik" part of the American language.

Since that time he has visited several other cities in the East, but he had been at the Ambassador for the past week or more.

The screen star, whose real name is Rudolph Guglielmi, was born in Castellanata, Italy, on May 6, 1895, according to his statements when applying for citizenship here in November of last year. According to an earlier statement, made, he said, for the purpose of clearing up the circumstances surrounding his life before he came to this country, he said that his father was Dr. Giovanni Guglielmi, a retired captain of the Royal Italian Cavalry. The actor said his father was a noted bacteriologist.

FARM SCHOOL GRADUATE

"After my elementary education in local schools had been completed," said Mr. Valentino, "I attended college and later studied at the military college Del La Bapienza at Perugia. Thereafter I went to Venice to take the examination for entrance to the government naval academy, but was rejected on the physical examination."

Attending the Royal School of Agriculture near Genoa, he was graduated with a diploma as scientific agriculturist and came to New York as a first-class passenger on November 23, 1913. He said he was unable to speak English at that time.

He worked at various occupations

DENVER REALTY CHIEF DIES

John M. Steele, Who Was War Correspondent With Col. Funston, Succumbs to Heart Disease

DENVER, Aug. 15. (AP)—John M. Steele, secretary of the Denver Real Estate Exchange and widely known throughout the United States by real-estate operators, died at his mountain home here late last night. Death was caused by heart disease. He was 58 years of age.

Before entering in real estate work, Steele was known through the West and Middle West as a newspaper man. He broke into the newspaper game in Kansas, working in Emporia, Leavenworth, Lawrence, and later with the Kansas City Star and Times before coming to Colorado.

He served as a correspondent for Denver papers in Mexico during Gen. Pershing's punitive expedition. Later he served overseas during the World War as a Red Cross worker.

He leaves his widow and a brother.

ATTAINED FAME AS WESTERN JOURNALIST

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 15. (AP)—John M. Steele attained fame in the Middle West as a journalist and war correspondent.

Steele was perhaps best known for his work on the Kansas City Star during the Spanish-American War. When the war began he enlisted in the Twentieth Kansas Regiment of Volunteers and was made publicity agent of the regiment by Col. Frederick M. Funston, commander.

He served through the war and his dispatches to the Star are credited with having made Funston famous in the sense that his stories gave the country its first accounts of Funston's thrilling adventures.

After cessation of hostilities, upon arrival of the Kansas regiment in San Francisco, Steele filed a 33,000-word telegram, the longest ever sent from the West at that time, to the Star. The telegram contained a complete history of the regiment and told of the part taken in the fray by every Kansas soldier in the regiment.

Steele was later a police reporter, real estate writer, and hotel reporter for the Star.

AMERICA LEADS WORLD IN AIR TRANSPORTATION

Strides Made by Country in Last Eighteen Months Shown by Aviation Line Survey

CHICAGO, Aug. 15. (Exclusive)—Aviation in the United States has made such tremendous strides in the past eighteen months that the country now is the world leader in this form of transportation, A statement to this effect, based on a survey made by the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce, was made today by Col. Paul Henderson, general manager of the National Air Transportation, which operates a commercial line between Chicago and Texas.

And, he added, Chicago is certain to be the center of air development, being favored not only by geographical position, but by its selection already by transportation lines as a radial point.

RESERVE DISAPPEARS

At the beginning of 1925, according to the survey used by Col. Henderson, aviation in America was underrated by army officers and navy chiefs, was ignored by leaders in public life and was looked on askance by business.

"But now," the survey adds, "it may be stated that much of the former reserve in the high command of the Army and Navy has disappeared; definite attention has been given by Congress and the administration; and, with the entrance of responsible men and substantial capital into air transport, the place of aviation in commerce and industry is generally recognized. There has been a renaissance of flying."

Turning to figures it is shown that the postoffice department now has 4870 miles of contract mail routes in operation and has approved contracts for 1411 more. Five new routes, with a total mileage of 2500, are under consideration by postoffice officials.

112 TONS CARRIED

The total miles flown in the country in the past year were 5,500,000, according to the survey. It adds the surprising information that 200,000 passengers and more than 112 tons of commercial express were carried.

Airplanes operating out of Chicago, it is stated, reduce distances, as measured in time, to one-third the aggregate required for ordinary surface transportation.

Mr. Henderson pointed out that all the lines in Europe were favored by subsidies. Most of those in the United States, however, are strictly commercial institutions, he said. The Texas line of his company, he continued, was making an effort to broaden its facilities so that freight and passengers could be carried as well as mail.

AIRPLANE APPEARS SAFE TRAVEL MODE

LONDON, Aug. 15. (AP)—Traveling by airplane apparently is not nearly as dangerous as is commonly thought. The annual report of civil aviation states that since 1919 air transport flying has amounted to 4,563,000 miles and there have been only four accidents causing the death of passengers.

During the year ended March 1 there were only five accidents and not one had serious consequences, beyond damage to aircraft.

Passengers in British machines increased from 13,478 in 1924 to 14,675. Flying for the hire or "joy-ride" flying showed a big increase, the number of passengers in this branch being 67,329, the largest on record.

PRIVATE AIR LINES WITHIN SIX MONTHS, HOOVER SAYS

OMAHA, Aug. 15. (AP)—Prediction that private operation of the recently designated air line will be in force within six months was made today by Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, upon his arrival here while en route to Seattle, Wash.

The government, he said, plans to lend every encouragement for development of the air traffic, and probably will spend $300,000 or $400,000 in lighting the western division and establishing emergency landing fields along the courses.

"The air question is now merely one of letting the contract to private parties," Mr. Hoover asserted. "The Postmaster-General is willing to allow the contracts as soon as permanent service is guaranteed. Contracts can be let allowing contracting parties up to 80 per cent of the air-mail receipts.

"The night air mail already is returning more than actual operation expenses, ar the day mail is just about making expenses. The indications are that a combined express, passeng and mail service would return a large revenue."

MUNICIPAL ELECTRICITY PROFITABLE

California Plant's Business In excess of 13,000,000 for Year, Reports Show

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 15. (AP)—The twenty-two municipally owned electric-light plants in California did a $13,000,000 business last year at a profit of about $3,666,000. This was revealed in the annual report of municipal and county financial transactions made public today by Ray L. Riley, State Controller.

Total ordinary receipts of the twenty-two municipal plants aggregated $12,986,000, the report shows, while the 1925 expenditures, including interest and redemption of bonds, administration and collection expenses, operating and maintenance expense, purchase of current and other ordinary expenses, amounted to $9,319,999. An aggregate of $1,878,508, derived either from operating revenue or sale of bonds, was invested in plant improvements. Deposits made by consumers totaled $181,922 and deposits refunded $121,515.

Only six of the twenty-two municipalities in the electric light business generate their own current. They are Los Angeles, Pasadena, Alameda, Riverside, Palo Alto and Avalon. The others, which buy electricity wholesale and retail it to consumers are Glendale, Anaheim, Santa Clara, Lodi, Roseville, Colton, Burbank, Redding, Azusa, Healdsburg, Ukiah, Lompoc, Banning, Gridley, Biggs and Tehachapi.

By far the largest of the municipal dealers in light and power is Los Angeles where the revenue last year totaled $9,209,101, as against expenses of $7,105,260. Consumers there at the end of the fiscal year numbered 207,746 and the plant and system were valued at $39,256,861.

At the other extreme is Biggs, with 160 consumers and less than $11,000 capital invested. This Butte county municipality's light revenue last year totaled $5765, as against expenses of $3999.

FALL OF KEY PASS TO WU QUESTIONED

Confirmation Lacking on Reported Victory of Allied Armies in China

PEKING, Aug. 15. (AP)—Confirmation of the capture of Nankow Pass, key position of Kuominchun (national armies) in the mountains north and west of Peking, by the allied armies of Marshals Wu Pei-Fu and Chang Tso-Lin still remains lacking owing to interrupted communication between the front and the capital. Both warring factions assert victory in yesterday's battle and the disposition in Peking, only twenty-six miles away, is to await more definite word.

Six weeks' of operations, the course of which was beset with internal dissension, preceded the allied attack on the pass and if capture of that strategical point proves authentic, the national armies have received a serious blow.

An official report says the Fengtien (allied) armies occupied Nankow station with the enemy retreating in great confusion. The comminique however, omits a definite assertion of occupation of the pass beyond the station, although it says the victorious troops were pursuing the enemy. Without command of the pass, the victory is not considered of great significance.

The Hunan campaign, where Cantonese forces menace the allies, lacks developments. Gen. Tang Sheng-Ti, who recently occupied Changsha, the capital, with southern troops, has retired to Hengchow for strategical reasons. Meanwhile, Gen. Chow Heng-Ti, commanding Wu's troops in that sector, holds Yochow, apparently not making any attempt to advance against the Cantonese.

Air mail addressed to Mexico City, upon reaching the border, will be rehandled by rail as special delivery matter upon which the Mexican Postoffice would levy no additional charge.

RADIO STATIONS TO AID AIR WORK

Dirigible Los Angeles to go on Calibrating Trip

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15. (AP)—Radio compass stations along the Atlantic Coast from Boston to Norfolk probably will be opened to serve naval and other aircraft traveling the coastal airways within the next month due to the unexpectedly rapid work of the dirigible Los Angeles in calibrating these stations in order to determine the factor of error for each radio compass center.

The Los Angeles is scheduled to leave her Lakehurst (N. J.) Hangar tomorrow morning, weather permitting, for a trip down the coast as far as the Poyner's Hill (N. C.) radio station. She will circle each radio compass station on the coast on the way down, checking up by visual compass bearings with the radio compass bearings as she has previously done with all the stations on the Long Island shore, Narragansett Bay and Cape Cod.

Ultimately the ship will make a similar check on all of the Atlantic Coast stations when they will be available to furnish directions for aircraft under low visibility conditions as they now guide ships at sea approaching or leaving the coast.

The method of calibration consists of flying the Los Angeles in a fifteen-mile circle at low speed around each compass station. The ship keeps at an altitude that makes her visible to the station at all times. She also sends out continuous radio impulses which are received and checked for compass direction at the station. To verify these, a second operator at the station keeps the ship under direct observation with a transit compass of the usual navigating type.

The results of the radio compass bearing and the actual visual bearing are checked all around the compass and the constant factor of error in the radio compass is thereby established for each station.

Use of the radio compass stations, which were first established at the close of the war, has increased so greatly that during the last year they furnished bearings in more than 150,000 cases, answering requests received from distant ships.

H. E. Shipley's Funeral Service Set for Today

Funeral services for Herman Everett Shipley, who committed suicide while being sought for an attack on Joseph Block, guard at Jackie Coogan's home, will be conducted today at 4 p.m. at the chapel of W. M. Strother, 6240 Hollywood Boulevard.

Block was shot last Tuesday while patroling the grounds of the Coogan home, 673 South Oxford street. Shipley, also known as Don McCrea, left an estate of $100,000, according to dispatches from Tipton, Iowa, his former home. Despite this reported wealth, he had worked for three years as chauffeur for the Coogan family before being discharged for drinking.

NEW FRAUD ACTION

Original Indictment Against Miller Dismissed

NEW YORK, Aug. 15. (AP)—An indictment against former Alien Property Custodian Miller and officials of Swiss and German firms, charging conspiracy to defraud the government in connection with the transfer of $7,000,000 of American Metals Company stock by Miller after the war, was dismissed yesterday in District Court.

Dist.-Atty. Buckner, moving this dismissal, explained that a later indictment has been obtained against Miller, former Atty.-Gen. Harry A. Daugherty, and the late John T. King, once Republican National Committeeman for Connecticut.

Trial of Daugherty and Miller on the second indictment has been peremptorily set for September 7, next.

here for some time and then became a dancer. Later he migrated to Hollywood, but it was not until he had been in the films for some time that he attracted attention. When he did strike the public fancy, he rapidly mounted to stardom. He was married in November, 1919, to Jean Acker, a screen actress. In January, 1922, she received an interlocutory decree.

Within a year he was married at Mexicali, Mex., to Winifred DeWolfe, or Winifred Hudnut, who also appeared on the stage and screen under the name of Natacha Rambova. Due to the fact that the decree obtained by Miss Acker forbade remarrying within a year after its issuance, the actor was arrested not long after the ceremony with Miss Hudnut, charged with bigamy. He was released on bail and the charges were later dropped. The actor and Miss Hudnut went through a second ceremony at Crown Point, Ind., on March 15, 1923, to make the marriage legal.

The actor and his second wife clashed about a year ago on the question of her pursuing her own career. She wished to continue her work on the screen, while it was said that the actor wanted her to give it up. Eventually the couple came to the parting of the ways and in December of last year she obtained a divorce in Paris. The actor did not contest the suit.

POLA TO FOREGO JOURNEY TO BEDSIDE

Miss Pola Negri, whom rumor has as the possible next Mrs. Valentino, will not rush to the bedside of the stricken actor, it was learned last night, Miss Negri, who is living at the Ambassador, is too busy in a new production to make the trip to New York at this time, it was revealed.

FOREST FIRE THREATENS COMMUNITY

HILT (Cal.) Aug. 15. (AP)—A forest fire seriously threatened this community of about 200 persons tonight.

With the male population out fighting the blaze, the women and children have gathered on the northern edge of the town, where a last attempt will be made to stop the flames in case they jump an open field.

The fire started yesterday at White Point, Or., near the summit of the Siskiyou Mountains. It has burned an area six miles long and two miles wide.

REDDING, Aug. 15. (AP)—All brush and forest fires in the Shasta and Siskiyou region are under control and the greater part of the force of 1000 men who have been fighting the blazes for the past ten days have been called in.

recognize the signals and find the searching parties.

Mountaineers, Hood River guides, police, squads from the Sheriff's office, soldiers of the Seventh Infantry, mazamas, members of the Trails Club, Y.M.C.A. workers and many citizens from Portland, Gresham and nearly every community near-by, had toiled and sought. Even bloodhounds had been drawn in in the hopes of finding the trail of the lost lad.

The condition of the boy verifies assertions of his parents that despite his age he is an experienced woodsman.

"Jack will eat anything," his mother said.

EMULATES TARZAN

"Last winter after reading Tarzan he wanted to eat raw meat. It is quite likely that he is eating raw fish and huckleberries. He has ideas about living in the open."

Mr. Strong also was confident that the boy would be found in good condition.

"Jack has the warm days to recuperate from the cold nights," he said before the lad was found. "He has been taking cold baths all summer, and where I shiver and shake he does not mind the cold in the least. He's a tough nut."

Enthusiasm was high in Gresham, the home of Jack and his family, when word reached there of the finding of the lad.

For the thirteenth time the Record of the Quarter Sessions Court of Bedford, Ireland, recently had no cases for trial and the judge was presented a pair of white gloves to denote the purity of the district on which he presided.

FILIPINOS ENTERTAIN THOMPSON

Demands for Independence Placarded Along Entire Route of Coolidge Envoy

ILOILO (Panay Island, P. I.) Aug. 16. (AP)—Carmi A. Thompson, personal representative of President Coolidge, and his party were greeted in every town and village on their trip across the Island of Panay by placards demanding independence from the United States. One placard read, "We prefer to be free and poor rather than rich and subjected. We humbly request Mr. Thompson to inform President Coolidge our happiness is incomplete without independence."

Crowds greeted the train at every station urging the Thompson party to stop over. He appeared on the rear platform in each case and acknowledged the cheers of the crowd.

Arches bearing independence placards had been erected at many towns.

Arriving at Iloilo Thompson was given a reception which included a parade, banquet and ball. The city was attired in festive array with a view to impressing him with the knowledge he was welcome.

Mr. Thompson is visiting the southern islands of the Philippine Archipelago as a part of his survey of economic conditions in the islands.

GEORGIA BANKS TO BE REOPENED

President Faces Hearing on Mental Capacity

ATLANTA (Ga.) Aug. 15. (AP)—A delay in the guardianship hearing for W. D. Manley, indicted bank president, and announcement that three of the eighty-three banks in Georgia which closed recently will reopen tomorrow were significant developments today in the bank investigation here.

Hearing on a petition asking for a guardian for Manley on the ground that he is mentally incapacitated was blocked yesterday when Judge John B. Humphries of Fulton Superior Court, granted a temporary writ of prohibition. The petition for a guardianship was filed by Joe Patterson, son-in-law of Manley, in ordinary's court.

LOSES JURISDICTION

Solicitor Boykin, on whose application the Superior Court order was issued, viewed the guardianship hearing as an effort to remove Manley from the jurisdiction of the Superior Court. If the ordinary should adjudge Manley insane, Boykin's application declared, the Superior Court will lose its hold on the defendant banker and cannot try him even in the event of restoration of sanity.

Manley, who was indicted by the Fulton grand jury on a felony charge, was at liberty today on $25,000 bond. The indictment declares that he is guilty of felony in that the Farmers' and Traders' Bank of Atlanta became "fraudulently insolvent" while Manley was president of the institution.

BANKS TO REOPEN

Judge Humphries, in ordering postponement of the guardianship hearing, set next Tuesday, the 17th inst., for a hearing to determine whether the prohibition shall be made permanent.

Announcement of the reopening of the Cornelia Bank and its branch at Demorest, with resources of more than $1,000,000, the Habersham Bank, Clarksville, resources of more than $500,000, and the Merchants' and Planters' Bank of Whigham, was announced by the State Banking Department.

Other banks of the chain are making arrangements which may permit them to reopen this week, counsel for the State Banking Department said.

Fire Destroys Hoo Hoo House in Monte Vista

SAN JOSE, Aug. 15. (AP)—The Hoo Hoo House, originally the Oregon Building at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition at San Francisco in 1915, and for the last ten years used as a dance and amusement resort at Monte Vista, eight miles west of here, was completely destroyed by fire early this morning.

The building was constructed of huge logs and was dismantled in San Francisco after the exposition and set up again at Monte Vista, where it became a popular resort. Two years ago the County Board of Supervisors was asked to close the place because of numerous complaints against the conduct of dancers frequenting it. Thereafter the Supervisors repeatedly refused to grant a license to operate the place as a dance hall, and the building has been idle.

Campbell also was recently elected to the Russian National Academy, successor to the Imperial Russian Academy of Sciences of the Czarist regime. This honor is considered a signal one, in view of the fact that the Russian soviet government is not recognized by the United States.

ing on the second leg of their halted trip to Imperial Valley.

William Osman, deputy sheriff, brought the second group of prisoners to the County Jail just before 11 o'clock tonight, returning from Dulzura with six men and a 12,000-pound armored truck loaded with rifles and ammunition.

The men gave their names as Leandro Muno, 28 years of age; Marse Placencia, 42; Mircedes Placencia, 20; Segundino Gonsales, 20; Benjamin Suarez, 22 and Francisco Ruiz, 27, all of Los Angeles.

CAPTURE HOLDS UP REVOLUTIONARY PLOT

Capture of the Mexicans and their armed caravan has temporarily, at least, held up one of the largest revolutionary plots planned to be launched over the border in the last five years, according to Lucien Wheeler, agent in charge of the Department of Justice here.

According to information received at the local office, the arms confiscated last night included 400 Springfield army rifles, 150,000 rounds of ammunition loaded onto two large trucks, and an armored truck patterned after United States Army machines.

Arrest of the asserted conspirators was the result of several weeks' work on the part of secret service men in which local police officers working under Chief of Police Davis and Chief of Detectives Cline have played an active part, Agent Wheeler said.

Government men charge Estrada, who formerly lived here at 737 North Vine street, with being one of the three ring leaders of the plot. Gen. Sepulveda, Agent Wheeler said, is one of the trio, while the third man had not been captured at a late hour last night. Estrada is a civil engineer.

It was because of Estrada's activities with Gen. Sepulveda, who recently arrived here from Mexico, that attracted the attention of the Federal men, it was learned last night. Immediately following the consummation of the purchase of the arms, Federal men made preparations for capturing what they believed to be a large band.

According to the local Department of Justice, the plot is far reaching and will probably result in the arrest of many others on a charge of violation of neutrality laws.

Whether the arms were purchased here was not revealed.

Besides Estrada, only two other names of those listed as taken into custody could be found in local directories. They are Miguel Valenzuela, 419½ East Fifty-third street, and Jose Manzanarez, 510 Sunset Boulevard.

PROSECUTION OF WHEELER ASKED

Citizens of Massachusetts Charges Fraud

Congress Urged to Proceed Under Federal Act

Senator Guilty of Perjury, Complaint Says

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15. (AP)—[illegible] of the Anti-Saloon League of America on criminal prosecution under the Corrupt Practices Act was demanded by Representative [illegible], Republican, Massachusetts, in a letter to Atty.-Gen. Sargent made public today.

Mr. Tinkham declared the Anti-Saloon League, which he described as an "ecclesiastical political organization," has violated the Corrupt Practices Act of 1910, as follows:

(1) By failure in report of receipts and expenditures of any character made during 1920; and

(2) From 1920 to 1924, inclusive, by failure made of receipt and expenditure of only a few thousand dollars, as reports were sworn to by the late Wayne B. Wheeler."

Mr. Tinkham related that the act specifically requires the return under oath every three months of all receipts and expenditures made by any committee for political purposes.

EXPENSES HEAVY

"Did June, 1926, the Anti-Saloon League of America under this act," he said, "reported under oath that contributions had been received and expenditures had been made. No report was filed by any subsidiary. Nevertheless by that of the State of Illinois, where an expensive independence campaign has been carried on by highly paid agents of this extra-legal subsidiary for its candidates for public office.

"This fact discloses a systematic, deliberate and criminal purpose to violate the law on the part of this organization, which has entirely set aside one of the great guarantees of our freedom and liberty as assured to us in the Constitution of the United States, namely, the separation of Church and State. Moreover, this organization, which now controls the Congress of the United States and has the support of the Constitution of the United States and has the support of Senators and Representatives, has paid campaign expenses and has even had the unspeakable audacity to place some of them upon its pay roll.

DEMANDS PROSECUTION

"It is indefensible that you should allow to continue the nullification of the Federal Corrupt Practices Act of 1925 and I demand that you immediately institute appropriate criminal proceedings against the league and subsidiaries, as provided in the act of 1925, and also against the officers of the organization who may have been guilty of perjury.

"Democratic self-government and civil freedom in their struggle for popular liberties have no greater menace than those in public authority who allow the purchase of constitutional amendments and laws by secret political expenditures or who do not enforce laws because of political cowardice or the influence of wealth."

Declaring that it had been admitted before the Senate Campaign Expenditures Committee that the league and "its principal financial adherent, John D. Rockefeller, Jr.," had made expenditures of nearly $50,000,000 in the "last few years," Mr. Tinkham insisted that the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution "has been bought and paid for."

CONVICTS DIG PRISON YARD FOR FOSSILS

CARSON CITY (Nev.) Aug. 15.—(Exclusive)—In the belief that fossils will be found below the formation showing footprints of ancient animals in the prison yard, Nevada penitentiary officials have started extensive excavations. Footprints of the giant sloth, two-toed horses and other animals have been found, and archaeologists and geologists say skeletons will probably be found at greater depth. About thirty convicts are employed in the work. Nevada University scientists express a belief that petrified bodies may be found, and discoveries of great importance made.

SUSPECT PRAYS ALL DAY IN JAIL

Confessed Bandit Johnson to Face Victims

Conducts Police to Scenes of Hold-ups

Grand Jury Will Get Murder Evidence Tomorrow

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 15. (AP)—Tom Johnson, self-confessed bandit and slayer extraordinary, spent today praying in the City Jail while police went ahead with plans for calling in hold-up victims to identify the prisoner.

Johnson, who was arrested two weeks ago in Seattle, Wash., pointed out to police here the location of fourteen hold-ups he staged last winter and promised to show them tomorrow twelve other spots where he had robbed pedestrians. He has a remarkable memory for details and detectives were amazed as he led them to the various places. At one street corner he re-enacted the events leading up to the fatal shooting of Leonard Erdall, Minnesota football star, here December 19, 1925. Johnson has confessed that he shot Erdall during a hold-up. Evidence in the Erdall case will be presented to the grand jury Tuesday.

TALLY WITH RECORDS

Johnson was unable to remember the names of streets but he conducted the party from one hold-up scene to another with ease, getting his bearings from trees, houses, fences and other landmarks. In each case his story tallied with police records, even to the amounts taken.

When the police car started out, Johnson asked the officers to drive to a certain district. At one street he requested them to stop and said:

"There's the spot. See that big tree over there? Well, I picked him up there and marched him up that alley (indicating with his finger) and held him up. I got $10 from him January 17."

Police looked at their records and found that one Harold Weber had been robbed of $10 there on January 17. And so it went down the list. Asked if he didn't fear capture, Johnson answered:

BLUFFED OFFICERS

"Not a chance if you work it right. I always carried cards in my pockets. If I was stopped by a police officer, I pulled out one of those cards and in a surprised and indignant voice said: 'Well, this is unusual. I'm Mr. So and So, representative of such and such a company.' Then I would hand over the card. Always the officer would beg my pardon and let me pass on."

At one corner Johnson told of having held up two old ladies. He took a purse from them. It contained so much "junk" he didn't have time to look for money, so he hid it, he said.

"Take me over to the armory and I'll find it for you," he directed the officers. At the armory he scraped away a pile of dirt and there was the purse.

Tonight Johnson told a newspaper man that he had intended to kill himself at Seattle.

"But I fell to my knees," he continued, "and prayed in the woods. I saw a double light and God came to me and told me to give myself up."

CALIFORNIA FIRE GUARDS ADVOCATED

Better Protection for Southland Forests Urged By Jardine Aide

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15. (Exclusive)—The scheme of better protecting the national forests of Southern California against fire is warmly indorsed by R. W. Dunlap, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, who returned yesterday from the Far West. Mr. Dunlap spent several days going over the national forests of Southern California to get first-hand information as to the necessity for better fire protection, and the effectiveness of steps already taken in that direction.

"I am completely sold on the idea of having those Southern California mountains covered with vegetation to hold back the water," said Mr. Dunlap today, "and am convinced that there is dire necessity for the building of more fire lanes and taking other steps to prevent the destruction of this cover by fire. Whether there is need, at this time, for a Federal appropriation of $1,000,000 to carry through this fire protection program, I am not yet prepared to say, but I will look further into that phase of the matter and make a recommendation to the Secretary later."

Mr. Dunlap said that accompanied by a forest supervisor he had gone up onto one of the typical mountains to make a study of the vegetation and other growth, and the steps that have been taken to prevent the spread of fires. He saw a number of bad burns that had been checked by fire lanes, and those examples convinced him of the efficacy of that method of handling what, to his mind, is one of the big economic problems of Southern California.

He also became convinced that there is the greatest need of protecting the growth in all the Southern California national forests, because of the importance of the forest covering in preventing rapid runoff of water. Anything in reason that will tend to conserve the water supply in that region, where water is so vital, he believes, should be done.

The Assistant Secretary commends the spirit of co-operation under which the forest-protection plan is being put through, and confidently expects Congress at the next session to continue the program started last session with the appropriation of $100,000 carried in the deficiency appropriation bill.

COMEDIAN DROWNS AS CROWDS LAUGH

TAMPA (Fla.) Aug. 15. (AP)—Manuel Madrezo, 21 years of age, was drowned here in three feet of water yesterday while a crowd on the bank watched and laughed at him. He was wading a few feet from shore in Tampa Bay, entertaining the crowd with comic antics, when he fell suddenly and did not come up again. Nobody knew he was in danger until it was too late.

CATFISH BESTS RATTLESNAKE

Fins Catch in Reptile's Throat When It Attempts to Swallow Prey

FRESNO, Aug. 15. (AP)—Samuel Baugh, rancher of Knights Ferry, Stanislaus county, declared, and offered to produce two other witnesses to corroborate his story, that he was walking down the bank of a stream when he heard an unusual commotion in the water. Investigating, he found a huge rattlesnake had swallowed, or partly swallowed a catfish and that the fish's fins had caught in the reptile's throat. The snake was wildly threshing about in the water in an effort to dislodge the fish. Baugh killed the snake which had fifteen rattles and measured five feet.

LAND VALUE DROP WILL BE STUDIED

Hoover Announces Federal Investigation of Depression in Farm Prices

CHICAGO, Aug. 15. (AP)—Stabilization of land values which are uneven as a result of inflation in 1920 and subsequent forced sales is to be studied by the Department of Commerce in co-operation with the Treasury and Agriculture departments, Secretary of Commerce Hoover announced here.

The Secretary issued a statement in response to requests for amplification of his interviews from the summer White House on farm mortgage foreclosure questions.

"The discussion," he said, "did not enter upon the general questions of farm relief which lie in the province of the Department of Agriculture.

"Statements have been presented to the President showing that the prices of land in some sections have been depressed below their real value in the swing downward from the inflated period in 1920, and that this is accelerated by forced sales under foreclosures of mortgages placed at that time, and therefore a surplus of land is being offered for sale.

"The Department of Commerce will co-operate with the departments of Agriculture and the Treasury in investigation of the situation and in co-operation with private agencies to see what remedy can be applied to the situation, which will tend to stabilize land values.

"The Federal Reserve Bank officials and the Farm Loan Board of the Minneapolis-St. Paul district are already earnestly considering the situation. The consummation of a practical plan would be most helpful."

Embassy Plans Report on Turk Chamber Ban

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 15. (AP)—The American Embassy is preparing a complete report regarding the Turkish suppression of the American Chamber of Commerce. The Department of State has sent a request for full information.

The Turkish government order says that in accordance with the new Turkish laws, all foreign chambers of commerce are illegal. The Minister of Commerce has stated that foreign business interests will be permitted to form an association or society, but that the only Chamber of Commerce which will be allowed to operate in Turkey is the Turkish chamber.

The action of the Turkish government, which affects six other chambers besides the American, is holding keen interest for American and other foreign commercial circles, where it is pointed out that this is the first instance of a nation suppressing the Chamber of Commerce of another power. Business circles are complaining that the chambers were closed without advance warning, causing considerable embarrassment to business.

Weed Business District Swept by Costly Fire

WEED (Cal.) Aug. 15. (AP)—Fire swept the downtown district here today, causing damage estimated at $200,000. The blaze started in a Chinese restaurant and destroyed the Royal Hotel, Weed Studio, Mountain Service Station, a garage, Moffitt's Hall and the cabins on the Sullivan Auto Camp.

The water supply failed in the midst of the fight against the fire when a power line supplying electricity to an auxiliary pump was burned in two.

PASSPORTS DEMANDED IN JUAREZ ONCE MORE

JUAREZ (Mex.) Aug. 15. (Exclusive)—Passports are off again and on again at this port of call. After a summer of no passports, during which the saloons harvested a crop of nickels, dimes and quarters, American money, the passport ban was slipped on overnight with the result that business in Juarez is decidedly slim. Tourists are permitted to pass over the bridge by showing their railroad tickets but thirsty El Paseans must content themselves with near beer or buy a ticket to Ysleta in order to fool the customs guards into believing they are tourists. Permit cards, with three terrible passport pictures and a letter from the Mayor of El Paso, who is in California, are now required before the local students of ancient Mexican architecture are permitted to cross the bridge to inspect the old mission.

ARIZONA YOUTH DROWNS

TUCSON (Ariz.) Aug. 15. (Exclusive)—David A. Foster, 15 years of age, son of Mrs. John Higgins of Tucson, was drowned in Sabino Canyon, apparently after having been stunned when his head struck a rock in a pool into which he had dived.

DRYS WINNERS IN REFERENDUM

Nation-Wide Poll Victory for Prohibition

Vote Believed to Reflect Country's Views

Favor Amendment Retention By 52 Per Cent

BOSTON, Aug. 15. (Exclusive)—The nation-wide referendum of the National Economic League has resulted in a victory for prohibition, according to announcement of the organization's secretary, J. W. Beatson. Ballots were cast by 1904 members of the national council, composed of prominent citizens residing in all parts of the country.

"We believe that this vote accurately reflects the unbiased and representative sentiment of the country on this subject," said Secretary Beatson.

Nine hundred and ninety-seven, or 52 per cent of the total, favored retention of the Eighteenth Amendment. Eight hundred and forty-one, or 44 per cent, favored repeal, with sixty-six, or 4 per cent, not voting.

The sentiment of the majority of voters was in favor of:

Greater effort and expenditure of more money, if necessary, by the Federal government for enforcement.

Putting prohibition officers under civil service rules.

Federal commission to ascertain and report facts as to operation of prohibition laws.

The referendum on the Volstead Act showed 9 per cent in favor of retaining it as it is; 34 per cent in favor of reinforcing by more effective provisions; 22 per cent in favor of modifying so as to allow greater alcoholic content in beverages; 30 per cent in favor of repealing, and 5 per cent not voting.

Modification of the Volstead Act would make enforcement of the prohibition amendment more difficult, in the opinion of 746 voters, with 732 taking the opposite view.

In the event of repeal of the Volstead Act, a majority held that local enforcement should not be left entirely to the States. In the event of modification, a majority believed the Federal government should control the sale of permitted beverages of greater alcoholic content, although nonintoxicating, through Federal dispensaries or otherwise.

Consumption of such beverages in public drinking places was disapproved, 1273 to 179, while consumption in hotels and restaurants, if served with food, was favored, 901 to 599.

STATE BUILDING BUREAU SAVES

Loan Commission Expenses Show Reduction

New Law Gives Safeguard to Investors

Criminal Identification Board Active

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 15. (Exclusive) Although the work of the State Building and Loan Commission has trebled in the last four years the assessments on building and loan associations for the support of the commission have been reduced from 24 cents per $1000 to 14 cents, according to a report filed yesterday with Gov. Richardson.

"This record was made possible," says the commission report, "through strict adherence to the Governor's policy of an economical business administration and efficiency and faithfulness among the employees."

The assets of the building and loan association increased from $64,782,760 four years ago to $210,811,648 on June 30, last, an increase of $146,078,886. The associations have been instrumental in the construction of 35,000 homes in the last four years.

INVESTORS SAFEGUARDED

"During that period," says the report, "a number of beneficial laws have been enacted and signed by Gov. Richardson making for greater safeguards to investors and members of associations. The commission also has put into effect a number of rigid rules and regulations, and these together with the strict enforcement of the building and loan laws, have made California associations among the safest financial institutions in the world, there having been no failures among them for more than twelve years."

With a very slight increase in expenditures C. S. Morrill, superintendent of the State Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation, reports that the work of the bureau has been doubled during the administration of Gov. Richardson.

RESULTS INCREASED

The greatest increase in the work of the department has been in the matter of identification, and increased facilities and equipment have been added to carry on this necessary work in the detection of crime. Identifications made from July 1, 1920, to June 30, 1923, were 19,391. Identifications made from July 1, 1924, to June 30, 1926, were 36,573, an increase of 23,452. This great additional volume of work was accomplished with only three additional employees at an added expenditure of but $4,951.51.

During the last three and one-half years, the State bureau has become much more efficient in its co-operation with county sheriffs and city police departments. In part, this has been effected by the changing of the method of filing crime reports enabling the immediate assembling of a large number of records and descriptions of persons charged with any particular crime for comparison with crime reports wherein the culprit is unknown. Improved methods of the State bureau have resulted in the identification of arrest and conviction of numerous criminals during the last three years.

Ex-Publisher Kills Self Where Mother Lies Buried

FORT VALLEY (Ga.) Aug. 15. (AP) Mark Mathews, 55 years of age, nephew of Judge Henry A. Relatives found the body, but Mathews's pet dog prevented their approach for several minutes. Mathews was a former newspaper publisher and had been in ill health for several years.

HOSE BRING FABULOUS PRICES

NEW YORK, Aug. 15. (AP)—George F. Peck, hosiery importer, revealed in an interview yesterday that $500 a pair is not an uncommon price for silk hosiery, and that the wife of a Washington millionaire buys $1000 worth of hose at one purchase and they are worn only once before being given to servants. Hand-made lace stockings cannot be worn more than twice or three times because of their delicacy, but the lace can be used again.

MEXICO TO FIGHT CLAIMS

Newspaper Says That Government Will Disregard Huerta Revolution Damages

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 15. (Exclusive)—An article in El Universal, although not giving the source of information, states that Mexico is gathering such documentary evidence for presentation to the special claims commission as will throw out of court all American claims for damages suffered during 1914 and 1915 when Victoriano Huerta headed what is now known as "the usurper's government."

The American claims for this period reach into millions of dollars, and so far as is known there is nothing in the claims convention to justify the Mexican contention that the Huerta period does not come under the provisions of the convention, although repeatedly there have been official and semiofficial insinuations since both special and general claims commissions began functioning that Mexico contends that the matter of damages for the Huerto period cannot be heard.

The general claims commission in session recently at Washington established a number of valuable precedents for American claimants coming under its jurisdiction in connection with the Huerta period. It is now believed Mexico is preparing to sustain her point when the special commission convenes and today's article is a beginning to influence public opinion.

In it the assertion is made that documentary evidence will show that Huerta had not even established a de facto government, that only the central plateau country was in his control while virtually the entire remainder of the country did not recognize him.

Legal curiosity has been aroused in American circles here as to just what argument will be advanced to support this theory, as lawyers who have examined the claims conventions have not been able to find any weakness in them warranting the elimination of the Huerta period, and believe that both conventions plainly show that all claims for revolutionary damages suffered from 1910 to 1920 are included, there being no provision to eliminate Huerta period claimants.

KELLOGG AT PINE CAMP

Secretary of State Arrives to Report to Coolidge on Mexico and Arms Conference

PAUL SMITH'S (N. Y.) Aug. 15. (AP)—Secretary of State Kellogg arrived at White Pine Camp today to discuss departmental affairs with President Coolidge before proceeding Wednesday to Plattsburg where he is to deliver an address at the dedication of a monument to Commodore Thomas MacDonough, commander of the American naval forces at the battle of Plattsburg in the War of 1812.

It is understood that the Secretary, who was accompanied by Mrs. Kellogg, will report to the President on the Mexican situation and on the Geneva preliminary arms conference. It is also indicated that Mr. Kellogg may desire to go over with the Chief Executive some phases of his Plattsburg speech.

Motoring to the Adirondacks, Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg reached the summer White House about an hour after the President and Mrs. Coolidge, with their son, John, and their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Stearns of Boston, Chief Justice Arthur P. Rugg of the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court, and Mrs. Rugg had returned from morning worship at the First Presbyterian Church in Saranac Lake.

The sermon was preached by the Rev. Dr. George K. Newell, pastor of the church, who returned to his pulpit today after a month's vacation. Dr. Newell conducted the service on the first Sunday of the President's Adirondack sojourn and Mr. Coolidge and he renewed their acquaintanceship as they walked out of the little building this noon. Another large crowd applauded the Presidential party as it arrived and left.

Charles S. Barrett, general manager of the Farmers' National Union, who was an overnight guest at White Pine Camp, left this forenoon. Mr. Barrett discussed agriculture problems, including farm relief proposals, with the President.

Gain Shown in Arizona's Gross Tax Valuation

PHOENIX, Aug. 15. (Exclusive)—Arizona has a gross valuation for taxation of $657,505,584, according to the State Tax Commission, compared with $644,604,366 for last year. All save $2,000,000 of the $13,677,189 increase is to be credited to additions made to the mine valuations, particularly the New Cornelia, at Ajo. Most of the balance was tacked upon the rail assessments.

Arizona tax-payers would be in a hard way were it not for the mines and railroads. The former pay 42½ per cent of the costs of government and the latter 15.8 per cent, to be compared with 13 per cent for lands and improvements, 14.36 per cent for city lots and improvements, 2.46 per cent for public utilities and 10.13 per cent for all other property. For the first time in years the decline was checked in the valuation of mining property, now set at $277,805,484. Railroads are valued at $103,150,785, city lots and improvements at $93,914,033, lands and improvements at $86,333,942, public utilities at $16,072,577, live stock at $16,102,951 and banks at $9,934,747.

GAINES TO TAKE STAND IN TRIAL

Father Accused of Slaying Daughter Will Testify

Defense Upset by Testimony of Auto Mechanic

Worker Says He Saw Car Near Seattle Death Spot

SEATTLE, Aug. 15. (AP)—With defense attorneys due to start in Superior Court here tomorrow presentation of testimony in an effort to free Wallace Cloyes Gaines, charged with murdering his 22-year-old daughter, Sylvia, it was announced tonight that not more than twenty-five of their forty-five witnesses will be called. Gaines and his wife are to testify.

Sylvia, a graduate of Smith College, Northampton, Mass., was strangled and beaten to death on the edge of a Seattle lake June 16. Gaines's trail started August 2.

After Ewing D. Colvin, prosecutor of King county, announced at the opening of court yesterday that the State was prepared to rest, the defense asked a continuance, declaring that its plans had been upset by testimony of Harry B. Wurster, an automobile mechanic.

Wurster, a surprise witness of the prosecution, swore that he saw Gaines's automobile the night of the slaying within fifty yards of a grove of trees in which Sylvia's denuded body was found.

He pulled the automobile out of a ditch six weeks before the killing and declared he would recognize it among a dozen other machines of the same make and model.

Gaines testified at a Coroner's inquest before he was arrested that the night his daughter was slain he searched for her but never near the lake.

Colvin said he was not inclined to regard seriously a letter which he received from Olympia in which a man who signed himself as R. D. Jones declared that on the night of the slaying he saw a man leap from a car of the same make as Gaines's and rush toward the lake to intercept a young woman. He professed to have overheard a woman's voice plead: "Oh, daddy, how can you; how can you?" The man has not been found.

Electric Instrument Which Detects Altered Vibration in Nerves

That result from pressure by misaligned vertebrae. It is the first positive "Check Up" on the CAUSE of disease.

This Scientific Instrument is the very latest for determining the exact location of nerves under pressure.

DO YOU believe in electricity? Do you believe in its power to make the street car run? If you do, I can in a few moments' talk convince you of the power of Vital Force, or human electricity, in the body. Man does not run the street car. He simply turns on the current. Man cannot run your physical being, but he can turn on the human electrical current—that's what a competent Chiropractor does.

If you don't believe in this human electrical current of nervous energy, then how do you account for the fact that the paralytic cannot raise the paralyzed arm? Why is he paralyzed? What is lacking, except the human electrical current or mental impulse. The proof of this lies in the fact that these patients come to me and, without the use of drugs or instruments, but with only the two hands, I adjust the vertebrae of the spine, removing the pressure from the nerves, thus releasing this current so that it can flow freely to the paralyzed arm and the patient gets well. This is equally true of every organ of the body.

This is your ONE opportunity to positively KNOW the WHYS and WHEREFORES of your particular case and I trust you will take advantage of it within the next ten days.

COTTON MAKES RAPID PROGRESS

Outlook for 16,000,000 Bales Bright

Weevil and Army Worm Doing Some Damage

Needed Rain in Some Areas Promised

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) Aug. 15. (Exclusive)—Favored with almost ideal weather, practically the entire cotton crop made rapid progress during the last two weeks. Only in a few spots in the western section where temperatures ranged continuously around 95 and 100 deg., which caused considerable shedding was there any complaint about the elements. Basing the improvement on the last government report of 15,621,000 bales on the 1st inst., the present outlook is for at least 16,000,000 bales, if not 250,000 bales still greater, and the condition may be said to be around 70 or 71 per cent. The only spot reporting excessive rainfall as aiding the weevil was in Central Georgia and Central Alabama, on a level with Atlanta and Birmingham.

But the roseate hue that is so strangely in contrast to the handicaps earlier in the season is not without its blemish now, either. Warnings repeated by the government laboratory at Tallulah, La., for six weeks, and reiterated by the Federal crops statistician at Houston, Tex., of impending insect damage, apparently are being realized now, especially in Texas and Oklahoma. This is happening despite very warm weather for ten days and the fact that the Census Bureau has consistently declined to take notice of any respectable amount of damage. The Tallulah report published this week reports increasing infestation everywhere, except in the Piedmont region of the Carolinas. Leaf worms are widespread through Louisiana, Texas and Arkansas and migrating eastward. Boll worms are damaging cotton in Texas and Oklahoma.

TEXAS HARD HIT

Professional bulls in the cotton market may have been credited with including many reports of insect damage but present rumors are stamped with materiality by the record-breaking demand at Memphis and near-by towns for calcium arsenate to be shipped to Texas for weevil and army leaf worm. Hundreds of thousands of tons of the poison have been shipped to Texas the past fortnight out of Memphis. Unless the leaf worm is checked, the defoliation of the plant that is about two weks late may destroy much more of the crop than hoppers started to do. Much will depend on the weather during the next two or three weeks.

Unsettled weather is forecast today for almost the entire belt. In many places including sections of Texas, moderate rains will be beneficial Immediately around Memphis rainfall is needed for all crops. But the cooler weather that will be attendant, according to the forecast, will greatly aid the weevil. Cotton plants every where except in Carolinas are touching between rows, making a good haven for weevil. Any moisture that the plant itself might need for succor, will increase weevil activity and plant is between the devil and the deep sea.

The government statistician at Houston last week said: "Rapid increase of weevil over Texas, also leaf worm and boll worm. Weevil active in at least ninty-five counties. Leaf worm in seventy-one and boll worm in at least thirty-nine counties. Hoppers, while decreasing, are active in ninety-seven counties. With the crop late an growth so large unless the weather proves favorable and poisoning is extensively practiced losses from insects may become very great. Were each of the nine districts of the State to be credited with its maximum production as of 1924 to 1925, a total of 5,300,000 bales would be indicated as the cotton now stands."

WEEVIL INCREASING

The Tallulah laboratory says that weevil are reported throughout the central and eastern portion of Texas, with heaviest infestations in south central portions. In Oklahoma, weevil are very much on the increase in the southeast. In Arkansas weevil increasing in the eastern portion. Weevil numerous in Louisiana, with the highest infestation in south and north portions.

In Mississippi weevil are increasing and damage is reported from many local areas. Leaf worms are scattered throughout Texas, the southern portion of Oklahoma, throughout Arkansas and Louisiana and in Northern Mississippi. Defoliation of cotton is common in South Central Texas and some stripping is reported in Eastern Arkansas. The first bale of the season from this district reached Memphis yesterday from Sunflower county, Mississippi, eighteen days later than last year's first bale and three days later than the ten-year average. It sold for 30 cents. Greenwood, Miss., also reported a bale ginned and within ten days, gins will be operating throughout this section.

By the 25th inst., ginning should be general throughout the belt.

SPOT PRICES WEAKEN

The break in the futures market early in the week caused a weakening of spot cotton except for the lower grades, where the basis strengthened if anything. Demand seems to be general for the better types of low grades at prices ranging from 11 to 14 cents from southern, northern and continental spinners.

Memphis spot sales were 5100 bales which was smaller than for several weeks, but better than usual at this season of the year.

The following are representative transactions: Good middling, inch and one-eighth, 22 3-4c; strict to good middling, very light gray, inch and one-eighth, 13½ to 14c. Strict good ordinary, fair color to blue, inch and one-sixteenth, 11c. Low middling gray, inch and eighth, 12c. Strict middling 7-8 of an inch, prompt shipment, 18c.

Duel Fought in Dispute of Italy Union Leaders

ROME, Aug. 15. (AP)—Strikes and lockouts being banned under the new Fascist regulations, labor disputes took a new form when Giuseppe Moschini, head of the Fascist unions in Province of Mantua, and Gino Olivetti, chief of the Fascist Industrialist Federation, fought a duel. The clash ended with slight wounding of Olivetti.

The duel was arranged after peace steps similar to those provided for interclass disputes had failed to smooth over the labor controversy.

YOUNG TO LOSE HOME SUPPORT

Alameda Republicans For Goodcell, Says Pierce

Announcement Gives Finn Crowd Awful Jolt

Gauntlet Also Thown Down to Hiram Johnson

OAKLAND, Aug. 15. (Exclusive)—George Pierce, veteran leader of the Alameda county Republican organization, today announced that his organization will support Rex B. Goodcell for Governor "to the last ditch."

Pierce's announcement came in the nature of a bomb-shell to the Young leaders who had counted on Pierce lining up his organization with the Finn outfit in San Francisco. Pierce predicted a sweeping victory for Goodcell and threw down the gauntlet to Senator Johnson.

Alameda county is the home of both Young and Richardson. Pierce's organization in lining up for Goodcell will further disrupt the Finn organization in San Francisco, the majority of its workers already having refused to accept Young in preference to Goodcell, political observers declare in predicting an open revolt in Finn's organization.

In concluding his announcement Mr. Pierce said:

"For the benefit of those who tremble in fear at the Senator Johnson bugaboo, Goodcell workers in Alameda county satirically smile and recall that when opportunist Johnson sought to relegate Calvin Coolidge to the woodpile two years ago Alameda county trundled him back of the nation's Chief Executive to the tune of 70,000 votes. Goodcell's champions in Alameda county point out that Senator Johnson has not increased his popularity one iota since that time, and that he is more to be pitied than censured. Goodcell, that's all Alameda county Republicans can see."

COTTON AT LOWEST EBB OVER WEEK

Weather Conditions Held Important Factor Now at Critical Stage of Season

NEW YORK, Aug. 15. (Exclusive)—The market made a good recovery early in the week from the sharp break of 70 to 80 points which occurred in prices on the government's much larger crop estimate of 15,621,000 bales issued Monday than the trade had been expecting. It was actually 800,000 bales in excess of what the average of the private crop reports had led the trade here and at Liverpool to look for. The market had been so well liquidated however, during the previous week's selling movements and declines in prices, good rallies occurred from those lower quotations of early Monday afternoon when shorts began covering and some new trade buying came into the market on the attractiveness of the lower quotations. The menace of another tropical storm also helped along the rally, but after that storm went out to sea without even touching the South Atlantic Coast and renewed liquidation with fresh southern hedge selling developed there was not enough buying support left to hold the market.

Prices went into new low grounds early Friday afternoon when October contracts sold here at 16.15c, December 16.08c; January 16.10c, March 16.29, and May 16.47 on some fresh southern selling with prices for middling cotton now down to 16½c at Dallas and Fort Worth, to 16 5-8c at Little Rock, Houston, Galveston, Savannah and New Orleans and both domestic and foreign spinners still reported as indifferent buyers at those lower quotations. With contract prices here having reached in the low quotations mentioned above within 10 to 20 points of the past season's low records of July 2 and the lowest in the past four years there was just enough new trade buying attracted by that consideration and profit taking by shorts to cause another rally in the late trading on which the market closed 20 to 25 points up from the low with October finishing around 16.34c, December 16.30c; January 16.33c; March 16.47c and May 16.70c.

After the market had shown maximum decline of 110 to 115 points on the week's trading from last Saturday's closing quotations the prices just mentioned showed a net decline on the week after the late rally of yesterday of about 90 points, or $4.50 per bale.

It is still considered almost entirely a weather trading market as the crop is now at the critical stage of the season in its development and any stretch of good or bad weather would be an important factor in either accelerating its progress to maturity or causing heavy damage. This makes it necessary for the trade to watch closely the daily weather news and forecasts for the best guide on the way the crop is progressing over the greater part of the belt and the course of prices from the current level for the near future.

With more than 5,300,000 bales of American cotton shown to have been carried over in the world's visible and invisible supply from the past two seasons accumulated stocks, Monday's government report holding out a prospect at present of 15,621,000 bales without linters on this season's crop furnishes such a larger supply than the world's spinners could absorb there will be little probability of any bull movement developing in the market until some disastrous weather or extensive boll-weevil damage occurs to heavily cut down the present prospect of another big crop following the bumper crop of 16,135,000 bales produced last year. The principal basis for this season's large crop is the record-breaking acreage of 49,000,000 under cultivation against nearly 48,000,000 planted last season from planters in most sections of the belt having refused to listen to the advice of most of the southern bankers and merchants to cut their acreage for this year's crop. It leaves a larger percentage than the usual amount for abandoned acreage this year from crop damage.

PLATICAS DE LOS LUNES

Por el Professor R. Guerrero
DEL DEPARTAMENTO ESPANOL DE "THE TIMES"

Número 458

En el segundo párrafo de la Plática 456 dice "tato" por "tanto" y "misprimeras" por "mis primeras". En el penúltimo se le "más" por "más" y "appellidos" por "apellidos"; y en el último, "mental" por "metal"; En el párrafo segundo de la Plática 457 dice "Rear" por "Real"; en el cuarto, "do apalabras" por "dos palabras". En el ejemplo de Quintana (párrafo sexto), están de más las palabras "enemiga los". Cuatro líneas más adelante se lee "Guevra" por "Guevara".

Tampoco vale decir, agrega el señor de la Peña, hablando de la pluralización de los apellidos, que la forma plural altera y desfigura éstos, pues la desinencia que determina a este número sólo denota el cambio o mudanza de accidente gramatical, sin que sea lícito suponer que de tales desinencias resulte un nuevo apellido distinto del usado en número singular: "Mendozas" no expresa un apellido distinto de "Mendoza", sino el mismo en número plural.

No consienten la forma plural los apellidos patronímicos terminados en "az" y "es", que son voces graves o esdrújulas, como "Díaz", "Alvarez" y "Martínez".

Tampoco es bien pluralizar un apellido, si el plural ya es otro apellido distinto, pues si decimos "los señores Terrazas", no puede saberse si se habla de varios individuos que llevan el apellido singular "Terraza", o el plural "Terrazas".

Asimismo es imposible dar terminación plural a los que de suyo tienen ya este número, como "Tresguerras" y "Trespalacios".

Si el apellido plural lleva como parte suya integrante algún complemento o caso regido, tampoco podrá pluralizarse; según esta regla, "Montes de Oca" no varía al pasar al plural.

Tampoco admiten variación alguna aquellos apellidos que vienen a ser un nombre en genitivo regido de la preposición "de" y precedido de artículo: no podrá por consiguiente pluralizarse el apellido "de la Peña", sino que habrá que decir "los señores de la Pena"; pero sí podrá pluralizarse si no forma parte suya las palabras "de la".

Rehusan también la forma plural los apellidos extranjeros cuya terminación, conforme a la índole de nuestra lengua, debe permanecer invariable. Autoriza esta regla la Real Academia Española, que en un dictamen suyo dice así: "Si hoy vivieran la considerarían como ciencia histórica y estarían de fijo al lado de . . . los CURTIUS".

Los apellidos formados de un nombre regente en singular y un nombre regido en el mismo número, pluralizan sólo la primera parte; v.g.: el plural de "Ponce de León" es "Ponces de León". Véase el verso de Zorrilla citado en la Plática 459.

Mas si la primera parte de apellido no consiente plural, todo e apellido permanece invariable; y así se dirá "los Pérez de Lara" y "el señor Pérez de Lara"; "el señor Péres de León" y "los señores Perez de León".

Don Rufino José Cuervo, en su notable obra intitulada "Apuntaciones Críticas sobre el Lenguaje Bogotano", trata la cuestión del plural de los apellidos en los siguientes términos:

En "La Caridad", periódico de Bogotá, se ventiló en año de 1864 la cuestión de si los apellidos pueden usarse en plural sujetándose a la norma común de las voces de su clase, o no. En nuestro sentir quedó afirmativamente resuelto el punto; mas como no todos podrán leer lo que allí se dijo, será conveniente hacer algunas observaciones, para las cuales hemos tenido en cuenta lo que entonces se alegó en pro y en contra:

Número 459

PRIMERA.—Los apellidos son nombres apelativos, supuesto que se aplican a todos los individuos de una familia, y por tanto deben estar sujetos a los cánones gramaticales concernientes a los vocablos de su clase.

SEGUNDA.—La práctica constante de la lengua, desde los tiempos más remotos hasta hoy, establece que, llegado el caso, se dé a los apellidos la inflexión plural cuando su estructura lo permita. Innecesario es aducir ejemplos, pues a manta se le vendrán a los ojos a quien lea nuestros clásicos, y, salvo uno u otro de modernos escritorzuelos chafallones, ninguno se hallará en contra.

TERCERA.—Jamás se dará una explicación lógica y racional de la construcción "los Guevara", por ejemplo. La que se ha intentado, diciendo que antes del apellido se subentiende "señores" o cosa parecida, disculparía el plural de "los", pero no bastaría para cohonestar el singular "Guevara". No falta quien, para clarar este punto, embuta entre "los" y "Guevara" una larga cáfila de palabras, diciendo: "los señores o sujetos que tienen por apellido Guevara", explicación tan ingeniosa, que canoniza disparates como "los árbol": "los objetos que tienen por nombre árbol".

CUARTA.—Si no es en el caso de que vaya acompañado de otro plural, jamás podrá distinguirse si el apellido invariable se refiere a una sola persona o a más de una, como en este ejemplo de Moratín: ". . . Vive; que la patria nuestra—Honor, virtud, Guzmanes necesita"; y cuando hay más de un apellido, aunque vayan precedidos de un plural, todavía es equívoco el uso del singular: diciendo "los señores Guevara y Mora", no se trasluce si se habla de un solo individuo de cada apellido o de más. Inconvenientes son éstos que se obvian con seguir el legítimo y antiguo uso castellano.

QUINTA.—La única dificultad grave que se alega es la de apellidos como "Rey" y "Reyes", en que no se sabría a cuál pertenece el plural: "los señores Reyes": ¿"Rey" o "Reyes"? No puede aclararse sin acudir a un rodeo. En todas las lenguas hay esta clase de tropiezos, y para removerlos sí que puede decirse que más vale maña que fuerza; si la lengua no permite fijar directamente el sentido, se forzoso echar por el atajo y no quebrantar la gramática. Díganlo casos como éstos: "La madre de la señorita Rosa, a quien yo buscaba" (ejemplo puesto por Bello); ¿quién era la buscada? "Aio Te, Aecida, Romanos vincere posse": ¿quién vence?

Como reto a los galiparlistas innovadores, proponemos los siguientes pasajes para que prueben a acomodar a su capricho los apellidos que aparecen en ellos: "Haludos puede haber caballeros" (Cervantes); "Vosotros Moratines y Argensolas" (Tomado de "La Caridad"); "Allí se nombraron Macas e Boyles—Pinoses, Centellas, Soleres, Monvawas" (El Marqués de Santillana); "Castros y Sotomayores—Hay aquí muy caballeros" (Tirso;) "Los nombres venerandos—De Laras, Tellos, Haros y Girones—¿Qué se hicieron? (Jovellanos); "Y vosotros guerreros de Castilla,—Honor de sus más ínclitos solares,—Nobles Condes de Cabra y de Tendilla,—Merlos, Téllez, Girones y Aguilares,—Cárdenas y Manriques de Sevilla. . . . . — Mendozas de alta prez, Portocarreros—Y Ponces de León. . . ." (Zorrilla).

Finalmente, si no se pudiese oponer otra cosa a esta prática novísima de privar a los apellidos de las inflexiones que les pertenecen, que el ser neciamente pedantesca, todavía juzgaríamos esto como razón suficiente para declararle una guerra tenaz e incansable.

Esto no quiere decir, termina diciendo el señor Cuervo, que cuando se nombran dos o más personas de un mismo apellido anteponiendo los nomores propios, haya aquel de usarse en plural: "D. Joaquín y D. Jaime Villanueva", no "Villanuevas".

OS ANGELES TO DISPLAY ITS MANUFACTURED GOODS

Thousands of Buyers Are Present From Eleven Western States to View Products of Initial Trade Show Exposition

Los Angeles today will spread its myriad wares for all the world to see. Before the eyes many thousands, including buyers from eleven Western States and the public of Southern California, the first Chamber of Commerce industrial and trade exposition, which was arranged to demonstrate that this city is the ideal market place of the West, will open in the Shrine Auditorium, on West Jefferson street. The show will continue until Sunday night, the 22nd inst.

Millions of dollars' worth of exhibits, displaying almost every known article of merchandise, all of which are manufactured in Los Angeles, will pass in review before the crowds that surge through the three spacious floors and the section of space outside the building which will contain an overflow of exhibit booths.

A. G. ARNOLL

It will be a vast demonstration of the contentions of the officials of the Chamber of Commerce and the manufacturers and wholesalers of Los Angeles that this city is the melting pot of industry which can supply every need of merchant retailers throughout the entire West quicker, cheaper, and better than the East and Middle West can.

It is the greatest by far of any attempt that has ever been made to show the buying public and the general public of the entire West the tremendous range of products that are being manufactured here on a par and better, in many instances, than can be manufactured in any of the great industrial centers of the East.

Arthur G. Arnoll, secretary and general manager of the chamber, declared yesterday the event will exercise a far-reaching effect in advancing the city industrially.

Information to substantiate this assertion and to explain the reasons why Los Angeles can produce merchandise as cheaply as it can be turned out in other sections of the United States will be furnished at the exposition. This information will disclose that Los Angeles industry has cheap electric power, cheap natural gas, a splendid labor market and is close to the source of a wide variety of raw materials needed.

Arthur S. Bent, president of the Chamber of Commerce, was one of the prime movers in the carrying out of plans for the great trade show. Soon after taking office, Mr. Bent, realizing the great good that would be brought to this city if the West could be shown the extensive nature of its products, began work with A. G. Arnoll, secretary and general manager of the Chamber of Commerce, and F. L. S. Harman, assistant secretary, in charge of the actual program.

ARTHUR S. BENT

Since that time, these officials, together with many other officials of the Chamber of Commerce and hundreds of prominent Los Angeles manufacturers have been working steadily to make the event a great success. It is the supreme gesture of industry in Los Angeles, the proud, triumphant display of the strong and beautiful things that are being turned out in tremendous volumes by giant machines of steel in fac-

SOUTHLAND'S JULY EXPORTS FROM HARBOR TOP $8,000,000

Ships Sail Laden With Products of Industry, Farms and Mines for One Hundred and Fifty-six Foreign Marts

BY CLARENCE H. MATSON, Manager,
Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce Trade Extension Department

Ships leaving Los Angeles Harbor in July carried industrial, agricultural and mineral products from Southern California to 156 foreign markets located in all parts of the world and it was not a good month for exports, either, but they brought back more than $8,000,000.

July is the off-season for numerous export commodities.

The sardine pack has all been disposed of; it is a little early for canned and dried fruits; the citrus fruit season is practically over; cotton will not begin to move in volume until September or October, and beans are entirely out of the running.

Only the output of the factories and the oil refineries moved in usual volume—the same all the year through. Yet the exports that went out of Southern California brought back returns totaling nearly $8,000,000 for the month.

TOP WORLD MART

Every part of the globe except Africa, Western Asia, Southeastern Europe and Russia was covered by the consignments shipped from Los Angeles in July. Forty-six cities in Latin America and an equal number in the Orient were among the July customers of Southern California. To these were added thirty-six in Europe, fifteen in Canada and thirteen in Australasia. And in another sixty days this number would practically double.

CLARENCE H. MATSON

About three weeks ago the trade extension department of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, which is a co-operative office of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce in Washington, received word from the bureau that a firm in Argentina desired to purchase 4000 sets of irons for the ends of school desks and seats.

A drawing showed approximately the sort of castings desired. A few minutes' inquiry by telephone brought forth the information that a Los Angeles firm which manufactures school desks had more than 4000 sets similar to the pattern desired already manufactured. Cables were exchanged with the Argentina company and when the S.S. West Camargo sailed from Los Angeles on July 23, last, she carried in her manifest this item:

"To Comodoro Rivadavia, Argentina—one crate school desk irons; weight, thirty-one pounds, value $3."

MANY PRODUCTS

This small shipment was sent as a sample of what the Los Angeles manufacturer has ready for export, and it is now on its way down the west coast of South America. It will go through the Straits of Magellan and then up the east coast of South America to its destination.

It is not at all improbable that it will bring an order just 4000 times as large as the sample—and from a point away down in the southernmost part of southern world.

Here is an item that enters into both import and export trade: It is brought in large quantities from China and Constantinople and after being processed it is exported again chiefly to Western Europe. This item is sausage casings. July exports show two shipments to Bremen aggregating about $1200; another shipment to Rotterdam amounting to $3658; another to Hamburg of $2365, and one to London amounting to $2250—a to-

LOS ANGELES IS FASHION CENTER

Stars to Display Styles at Trade Show

Glittering Beauty Pageant Scheduled

Models to Exhibit Newest Creations

The tremendous progress of Los Angeles as a fashion center will be illustrated at the Chamber of Commerce Industrial and Trade Show in a glittering pageant of beauty, "The Fashions and Follies of 1927," in which motion-picture stars and a host of other beautiful women will display the latest styles in gowns and other garments manufactured in Los Angeles.

Los Angeles manufactures more than $35,000,000 worth of clothing annually, according to Milton Hirsch, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce exposition committee, and every year is evolving more and more of the styles that attain great popularity throughout the entire United States.

"The motion-picture stars first gave Los Angeles its name as a style center," Hirsch stated. "Los Angeles gowns worn on the screen were copied everywhere and the manufacturers here were quick to seize the opportunity and to enlarge upon it."

"The Fashions and Follies of 1927" will not only be a fashion revue, however, according to the officials in charge of the trade show. It also will be a high-class vaudeville show and a showing of motion-picture stars. Through a special arrangement, many of the beauties of the motion-picture world will make personal appearances.

Miss Frances Thress of Santa Monica, and Miss Dorothy Fisher of Hawthorne, are two pretty girls who are typical of the fifty fashion models who will take part in the revue. There will be more than 100 persons in the show, which is under the direction of Norman Manning, supervisor of special attractions. All of the clothing, including articles ranging from beautiful gowns to men's overalls, were manufactured by members of the Associated Apparel Manufacturers of Los Angeles.

tories covering thousands of acres of ground.

Not only is this an exposition of trade products, a technical showing of Los Angeles' ability, but there is to be a great flourish of entertainment also, under the supervision of Paul D. Howse, chairman of the entertainment committee of the show.

One of the features of this program of entertainment will be a lavish spectacle of beauty and glory, "The Fashions and Follies of 1927," which will not only constitute a vivid display of the gorgeous clothing styles as made here, and which are expected to predominate throughout the United States during the coming year, but will be a splendid presentation of vaudeville and will be featured by personal appearances by many of the motion-picture actors and actresses of Hollywood.

PAUL D. HOWSE

The film beauties, who will wear the attractive gowns of the coming season, are expected to prove a great attraction, according to Mr. Howse. Several noted stars are included in the number which have promised to appear in connection with the event. There will be fifty fashion models and more than 100 persons in the entire revue, said Norman Manning, who is directing the show.

"This exposition is being conducted by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce with the co-operation of practically every important manufacturing and distributing association in Los Angeles," Mr. Bent declared, in reviewing the undertaking.

"It is in no sense a private venture. It is being carried on solely for the building up of Los Angeles business, with no thought of personal profit or private gain entering into it. Approximately 200,000 square feet of exhibit space has been provided in the beautiful new $2,500,000 Shrine Civic Auditorium and the surrounding grounds.

F. L. S. HARMAN

"The auditorium itself, seating more than 6500 persons, will be available and will be used for the exposition. There will be approximately 1000 exhibit booths. The most up-to-date type of open-booth equipment will be employed and every facility will be given for the displaying of wares and for conferences with buyers.

"Judging from the two previous expositions conducted by the Chamber of Commerce, it is expected that not less than 7000 trade buyers will visit the show and at least 200,000 of the public. The exposition will open daily at 10 o'clock and will remain open for buyers only until 3 o'clock in the afternoon. At this time the public will be admitted under a nominal admission charge. The entertainment programs will start each evening at 9 o'clock."

Products Are Close Together at Trade Show

Segregation of industries, it was said yesterday, is a high commercial feature of the industrial and trade show which will open today.

Each line of merchandise has been assigned an area for its own occupancy, and the effect is that of a group of smaller expositions welded into one larger exhibit. By this means, buyers interested in but one line of products will find their materials in such close proximity that but slight distances will be traversed as they go from booth to booth.

SALES COVER WIDE FIELD

Motor Truck Firm's Develeopment in Southland Example of Population's Growing Demands

The ever increasing demand of a continuously growing population in Southern California is largely responsible for the marked growth of the Moreland Motor Truck Company which, starting fifteen years ago in a sheet-iron shed, thirty-five feet by fifty feet, on Kohler street has grown to a concern the Burbank plant of which covers twenty-five acres.

After building the first two Moreland trucks, the company capitalized and secured new quarters on North Main street. The business of the new company increased to such an extent that its buildings were enlarged each year, until in about five years the plant covered the entire block and it was necessary for another expansion to handle the increased demand for trucks.

The Burbank plant of the Moreland Truck Company covers twenty-five acres of ground and is supplied with gas, electricity and water.

"The sale of motor trucks is something more than simply selling the manufactured unit," declared Mr. Moreland. "We sell transportation over a period of years and we guarantee service. The first trucks that we ever built are still in successful use."

The Moreland plant is divided up into a number of units and manufactures all its own steel and gray iron castings in electric furnaces. In making the steel in the electric furnace the company can manufacture high-grade iron and steel castings as economically and to much better advantage and secure better quality of castings that if they were manufactured in the open-hearth or in cupola furnaces. All the bronze and brass used in the truck manufacture is also made at the plant.

The sales territory for the Moreland trucks covers all countries bordering on the Pacific Ocean and all States west of Denver, including Western Canada and Mexico.

OUTPUT OF PUMP FIRM INCREASES

Opens New Store Per Year Since Reorganization in 1916

Keeping abreast of the times, the Associated Supply Company has enjoyed a continued expansion since a reorganization in 1916. Establishing the company in 1910, it was reorganized and expanded in 1916 with two stores, and was added to until now it has ten different plants, according to officials of the company.

When oil developments demand, the company erects a plant near the field. It now has branches at Wilmington, Huntington Beach, Ventura and Taft, and is completing plans for an additional branch plant in the Richfield district.

Recent expansions and improvements in the company's holding include 2200 feet of spur track at Wilmington and Los Angeles; an increase of 18,000 square feet of space at the Los Angeles plant, 12,000 feet of which is covered with steel structure and flored with concrete with six-ton cranes operating over the whole building, and a new warehouse at Huntington Beach.

To facilitate the handling of the company's forty-foot seamless pipe in the Wilmington district, a specially constructed locomotive has been bought by the Associated Supply Company to load and unload this product. It is claimed by company officials that the Associated is the only company offering this service.

One of the best known products of the company is a gasoline and oil meter, widely used throughout the Pacific Coast and Western States and now invading the eastern and middle-western territory. This pump will be one of the firm's principal exhibits in the chamber show.

ORIGINAL IDEA WILL BE USED IN REVUE

Norman Manning, supervisor of special events for the industrial and trade exposition, it was announced yesterday, made an exhaustive study of fashion revues as presented elsewhere before staging the event of tomorrow night, and then discarded all precedent to stage his own idea of what a fashion show ought to be.

VAST INDUSTRY RISE REFLECTED

Goodyear Firm is Example of Factory Trend

Concern Doubles Output in Six Years

Builds $1,000,000 Unit to Meet Demands

Doubling its output of tires and tubes in the six years that it has been established, the local branch of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company is an outstanding example of the growth attending Los Angeles' industrial projects.

"The plant is working at almost maximum capacity," declared E. L. Falls, advertising manager. "This means that we are making about 7500 tires and tubes daily.

"The Goodyear plant has a floor space of thirty acres. It employs 250 persons. More than 6000 tons of rubber and 144,000 bales of cotton are required annually for tire and tube manufacture," Mr. Falls continued. "We found it necessary to build a $1,000,000 addition to our local plant early this year in order to care for the rapidity of our development."

tal of $9441 worth of sausage casings exported in the one month.

COFFEE TRADE

In the same classification of animal products are $900 worth of hydrogenated fish oil shipped to Havana, $12,500 worth of hides shipped to London, 800 pounds of feathers for Yokohama, shoes for Vancouver, hams for Salina Cruz, lard for various places on the West Coast of Mexico, sardines for Iquique, Chile, and Cali, Colombia; condensed milk for a number of Latin-American ports, and cheese for Hankow, China, and La Paz, Mex.

Although Los Angeles is just coming into the coffee-importing business on a considerable scale, an export shipment of half a ton of roasted coffee was made to Manila, and smaller amounts to Latin America.

Confectionery was shipped last month to a number of places in Mexico and Central America and 300 pounds to Yokohama.

Biscuits, or crackers as they are usually called in America—nearly $4000 worth—were exported to San Jose de Guatemala, Cristobal, Mazatlan; Palmira-Vella, Colombia; La Paz and Manila.

More than $500 worth of cocoanut oil went to Manzanillo, and another $1000 worth to Duedin and Auckland, N. Z.

Two shipments aggregating $3,790 sacks of cottonseed cake were shipped to Scandinavian countries—$30,000 worth to Norse Sundby, Denmark, and more than half as much more to Aalborg, in the same country.

ORANGE JUICE

Fruit juices, principally orange juice, are beginning to find world-wide markets from Los Angeles. Early in July small shipments were made to Gothenburg, Sweden; London, and to Christchurch, New Zealand. The latter part of the month $220 worth was shipped to Hongkong, $288 worth to Singapore, the "Crossroads of the Orient;" $1212 worth to Shanghai $265 worth to Calcutta, halfway around the word, and two shipments aggregating $253 to Rangoon, "on the road to Mandalay."

This is the tail-end of the citrus-fruit season, yet the exports of oranges, grapefruit and lemons—few of the latter—amounted to $231,222 during the month, 60 per cent as much as went out in the entire year ending with June, 1925.

It is notable that European markets for Southern California oranges and grapefruit have very largely increased this year, and markets in the Orient are now developing with the round-the-world Dollar service sailing from Los Angeles every two weeks.

SOUTHLAND ORANGES

The month of July started off with the S.S. Pacific Shipper carrying 5400 boxes of oranges and 4600 boxes of grapefruit to Liverpool. This was twenty-five carloads in this one ship, and the fruit brought Southern California growers more than $36,000. A few days later the Swedish ship Annie Johnson took away nearly 5000 boxes of oranges and 1600 boxes of grapefruit for London. This aggregated another sixteen cars and brought nearly $24,000.

Besides this, the Annie Johnson sailed with several thousand dollars' worth more for Stockholm, Gothenburg, Copenhagen, Norkopping and Malmo.

The same day the S.S. Justin took 3000 boxes to Hamburg and Antwerp, valued at nearly $12,000 more, and the following week the Holland-American liner Eemdyk sailed with 4400 boxes of oranges and 2500 boxes of grapefruit for Liverpool. This seventeen carloads brought nearly $30,000 to the growers.

The close of the month saw two big shipments go out, one of 4300 boxes of oranges and 4100 boxes of grapefruit on the S.S. Pacific Trader to London, and the other of 7300 boxes of oranges and 2250 boxes of grapefruit on the S.S. Drechtdijk to Liverpool. The London shipment was the equivalent of twenty-one carloads, valued at more than $33,000, while the Liverpool shipment equaled twenty-six carloads, valued at nearly $40,000.

GAS COMES HIGH

Across the Pacific, Manila bought nearly $17,000 worth of oranges from Southern California, and Hongkong and Shanghai took lesser amounts, while British Columbia has always been a steady market for citrus fruits.

The big money from exports naturally comes from petroleum products. Single shiploads of gasoline and kerosene were worth fortunes. Two tankloads of gasoline sailed for London within a few hours of one another early in the month, with more than 160,000 barrels of the stuff that makes the car go, which brought to Southern California refineries in excess of $1,000,000. Four cargoes of crude oil shipped to Montreal brought $612,000. A tanker of kerosene for Yokohama was valued at $422,000 and another ship to Shanghai was valued at $335,000.

Fuel oil by the tankload was shipped to Tocopilla, Antofagasta, Chanaval and Coquimbo, in Chile; to Manila, Tsingtao, Shanghai and Tusurumi in the Orient; to London and Southampton, Eng.; Buenos Aires and Montevideo, on the east coast of South America, and to many other regions. More than $6,000,000 worth of bulk petroleum products were shipped from Los Angeles Harbor to foreign countries last month, and nearly $300,000 more was sent out in cases.

At the same time Los Angeles is helping to develop oil in other parts of the world. More than $115,000 worth of oil-well machinery and equipment was shipped from Los Angeles during July. More than $75,000 of this went to a little place called Balikpapan on the east coast of Borneo, while the balance went to such places as Palembang, Sumatra; Calcutta, British India; Cartegena, Colombia; Wainwright, Can.; Sydney, Australia, and Tjepoe, Pangkalan and other places in the Dutch East Indies.

SILK MILLS TO DOUBLE PRODUCTION

Hermosa Concern to Have More Machinery and Help to Meet Demands

HERMOSA, Aug. 15.—Doubling production, adding equipment, and doubling pay roll within the next two weeks is part of the expansion plan fostered by the Golden State Silk Mills here. According to David H. Young, president of the concern, national interest in California-made silk is prompting the move. Three carloads of looms capable of lifting the daily production of the mills from 1600 to 3600 yards are expected to arrive at the Hermosa plant within the next few days, he said.

"Our mill is running at capacity," Mr. Young declared. "The month of July, usually a poor month in the silk business, has exceeded all other months' business here by more than $15,000.

"By the end of the year our subsidiary plants, the Hermosa Silk Spinning Company and the Hermosa Hosiery Mills, Inc., will be in full operation. These concerns should do a great deal toward making Hermosa a recognized silk center."

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS WIN BUYER'S PRAISE

A buyer in the Ambassador Hotel lobby, here for the industrial and trade exposition, said yesterday that Los Angeles was the hardest place in the country in which to do business. He explained the city had so many amusement facilities it taxed the determination of a buyer to keep his mind on business while here.

PLANT MINES MATERIALS

Manufacturing nothing but superrefractories, the Vitrifrax Company, Incorporated, is the only plant of its kind in Southern California which operates its own mines, according to R. W. Brown, general manager of the company, who declared that the plant secured all its raw materials in the Southwest.

Starting in 1920 with a force of ten men, the Vitrifrax Company has steadily increased its plant and force until at the present time it employs 100 men in the plant and mines.

The products of the plant are sent to all parts of the world, the company just completing a large shipment for Germany, and at the present time working on a large contract for a world famous English concern, officials said.

Since its organization in 1920, the plant has been forced to add two additional buildings and warehouses. The plant has increased its equipment to keep pace with its building program, it is declared.

NEW BOOTHS FEATURE SHOW

An innovation of the first chamber of commerce industrial and trade exposition in the Shrine Auditorium will be the "open" type of booth which predominates in the floor arrangement, according to officials in charge.

"Manufacturers now favor the open booths because they bring nearly all of the exhibits into the line of vision on each floor of the exposition," declared G. B. Kirker, of the Westinghouse Electric Manufacturing Company, and chairman of the exposition construction committee.

Mr. Kirker displayed a miniature booth of the "open" type which caused considerable comment yesterday. He said nearly all of the booths at the exposition are of this type. Because of the great size of this exposition, he said, the open booths will be given a splendid test. The trade show will close next Sunday night.

MILLING FIRM PROSPERS

Was $15,000 Wilmington Concern in 1892; is Now $10,000,000 Organization

From a small feed mill in Wilmington in 1892 to a $10,000,000 concern with seven flour mills, seventeen warehouses and feed mills, cottonseed, fish meal, and branch factories, mills and docks covering the Pacific Coast and Western States has been the experience of the Globe Grain and Milling Company, according to C. C. Hine, vice-president of the company.

It plans to depict the old and new milling methods in its display at the Chamber of Commerce Trade and Industrial Exposition.

At its inception in 1892 the company had a capitalization of $15,000 and was known as the McDonald Milling Company. The plant employed eight men and confined its activity to the rolling of grain and barley. Proprietary feeds were unknown at that time.

In 1902, to keep pace with increasing demands, the company increased its capitalization to $1,250,000 and changed the name to the Globe Grain and Milling Company.

In its expansion program the company erected mills at Colton, San Francisco, El Paso, Tex.; San Diego, Ogden, Utah, and Sacramento. Cottonseed oil mills were erected at Vernon and Calexico and an oil refinery at Vernon.

The company now has grain elevators in San Pedro, Portland and Ogden. Other holdings are a fish-meal factory at Ostend, Cal., and warehouses at Oakland, Winchester, Calexico, McFarland, Seeley, Fresno, Pomona, Placerville, Fullerton, Santa Ana, Perris, Imperial, El Centro, Brawley, Rockwood, Inglewood and Salt Lake City. Stockyards at Hobart, rice mills at Woodland and a macaroni factory at Cuver City complete the company's holdings.

Fifteen Types of Products Are Exhibited

Fifteen important classifications of products, offered for sale on Los Angeles markets, were enumerated yesterday as being displayed at the industrial and trade exposition. They are:

Drugs and chemicals, food products, paper goods, household furnishings, petroleum, automobiles and accessories, electrical goods, machinery, iron and steel goods, business equipment, building materials, hardware, wearing apparels, textiles and hats and caps.

TRADE PRECEPT

Buying right is half the battle, is one of the precepts of the industrial and trade show.

HOW TO GET TO TRADE SHOW

Directions for Reaching Auditorium and Time to See Exhibits Given

If traveling by street car, take West Jefferson cars and get off at the Shrine Auditorium. Or take southbound bus on Figueroa street and walk one block west from the intersection of Jefferson and Figueroa streets.

Motorists unfamiliar with the location of the Shrine Auditorium should travel south on Figueroa street to the intersection of Jefferson and Figueroa streets and then west one block.

The show is open to the public and buyers from 3:30 in the afternoon until 11 o'clock at night. From 10 o'clock in the morning until 3 o'clock in the afternoon it is open only to the buyers and other representatives of retailing or wholesaling establishments.

TICKETS NOW READY FOR SHOW VISITORS

To take care of the public at the industrial and trade show, the Chamber of Commerce, it was revealed yesterday, has equiped itself with 200,000 tickets of admission to Shrine Auditorium. These tickets, it was said, are only for the exposition proper, and additional tickets are ready for the nightly vaudeville and fashion shows.

Sacking Popular Product

California Walnuts

Reports show that California grows a vast percentage of the walnuts used throughout the United States. Above is shown the method used in preparing them for shipment.

Nation Buys Walnuts From California

Walnuts are one of Southern California's principal crops, 95 per cent of the walnuts produced in the United States coming from this section, according to producers' reports.

This crop is grown principally from the coastal region from Santa Barbara to Santa Ana, although in recent years plantings have been made farther in the interior and in San Diego county.

Last season the walnut crop was the second largest known to the industry, according to the California Walnut Growers' Association.

The total production of merchantable nuts is figured at 54,000,000 pounds, bringing as high as 30 cents per pound.

Southern Part of State Brings Better Returns

Realizing that a greater field could be found in Southern California than in the north, the C. F. Braun Company moved headquarters and factory to Alhambra from San Francisco. The company took over their present location on January 1, 1923, according to Carl F. Braun, president of the company, which is one of the largest manufacturers of oil-well supplies in this section.

"Since coming to Alhambra the C. F. Braun Company has enjoyed remarkable success," declared Mr. Braun, "and from present indications will continue to prosper."

The company has not changed any products nor has it added any new appliances, maintaining that the present line leaves nothing to be desired, he said.

HOSPITAL EXHIBIT

A hospital, fully equipped, and operating under the most approved methods, has been installed at the industrial and trade exposition as a demonstration of up-to-date hospital equipment.

RECORD IN DAILY RAIL HAUL MADE

Junction System Big Aid to Manufacturers With Plans in Central District

During the last month the Los Angeles Junction Railway has again broken its daily record for volume of carload dead-freight handled, J. A. McNaughton, vice-president and general manager of that institution, said yesterday in reviewing the month's operations.

The growing popularity of its service is evidenced by the increasing volume of traffic being handled, said McNaughton, both in and out of the Central Manufacturing District and adjacent territory served by its rails.

The junction railway is a neutral belt line serving all railroads entering Los Angeles and as all through rates to and from Los Angeles apply to points on the Los Angeles Junction Railway and through its connection with all trunk lines it virtually means that the railroads of each of these trunk lines are extended to the door of the industries located on the Junction.

While the junction railway is an independent unit still, its coming was encouraged most heartily by the carriers entering Los Angeles as it meant the more economical and expeditious handling of terminal deliveries to the industries served and the carriers, of course, recognize the importance of this service. It is playing an important part in our industrial growth, he declared.

TRADE SHOW AROUSES INTEREST OF NATION

Natural interest has centered on the industrial and trade exposition, the first show of such magnitude ever to be held here, F. L. S. Harmon, assistant secretary of the chamber, demonstrated yesterday, when he exhibited two filing cases of four drawers each, completely filled with communications pertaining to the subject received from all parts of the United States.

MANY CLUBS AND BODIES ENTER SHOW

Associations and Groups Engage Exhibit Space in Commerce Exposition

In addition to the numerous individual firms in scores of mercantile lines which are exhibitors in the Chamber of Commerce Industrial and Trade Exposition, many associations and other organizations whose members are engaged in common lines of endeavor have joined in the show movement, it was disclosed yesterday by officials of the exposition.

According to A. G. Arnoll, secretary and general manager of the Chamber of Commerce, assurances of ...cial support and interest in the big trade show have in nearly all instances accompanied the entry of these organizations.

Included in the roll of these bodies are the Western Confectioners' Association, the Los Angeles Paint, Oil and Varnish Club, the Los Angeles Laundry Owners' Association, the Southern California chapter of the Associated Architects of America, the Furniture Manufacturers' Association of Los Angeles, the Central Manufacturing District Association and the Electrical Supply Jobbers of Los Angeles.

Displays by the respective organizations will detail, among other things, the efficiency of laundries and candy factories and the beauty and originality of bungalow and office building styles developed in Southern California.

Plant Doubles Output, Meets Western Trade

What is expected to be an interesting exhibit in the Chamber of Commerce trade and industrial exposition will be that of the Cheek-Neal Coffee Company, manufacturers of the Maxwell House brand of coffee.

Maxwell House coffee was first blended in 1890, but it was not until 1925 that the Cheek-Neal company opened its Los Angeles branch, according to James H. Cheek, vice-president. The plant is located at 405 Mateo street, with a floor space of 65,000 square feet. Since the plant's opening a little more than a year ago, the output has doubled.

The capacity of the Los Angeles plant, supplying the entire Pacific Coast and western trade, is 40,000 pounds daily, officials declared.

FANCY CHAPEAUX IN COMMERCE EXHIBIT

Feminine hearts are expected to flutter over "The Story of the Hat Box," a novel and elaborate scenic display at the Chamber of Commerce trade show by which hundreds of specimens of the latest millinery styles will be brought into view by mechanical means. The machine was placed in the Shrine Auditorium for the show yesterday. The stage setting was executed by Juan and Mario Larrinaga, and occupies several booths.

CAPTAIN SCRAGGS OR THE GREEN PEA PIRATES
by Peter B. Kyne

OUR STORY:

Three Musketeers of the Sea there are: Each as strange a character as the other; each subject to the same impulses and emotions; each as stubborn, cranky, impulsive and loyal as the others—meet them:

CAPT. PHINEAS P. SCRAGGS, ruffaced, quazzle-toothed and furtive, master-owner of the steamer "Maggie," and a freighter of vegetables to San Francisco Bay.

ADELBERT P. GIBNEY, a large, imposing, capable, but socially indifferent person of a somewhat adventurous experience, who is cursed with too much brains and imagination and a thirst. He holds a license as chief mate of steam, any ocean or tonnage, and is chief mate of the Maggie.

BARTHOLOMEW McGUFFEY is a good engineer gone wrong. He nurses the ancient junk in the Maggie's engineroom with loving care, and is a fit mate for the other two.

Gibney, while standing a quiet hour on the decks near the Maggie, has bared a portion of his lurid past to McGuffey. Scraggs, hiding behind a pile of lumber, has overheard it.

Had either Gibney or McGuffey glanced back as they headed for their haven of forgetfulness, they might have seen Capt. Scraggs poking his fox face up over the edge of a tier of potato boxes piled on the bulkhead not six feet from where Gibney and McGuffey had been sitting.

Upon his return to the Maggie, about the time Mr. Gibney commenced spinning his yarn, he had almost walked into the worthy pair, and, wishing to avoid the jeers and jibes he felt impending, he had merely stepped aside and hidden behind the potato boxes in order to eavesdrop on their plans, if possible. Had Mr. Gibney been less interested in his past or Mr. McGuffey less interested in the recital of that past, they would have seen Scraggs.

The owner of the Maggie shook his fist in impotent rage at their retreating backs. "You think you've suffered before," he snarled. "But I'll make you suffer some more, you big brute. I'll hurt you worse than if I caved in your head with a belayin' pin. I'll break your heart, that's what I'll do to you. You wait."

In the course of an hour Gibney and McGuffey returned, and Scraggs met them as they leaped down on to the deck of the Maggie. "Gentlemen," he remarked—"an' at that I'm givin' you two all the best of it, even if you two have got a quit-claim deed that you ain't pirates—I wish to announce that if you two have come aboard my ship for the purpose o' havin' a little fun at my expense, I'm a-goin' to call the police an' have you arrested for disturbin' the peace. On the other hand an' further, if your mission's a peaceful one, you're welcome aboard the Maggie. I may have a temper an' say things that sounds mighty harsh when I'm het up, but in my calmer moments my natural inclination is to be a sport."

"Scraggsy, old hard-luck," Mr. Gibney boomed, "we won, so we can afford to be generous in victory. Like you, me an' Mac is inclined to be uppish at times, particularly in the hour of triumph, an' say an' do things we're apt to be ashamed of later."

"Them's my sentiments," McGuffey chimed in.

"We ain't comin' aboard to beg you for no job,' Mr. Gibney warned. "Git that idea out o' your head—if you got it there. Me an' Bart each got close to $1000 in bank this minute an' we're as free an' independent as two hogs walkin' on ice. Any ol' time we can't stand up, we can set down."

Capt. Scraggs was frankly mystified. "If you two got $1000 each in bank —an' I ain't disputin' it, for I hear on good authority you got that much for salvin' the Chesapeake—what're you hangin' around the Maggie for?"

Mr. Gibney approached and placed his great right arm fraternally across Scraggs's skinny shoulder. Mr. McGuffey performed a similar office with his brawny left, and Capt. Scraggs looked apprehensive, like a man who is about to be kissed by another in public.

"Scraggsy, when all is lovely an' the goose honks high, it's our great American privilege to fight like bear-cats if we feel that way about it.

"But when misfortune descends on one of us, like a topmast in a typhoon, it's time to stop bickerin.' Me an' Bart, driftin' along the docks for a constitootional this mornin', beara the sorrerful tidin's that your new navigatin' officer an' your new engineer has quit.

"Judgin' from that shanty on your left eye, at least one of 'em quit under protest. Immediately, Scraggsy, me an' Mac decided you might hate our innards but just the same you needed us in your business. Consequently, we're here to help you if you'll let us an' for not another durned reason in the world."

"There's four alleged mechanics down in the engine-room loafin' on the job an' gettin' ready to soak you a dollar an' a half an hour overtime tonight an' Sunday," McGuffey informed the skipper. "An' that hurts me. I don't mind takin' a poke at you myself, but I'll be shot if I stand idly by an' see somebody else do it. With your kind permission, Scraggs, I'll climb into my dungarees an' make things hum in that engine room."

Capt. Scraggs was truly affected. His weak chin trembled and tears came to his little mean green eyes. He could not speak; so Mr. Gibney hugged him and patted him on the back and told him he was a good fellow away down low, if the truth were only known; whereat Capt. Scraggs commenced to sob aloud. McGuffey coughed and tears as big as marbles cascaded down the lonest Gibney's rubicund countenance.

"I ain't wuth your sympathy after the way I treated you," Capt. Scraggs cried brokenly.

"Shet up, you little bum," Mr. Gibney cried furiously. "Or I'll bang you in that other eye that's ready for bangin'."

"If you're shy a few bucks—" McGuffey began.

"I am," Capt. Scraggs wailed. "I'm worried to death. I don't know how I'm ever goin' to pay for that bloody boiler an' git to sea with the Maggie——"

"Little sorrel-top," Mr. Gibney murmured, ruffling Scraggs's thin blond hair. "Forget them sordid monetary considerations. I'm somethin' like forty jumps ahead o' the devil an' ruination for the first time since me an' Bull McGinty organized the Brotherhood o' the South Seas."

"Leggo me," snarled Capt. Scraggs and springing back, he bent and looked earnestly into Mr. Gibney's happy countenance. "Good land o' Goshen, if you ain't bim!" Hate gleamed in his eyes.

"Ain't who, you shrimp!" Mr. Gibney was mystified at this abrupt change of attitude.

Capt. Scraggs blinked and passed his hand wearily across his brow. "Forgive me, Gib," he answered humbly. "I was sort o' tdok back, that's all."

"Took back at what?"

"We won't say nothin' more about it Gib, except that while I'd like to accept your kind offer an' put you back on the job again, I—I just can't bring myself to do it. I'll have to forget first."

"Forget what? Bart, is Scraggsy gone nutty?"

"Cook with it, Scraggs," Mr. McGuffey urged. "Spit it out, whatever it is."

"I'd rather not, but since you ask me I suppose I might as well. Gib ever since me an' you first hooked up together, away back in the corner o' my head there's been lurkin' a suspicion that once before, a long time ago, you an' me have had some business dealin's, but for the life o' me I couldn't place you. One minute I'd just be a-staggerin' on the brink of memory, as the feller says, an' the next it'd slip away from me.

"But just now, when you mentioned Bull McGinty an' the Brotherhood o' the South Seas—well, Gib, it all come back to me like a flash. Bull McGinty an' the schooner Dashin' Wave!"

Capt. Scraggs shook his head as if his thoughts threatened to congeal in his brain and he desired to shake them up. "Bull had a dash o' the tar-brush in his make-up, if I don't disremember, an' you was his young mate. Man, how funny you did look with them long red whiskers—an' you little more'n a boy."

"Jumpin' Jehosophat, Scraggsy! Was you one o the Brotherhood?"

Capt. Scraggs came close and thrust his face up for Mr. Gibney's inspection. "Gib," he said solemnly, "look at me! Touch the cord o' memory an' think back. D'ye remember that pore little feller you robbed of five hundred dollars twenty-odd year ago in the schooner Dashin' Wave?

"D'ye remember that typhoon we was in an' how, when I was that tuckered out an' so seasick I couldn't stand up, you made me pump ship an' when I protested, you stuck a horse pistol under my nose an' made me? That man, Adelbert P. Gibney was me! Me! Me!" Scraggs's voice rose in a crashing crescendo; his teeth clicked together and he shook his skinny fist under the great Gibney nose. Gibney paled and drew away from him.

"How was I to know, Scraggsy?" he faltered. "The whole bunch was runts—sickly, measly little fellers. Nevertheless an' agin, you shouldn't ought to have any kick comin'. You had a fine trip an' a heap of adventure an' me an' Bull paid your passage back to San Francisco. Come, Scraggs. Be sensible. What's the use holdin' a grudge after twenty-five years?"

"Oh, I ain't holdin' a grudge, exactly, Gib, my boy. I admit I had a good run for my money an' it was a smart piece o' work, an' I got to admire the ides, same as I got to admire the seamanship you displayed sailin' the Chesapeake single-handed. It ain't what you done to me as makes my blood boil. It's what you went an' done afterward."

"What'd I do afterward? You can't hang nothin' on me, Phineas P. Scraggs. Bluffin' don't go. Cough it up."

"All right, since you drive me to it. How about that lovely, untootered savage that you lures into your foul clutches so's you can make yourself king of Aranuka? Hey? Hey? How about that little tropic wild flower you carelessly plucked an' thrun away? Oh, I'd admit she was a savage, but she was sweet an' human for all that an' she had feelin's. She had a heart to bust an' you busted it for fair."

Mr. Gibney attempted to hoot, but made a poor job of it. "Why, wherever do you get this wild tale, Scraggsy, old spell-binder? •You're sure jingled or you wouldn't talk so vagrant."

"You can't git away with it like that, Gib. I trailed you. Gib, for two mortal years I followed you, after you dropped us at Suva, an' I was just a thirstin' for your blood. If I'd met up with you any time them first two years I'd have shot you like a dog. I got a whisper you was in Aranuka but when I got there you'd left. But I found your wife—her you called Pinky. She couldn't believe you'd slipped your cable for good an' there she was, a-waitin' an' a-waitin' for her king to come back.

"Gib, I'm free to tell you that piracy, barratry, murder an' homicide pales into insignificance compared with what you went an' done, for you broke an innercent an' trustin' heart an' hell's too good for a man that'll pull a trick like that."

"Scraggsy, Scraggsy, Scraggsy," Mr Gibney protested. "Them's awful hard words."

"I can't help it. You told me to speak out an' I'm a-doin' it. You books up with 'his unsophisticated, trustful woman—she ain't a woman; she's a young girl at the time—an' she ain't civilized enough to be on to your kind. So you finds it easy to make her love you. Not with the common sordid love of a white woman but with the fierce, undying passion o' the South Seas.

"An' when you get her in your clutches, her an' her whole possessions an' she's yours body an' bones, in the sight o' God an' the sight o' man— you ups an' leaves her! You throw her dowr. like she's so much dirt an' leave her to die of a broken heart. An' she'd a'done it, too if it hadn't a' been for the children."

Capt. Scraggs was fairly thunderin' his denunciation as he concluded with: "You—you murderer! Ain't you ashamed of yourself?"

Another installment of this rollicking tale of the "Three Musketeers of the Sea" will appear in tomorrow's Times. Watch for it.

Fanatic Douses Sightseeing Bus on Paris Street

PARIS, Aug. 15. (Exclusive)—Although attacks and jibes greeting tourists have become less frequent recently, forty passengers in a sightseeing bus were given an unexpected shower bath in a narrow Montmarte street this evening. The police have not been able to locate the person who poured a large kettle of water onto the bus. The Paris boulevards have become safe due to the number of policemen who stroll along at fifty yard intervals with instructions to give immediate assistance to foreigners who are bothered.

Most of the natives who are able to have left town for the three-days holiday, leaving the city less French in appearance than ever before. The number of Germans is almost incredible as they appear to be double the Americans and English put together. It is estimated that 5000 Germans arrive in Paris daily, staying generally a week.

SHIPPING and Los Angeles Harbor NEWS

NEW PROSPECTS FOR LOCAL FIRM

Announcement Expected by Struthers & Barry

Speculation Rife in Shipping Circles on Plans

Arizona Cottonseed Meal Exported in Volume

With the turning over of the American Far East fleet to Swayne & Hoyt, speculation is rife in steamship circles as to the future intentions of Struthers & Barry, former operators of that Shipping Board fleet.

While nothing has been announced officially from either member of the latter firm, both have declared repeatedly they are in the shipping business to stay, and it is deemed likely an announcement may come from them shortly of a new fleet to carry their flag on the high seas.

Barry Struthers has been in the East several days, but the purposes of his trip are not publicly known. Some are inclined to believe the Shipping Board may allocate another fleet to the firm and that Struthers went to Washington to confer on the proposal. The sudden taking of the American Far East fleet away from the Los Angeles firm recently stirred coastal traders in a way which, according to some, may inspire the Shipping Board to placate them.

What government service Struthers & Barry would accept is regarded as problematical. The Shipping Board has encountered some strife in the Northwest over the sale of the Admiral Oriental liners to Dollar and some think the board would like Struthers & Barry to take the American Oriental freighters, which never have prospered on their run from Seattle to the Orient.

Others anticipate the consolidation of the American Oriental Line and the Columbia Pacific Line, operated out of the Columbia River, and deem it a possibility Struthers & Barry might get the merger, in view of the latter's oriental connections. A few, however, assert that when the announcement comes out, it will be that the firm has thrown its lot with a privately owned fleet of big proportions, and not necessarily under the American flag.

In the meantime, Struthers & Barry say nothing, except that they will be heard from later.

PORT LIST GAINS NEW ITEM OF CARGO

Cottonseed meal is the newest item of cargo to start passing through Los Angeles Harbor in volume and promises to become a rival of the other new items, Arizona copper and Catalina Island zinc and lead.

Arriving from the north yesterday, the French steamer Arizona has begun taking 2500 tons of the meal for Europe. It is the only pretentious shipment of the kind to come through here and the forerunner, it is said, of many more to follow. The reason is the railway rate revision recently handed down by the Interstate Commerce Commission on commodities between Arizona and this port. Heretofore Arizona has shipped its meal by way of Gulf ports.

The steamer also will take 250 tons of Arizona copper and about 700 tons of zinc concentrates from Wrigley's mines, bound for Belgium.

The Shipping Board freighter West Nomentum is due from the Orient with freight today, on the second visit to this port of vessels of the Columbia Pacific Line, operated across the Pacific from Portland. While the government Far East line also plies between here and the Orient, the Shipping Board recently granted the Portland line permission to bring freight here, declaring the services not overlapping, as the Far East line serves southern section of the Orient, while the Portland firm only taps the northern.

Sugar, heretofore coming largely from Hawaii and from inland United States, is to arrive in volume hereafter on Swedish motorships from Cuba. The vessels Finn and Frost of the Sea Steamship Company are under six months' contract to bring full cargoes to California and have an option to renew their contracts for another six months with Cuban planters. The Finn was due late last night with 2500 tons for discharge at this port.

The American Hawaiian freighter Montanan sailed for San Francisco yesterday, carrying on her decks six local racing boats which will participate in the Coast's annual championship batting of the week-end at Big Bay City. The craft aboard are the R-class sloops Alert III and the Debra; Star-class sloops Satellite and the Shea, and the motor speedsters General and Midget. Lou's R-class racer Pirate went north on the liner H. F. Alexander two days ago. More than 200 sail and power craft from eleven Coast yachts will participate in the water carnival, the crowning event of the season on this Coast.

Fishing receipts for the past week have been only 10 per cent of the normal catch, according to local cannery officials, and the season continues one of the most unsatisfactory in years. Of the fish caught, 75 per cent are striped tuna, the balance comprising yellowfin and blue fin, with a few albacore.

The tanker Teco, back yesterday from Chile for another load of fuel oil, had to leave to for eighteen hours southbound because of weather, according to her master, Capt. George Walker. The tanker sailed south from here July 1, last. Three days out she encountered the heaviest swells in her skipper's recollection. Two days later a dread southeaster literally buried the big ship in mountains of water. For eighteen hours off the Mexican coast the tanker wallowed helplessly before the blow passed, when the vessel proceeded on her way practically unmanaged. She will load at the California Petroleum Company's dock and then move to the Julian dock for minor repairs, sailing tomorrow.

The old revenue cutter Bear, which based here last winter as mother ship to local rum chasers, has started back this way from her final trip to the Arctics. She left Seattle for the 10th inst. for Nome, and will arrive in Puget Sound next month. She will be replaced next summer by a new vessel now under construction on the East Coast, built especially for ice-breaking, in which the old craft has been so successful for forty years. The future status of the old bear still is in doubt. Many Pacific Coast ports have asked for her, because of her historic career in carrying yearly relief to the frigid wastes, and her conversion of the Greeley expedition. Local Coast Guard officials, however, expect her to be stationed at San Diego as a training ship, where she might continue in useful service and receive proper attention.

The Swedish motorship Erik Frisell arrived yesterday on her maiden call here, en route from Gothenburg to the Northwest to go under time charter to the Canadian Trading Company. It is understood she may be turned over here. The vessel is expected to ply from Canada to Australia. The General Steamship Corporation is handling her.

The trial trip of the Wilmington Transportation Company's newest towboat, the Milton S. Paddrick, will take place from the Catalina terminal tomorrow. The craft will depart at 9 a.m. with seventy-five shipping men and city officials as guests, proceeding directly to Patrick Cove, Catalina Island. A barbecue will be held there, and the tug will return to the Catalina terminal about 5:30 p.m. She is a sister ship of the John N. Stewart, recently completed for the same company by William Muller, at a cost of $125,000. The two are the first Diesel-electric tugs on this Coast and swell Wrigley's towboat fleet to nine craft.

News of Ships and Sailings of Pacific Ports

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 15. (AP)—Senator Harrison of Mississippi, has arrived in Paris from Berlin where he spent three days studying the "European Question." One of his reasons for the European countries will be able to pay their debts to the United States unless the tariff is lowered. Therefore, he said, the question is bound to be a vital issue in the next campaign.

Senator Harrison declares that many is happy and contented and is sure the Germans will soon the reparation payments in accordance with the Dawes plan. The senator told how he was held up by French customs authorities and forced to pay on thirty-nine cents he was bringing into the country. This, he said, as well as the recent letter of former Premier Clemenceau to President Coolidge on the debt question, did not impress him favorably.

While on the subject of debts, Senator Harrison said that no Congressman could go before his constituents and advocate cancellation of European indebtedness. He had no idea that cancellation ever would come, although he admitted he would vote against the Mellon-Berenger accord on the ground that it was too lenient on France. He maintained that all debt settlements should be on the same grounds as the settlement with the United Britain, that all debtors should be treated alike.

Wheat Prices Induce Buying on All Declines

CHICAGO, Aug. 15. (Exclusive)—Wheat prices are at a level where the majority of the milling houses are favorable to buying on all declines, while many of the professional traders, however, are inclined to be bearish on values. Offers have been short and, while some have covered, others have taken the long side. At the same time, exporters have apparently sold wheat abroad that has been reported on the way from the seaboard are surprisingly large, notwithstanding picking up wheat on the breaks. Cash premiums are holding fairly. Millers are covering wheat at a good rate considering that they have bought more in the past six weeks than in any other year and have also sold more flour than any time since the war.

The crop of durum wheat in the Northwest this year is estimated by the government at 82,000,000 bushels on the basis of 213,000,000 bushels of spring wheat, which support about 180,000,000 bushels of bread wheat in that section, against 134,888,000 bushels last year.

In the foreign situation there is a good amount of bullishness and the present indications are that prices will not decline much from here on. As to the future, much will depend upon the outcome of the wheat crop in the southern hemisphere.

The United States has a wheat crop of 810,000,000 bushels based on the latest government returns, against 669,000,000 bushels last year. Canada has 310,000,000 bushels, against 411,000,000 bushels last year, but Winnipeg interests think these figures are too low. On this basis the world's crop would be 2,000,000,000 bushels, against 2,000,000,000 bushels

OBSERVATIONS

IT REALLY looks as though Southern California, after years of just floating along in the world of tennis, had decided to assert itself and demand the attention to which it is entitled. The first move is to be the establishment of an annual fall tournament which will draw the elite of the tennis world, including Helen Wills, possibly, and Elizabeth Ryan, the two best women players in America, the French Davis Cup team, the American internationalists who are going to Australia to play, Bill Johnston and a whole horde of other stars who comprise the "400" of tennis.

Such an affair is to take rank with the $10,000 golf tournament which was such a success last year, and with similar events of real national importance. Maury McLoughlin, the most popular tennis player that ever lived, has gone east to represent the Los Angeles Tennis Club and line up the players now in the East who will participate, and it is anticipated that the local tournament, for which the seating capacity of the club stands will be more than doubled, will be the biggest event of its kind ever held in the South.

In addition to Borotra, La Coste, Brugnon and Cochet of France, it is anticipated that Harada and Shimidzu of Japan and the Aragon brothers of the Philippine Davis Cup team will participate. Vincent Richards, R. Norris Williams, Ed Chandler, Bryan Norton, Manual Alonso of Spain, Bill Johnston and other headliners will be invited and are expected to accept the bids. The tournament will be held during the first few days of October and the clubhouse and grounds are expected to be a scene of constant activity for the entire period of the affair.

When this part of the country can boast two of the three best women tennis players in the country, one of whom has beaten Helen Wills twice, a whole batch of junior stars whose average skill is better than that of any other district, and every other imaginable ingredient for good tennis, there isn't any reason why we shouldn't be able to hatch up a real big league tournament every once in a while and that's exactly what is anticipated for the Southern California championships in October.

TAYLOR NEAR BANTAM LIMIT

Terre Haute Terror Getting Down for Battle Here With Dixie La Hood in Auditorium

Bud Taylor may weigh no more than 118 pounds when he meets Dixie La Hood at the Olympic Auditorium Wednesday night, coming in as a legitimate bantamweight for the first time since he has been boxing in Los Angeles rings.

The blond terror of Terre Haute has a title bout coming up September 10 in Chicago against Charley "Phil" Rosenberg in which he will be required to weigh 118. It is believed that Bud is apt to come in at that weight for La Hood in order to convince his friends he will be perfectly at home at 118 pounds.

Bud Taylor

Taylor weighed 119 1-2 pounds after completing his second Los Angeles workout for La Hood last week. Bud evinced no desire to slow up in his training just because he was down to weight.

CAN GET LINE

It will create more interest if Bud does come in at 118 than at 121, his contracted weight for La Hood, because, then the fans can get a true line on how he will shape up for the title skirmish.

La Hood may also come in close to 118 pounds for Dixie was under the weight limit as early as Thursday of last week. He had to call off his boxing and substitute gymnasium work in order not to reduce further.

It looks like a big night at the Olympic for all the boxing fans of the city want to see Bud's first fight here in a number of months. Furthermore, Matchmaker Joe Levy dug up some real competition for him in little La Hood.

The Syrian boy is a tough little fellow who fights on the order of "Pinwheel" Pete Sarmiento, only he has much harder punch. Dixie has no "inferiority" complex and despite the fact that he is facing a man generally rated the best bantamweight in the world, La Hood figures he will win.

The betting odds have installed Taylor something like a 10-to-7 favorite, but name the man who would come in at even money against the Terre Haute terror.

La Hood has a better chance to beat Taylor than any other man on the Pacific Coast. Bud can always take care of himself against the Jimmy McLarnin type, but when it comes to the stubborn, rugged boys, anything might happen.

Dixie disclaims any credit as a boxer, but he certainly must be some "osh-awful" fighter to lick topnotchers like Abe Attell Goldstein, Pete Sarmiento, Georgie Marks, Chuck Hellman and Eddie O'Dowd.

DREW WITH TAYLOR

Hellman got a draw with Bud Taylor a few weeks after he was licked by La Hood. Don't forget that!

Matchmaker Joe Levy has endeavored to back up the main event with bouts that mean action and it looks like he has succeeded. Benny Furrell and Frankie Novey are furious fighting bantamweights who will meet in the six-round semifinal.

Teddy Easterbrook, hard-punching New York middleweight, squares off against Jimmy Marcus in the six-round special. One or the other ought to be dragged out before the scheduled conclusion of festivities.

HOLLYWOOD COPS PAIR

was passed. Frederick singled to score Kerr with what proved to be the winning run.

The Missions made a desperate effort in the ninth, but fell one run short of tying the score.

Hollywood cinched the series by winning the morning game, 5 to 3. The Missions had a great chance to cop in the sixth inning, when they filled the bases with none out and Ike Boone coming up. But Boone dashed the hopes of the fans by striking out. Bobbie Jones hit the ball a tremendous belt, sending it out on a line, but Fred Coumbe jumped high in the air and speared the ball with his right hand and doubled Swanson off first base to retire the side without a run.

KEPT ON PLUGGING

The Missions kept on plugging and scored two runs in the eighth, due in part to a three-base hit by Gillespie and a boot by Coumbe, but they fell one run short of tying the score.

Hollywood got a tighter grip on the game by belting Ed Bryan for another run in the ninth and then the Missions were whipped for fair. Bryan had batted for Christian in the eighth, so he pitched the ninth. Bryan made a two-base hit in the ninth, but there were two out at the time and Swanson ended the game with a fly to Zoellers.

Johnny Kerr scored the first run for Hollywood by blasting the ball into the bleachers in the second inning. A double by Walter and a single by Finn in the third tied the score. A double by Gooch and a single by Zoellers put Hollywood one run to the good in the sixth, and Gooch batted O'Neill home in the seventh. Kerr's timely hit scored Zoellers in the eighth. Then the Missions made their bid for victory in the eighth and fell short. Scores:

lost in the third set. Julius started with a bang, taking Doeg's serve for a 3-1 lead. John broke Seligson's delivery to even the count. Games then went with service until the fourteenth when Doeg again broke through, this time for the set. The final set was all Doeg, the Coast lad's aggressive net attack leaving the outcome never in doubt.

The new champion comes from a family of tennis players. His mother was a noted player and his aunt, May Sutton Bundy, was national women's champion. Her husband, Thomas Bundy, was doubles partner of Maurice McLoughlin. Another aunt, Florence Sutton, is a tennis pro on the Coast.

TEXANS PULL SURPRISE

The victory of the Texas team of Bell and Quick in the doubles came as a surprise as Seller and Pare had defeated last year's title-holders, Johnson and Hill, in an earlier round and were regarded as the strongest combination in the tourney.

The match was a thriller, every point being fiercely contested. Bell's smashing overheads and brilliant volleying and Quick's steadiness combined with Seller's erratic tendencies proved the deciding factors.

make money for the Seal owners even if he doesn't win a ball game.

The Seraphs got the jump on the Seals in the first inning of the opener by putting over a lone marker. Statz singled infield and went to second when Mails balked in trying to pick him off first. Later in the game Mails picked off three Seraphs with his balk movement and got away with it. After Hemingway had flied to Brower, Wally Hood doubled against the right-field screen and Statz scored.

San Francisco made its lone bid for a run in the fourth, which Brower started with a bit to right. Mulligan popped to Hannah, but Averill walked. Jolley hit to E. Jacobs and Averill was forced at second, Jolley taking third. Jake got out of danger unscathed when Mitchell gathered in Gussie Suhr's pop fly for the third out.

CHANCES SLIM

Sam Agnew reached second when Jahn dropped his fly to left after two were out in the fifth, but Jacobs fanned Mails to end this undeserved threat. In the seventh Camilli doubled to right after two were out, but was out trying to stretch the hit into a triple, Hood to Hemingway to Krug. In all the other innings Jake set the Seals down in one-two-three order, in such great form was he.

The Angels got their other runs in the fifth and sixth, hits by Mitchell and Hannah, Jake's sacrifice and a wild pitch giving them one of the markers. In the sixth Hood singled to left, took second on a passed ball, third on an infield out and scored on Krug's single to right.

Big Marty Griffin started the second game for the Seals and lasted exactly five batters. Statz doubled to right for a starter and scored when Hemingway doubled to left. Art Weis fanned but Art Jahn rammed out another two-base blow to right and Hemingway scored. Brazill followed with a hit to center, scoring Jahn and that was all for Griffin. Lefty Williams relieved him and walked Hood after sending Brazill to second with a wild pitch. Mitchell hit into a double play to end the excitement for that inning.

Glazner, who yielded only five hits in the nightcap, was hit rather soundly in the second inning but great support prevented any scoring. Jolley singled to right for a starter. Suhr drove a terrific clout to center that looked good for three bases but Statz rambled back to the corner and pulled down the ball with one hand for a remarkable catch. Camilli doubled to center and Jolley pulled up at third. Baker lined a hot one to Weis in deep right and Art uncorked a perfect heave to the plate to double Jolley for the third out. So that made four hard-hit balls in that inning but no runs, which would indicate that Whitey must have been just a wee bit lucky.

In the home half of the second the Angels got another on Glazner's double to right and Hemingway's single to center.

The Seals got two more hits in the third with one away but Glazner then settled down and retired the side, striking out Averill to end the inning.

Los Angeles got its final three runs in the fifth when Jahn was hit by a pitched ball, Williams walked one, Hood, Hannah and Statz contributed singles, and Baker made an error to help along the local cause.

The Seals made their lone run in the sixth when Brower singled to right, took second on a wild pitch, third on Mulligan's infield out, and scored on Averill's long sacrifice fly to Hood. The scores:

DEMPSEY CHALLENGER WON AND LOST CROWN IN FOUR MONTHS, THEN REWON IT

BY LOU JAFFEE

(Copyright, 1926, Philadelphia Public Ledger)

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 14. (Exclusive)—Gene Tunney today is plain Gene Tunney, box fighter. However, the morning after September 16, the pride of New York's Greenwich Village may awaken world's heavyweight champion.

All Tunney, who started flinging fists during his spare moments when not wielding a bayonet in the great guerre, has to do is to clip the Manassa Mauler, otherwise William Harrison Dempsey on the chin or be awarded the decision after their fifteen rounds at the Yankee Stadium next month.

If Tunney happens to separate Dempsey from his laurels it will not be the first time that Gene will have been crowned champion.

BEAT LEVINSKY

More than four years ago—on the evening of January 13, 1922, to be exact—Gene Tunney, then 24 years of age, and with a record of fifteen knockouts out of twenty-four matches, went into battle to vie for an American title. The veteran, Battling Levinsky of Philadelphia, entered the ring at the old Madison Square Garden as the 175-pound boss of the United States and after Tunney got through lambasting him around for twelve rounds the Quaker "ity biffer heard Joe Dempsey's hollow:

"Winner—and new American champion—Gene Tunney."

While the American crown may not have meant very much in boxing at that time, it was quite a victory for the New Yorker against so experienced a boxer as Levinsky. The Battler, with several hundred matches under his belt, was figured to whip the young upstart who had engaged in only two dozen matches.

But the well-known dope—as has often been the case in the squared circle—was knocked into a cocked hat. The vicious Tunney punch had little to do with his annexation of the American championship. What Gene did that night in the old garden was to keep Levinsky on the defensive so much that if nothing else, Gene's aggressiveness entitled him to the decision and the title.

HURT KNUCKLES

Right along Tunney had been handicapped with what was diagnosed as brittle hands. Almost in every match Gene suffered injured knuckles and it was the same in the Levinsky contest.

But despite the fact that Dempsey's opponent of next month hurt both hands, he carried on as did the Marines at the Marne and at Belleau Wood and at Chateau Thierry, until the final tinkle of the gong found Tunney a winner.

Billy Gibson had not purchased Gene's contract for ten grand, which is slang for $10,000, as yet, and Frank "Doc" Bagley was Tunney's manager and chief second.

Probably the handling of Gene by Bagley had a lot to do with the boxer's victory, for Doc, round after round, was after T

Mrs ... will pair with young Billy Doeg, while Mrs. Henry and Godshall will form another team.

The trophies are said to be without a doubt the finest ever offered for a Southern California tournament and will be offered by prominent members of the Palomar Club, including Monte Blue, Fred Niblo, Chester Conklin, H. Le Harris, Wanda Hawley, Pola Negri, Harry O. Hoyt and Sherman A. Paddock.

Entries, which will close tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock, will include all of Southern California's leading players, with the exception of Johnny Doeg, Art Kussman and Ben Gorchakoff, who are in the East. A great deal of interest is being centered on the men's doubles, where Godshall and Harderman, Sindorf and Warren, Ruscher and Allen, Laird and Duff and Hinckley and Woodall will form five powerful teams that promise a great deal of excitement from the start.

STRATFORD WINS AT DEL MONTE

DEL MONTE, Aug. 15.—California's tennis champions well deserve the honors they hold. This was proved today when Gerald Stratford, singles champion of this State, won the annual Del Monte championship, defeating Mervyn Griffin, of San Francisco, 6-4, 6-4, and it was proved again when the California doubles champions, Bill Parker and Neil Brown, won the Del Monte doubles championship, defeating Stratford and Allan Herrington, 4-6, 6-3, 7-5.

Dempsey Goes Through First Day of Work

SARATOGA SPRINGS (N. Y.) Aug. 15. (AP)—Jack Dempsey today saw his first day of active training when he sparred a dozen rounds with partners before a crowd of 2000 persons. After tuning up with road work in the morning, the heavyweight champion stepped into the ring this afternoon for his initial work there, preparatory to the expected September clash with Gene Tunney.

Among others to climb through the ropes today and face the champion were Ray Thompson, Jimmy D. Rown, John Kurp, the "iron man," and Bob Delfino, the South American. For tomorrow Dempsey has called into the arena with him big Bill Tate, among others.

The jog over the roads near Saratoga Lake early in the day seemed to act as an incentive for further exercise to Dempsey, for he dropped this work to engage in a baseball game at the camp, and later to try his luck pitching horseshoes.

KID HURLER STARS AS GOODYEARS WIN

With Young Cain, 19-year-old hurler fanning out twenty of the opposing batters, the Goodyear squad downed the Yellow Cab nine 5 to 1 yesterday. Neither team was able to score until the ninth inning, when a brace of rallies featured. Cain's feat in whiffing twenty men brought his total strikeouts to 53 in three games. He has yielded but nine hits in the twenty-seven innings.

GRIFFITH PARK NET MEET SOON

Tennis Stars Clash in Annual Tourney Starting September 1

With the entry list already mounting toward the fifty mark, the seventh annual Griffith Park tennis tournament will open September 1 on the park courts. Entries close the 27th inst., according to a report given out by Bert Wales, chairman of the tournament committee.

Last year the tournament drew more than 100 star racket wielders and it is thought this year will see even a greater number entered.

Ben Gorchakoff, junior star who is at present playing in the East, will probably be on hand to defend his men's singles title. Gorchakoff should return late this month. Bob Laird and Joe Call of Santa Monica are already entered in defense of their doubles title.

Joe Ciano, Dale Issenhuth, Al Duff, Midge Gladman, Irene Probashaskey and many other local net cracks are entered.

NEARS RUTH'S RECORD

TYLER (Tex.) Aug. 15. (AP)—Big Mose Clabaugh, outfielder for Tyler, East Texas League, clouted his forty-eighth home run of the season in the game here Sunday with Greenville. He lacks one homer of equalling Babe Ruth's record of fifty-nine made in 1921.

As many more contestants are expected to medal for place in the event, tomorrow. With the north course in great shape, match play, starting Wednesday, should develop some sterling tee and greens battles.

OIL AND MINING

'ILEY WELL NEARLY DONE

Pacific Electric No. 1 at Huntington Beach

Sand Found at 3025 With Discovery Log Tally

Forty Projects Plugging Hard in New Extension

The Pacific Electric No. 1 well of the Miley Petroleum Exploration Company is expected to be the second completion in the west end of Huntington Beach. Miley found the oil sand at 3025 feet, set eleven-inch casing at that depth, and is now drilling into the oil sand with the prospect that the well will make a production test the latter part of this week. It is located in the same block with the discovery well of the Superior Oil Company, and has had practically the same showings.

The Wilshire Oil Company, first active driller in the new field, is plugging along in its No. 1 well at somewhere around 3600 feet, exact depth being unavailable. The company now has two other wells under way, and apparently has a good chance to finish one or two of its later wells before the No. 1 is completed.

Drilling projects in the new field number nearly forty, with more than a dozen companies operating. Practically all of the new development is in an area containing not more than five or six acres, which indicates that the west end of Huntington Beach will probably be as intensively drilled as Los Cerritos and Signal Hill.

Most of the operators believe that only those who are fortunate enough to get their wells down early are likely to make any money out of the field. The first completions will establish the channels through which the underground oil will flow, and subsequent projects are not likely to get much oil, nor to last long, it is asserted.

It is the realization of this fact that is causing the most experienced operators to speed up their operations. The Standard Oil Company is putting down eight wells now, Miley is putting down six, the Superior Oil Company is drilling six, and several other companies are each putting down four or five wells.

Federal Trade Board in New Inquiry on Oil

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15. (Exclusive) Another inquiry into the oil situation by the Federal Trade Commission is in progress and a report on the question of prices, profits of oil companies and possible combinations between oil producers for the control of prices is to be transmitted to the Senate in December under the terms of the Trammell resolution adopted by that body two months ago.

The Federal Trade Commission had as a background data assembled two years ago when it investigated gasoline prices at the request of President Coolidge. The commission at that time reported that gasoline prices were virtually controlled by the various Standard Oil companies in the different sections of the country.

NEW DISCOVERY PRESAGES FIGHT

Seal Beach Producer Close to Zoning Line

Move to Repeal Restriction Already Under Way

Objectors Protest Work in Unrestricted Area

With the Marland Oil Company's Bixby No. 2, discovery well of the Seal Beach field, holding up its initial production of 1250 barrels a day, plans are going forward for the drilling of new wells both by the Marland and the Standard Oil Company, which are the only two companies that hold acreage in unrestricted area.

An unusual political situation has arisen in East Long Beach as a result of the Marland discovery. It foreshadows the possibility of a neighborhood battle which may rival the political campaign staged in Huntington Beach last spring, prior to the election which lifted drilling restrictions in the west end of that city.

Marland's Bixby lease is outside the city limits of Long Beach, but the Standard Oil Company's San Gabriel River Development Company and Alamitos Land and Water Company property, and the Marland's Selover & McGrath lease, are in the city limits. Under the Long Beach zoning ordinance drilling is not barred on these properties, although the area immediately adjoining the leases on the north is restricted against drilling by the zoning ordinance. The restricted area is subdivided and rather well populated and the fact that this district is probably oil bearing is, in itself, sufficient to provoke a campaign by the property owners to lift the drilling restrictions.

A test case already has been launched by the application of a property owner in the area immediately adjoining the Selover & McGrath property for a permit to build a derrick, which was rejected by the City Council by a vote of 6 to 2. It is understood that the case will be taken to the courts.

In addition to this complication, a movement has been launched in Long Beach to prevent the development of territory in the unrestricted area. The supposed "menace" of oil is being made the war cry of a considerable faction, and operators see in this condition the possibility of expensive and hindering litigation before they are allowed to proceed with their development plans.

It is understood that Marland and Standard are preparing to vigorously defend their right to drill their properties, on the ground that the time to protest against development of the district was before the companies started an exploratory campaign, which, it is estimated, has cost an aggregate of $5,000,000.

"We do not believe it just to forbid the companies to drill the field which they spent fortunes to discover," said W. C. Cassidy of the Marland Oil Company. "The development of this field will add to the wealth of the city in taxable valuations, besides utilising a great natural resource, which non-development will allow to go to waste."

Marland yesterday began hauling in material for the construction of four derricks. Some delay was caused by the necessity of constructing corduroy roads over the marshy ground, but Marland expects to have all four derricks up in a week. One well will be put down immediately, and a second will be started soon. Plans for beginning the other two wells are indefinite.

The Standard Oil Company has staked locations for two wells on the shoe-string strip which divides the Bixby from the Selover & McGrath leases.

MARKED DIP DISCOVERED IN MARICOPA

Union Oil's Houchin No. 1 Well Upsets Earlier Calculations

MARICOPA, Aug. 15. (Exclusive)—As indicated by the cores from Houchin No. 1, being drilled by the Union Oil Company on the southeast quarter of Section 10, 11-23, as a south offset to the Standard's Raas No. 2, southeast limit of production on the Maricopa Flat, there is a pronounced dip to the southeast of the big brown shale.

Early in the week Houchin No. 1 was slowly rotating and coring at 5270 feet, with the Raas sand not reached, a core showing the top of the brown shale 400 feet lower than in Raas No. 2, 2000 feet north. This sharp drop means that if oil is found in the Houchin location it will be more than a mile deep.

On Sec. 29, 11-23, three miles southwest, the General Petroleum Corporation developed a small quantity of the same kind of crude that is found in the Raas wells, but at 5260 feet, or 100 feet lower than in the Raas wells. The prospect of satisfactory production over any considerable area in that immediate neighborhood does not now appear quite so favorable.

The Union Oil Company has Boss No. 1, half a mile north of Houchin No. 1, down 3500 feet—a north offset to Houchin No. 1. The Standard Oil Company is making good time on its Raas No. 3, midway between No. 1 and No. 2 on Sec. 10.

CIGARETTES FOUND IN SPECIAL AUTO POCKET

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Aug. 15.—(Exclusive)—Here's news for those who bring their supplies of American cigarettes with them when entering Canada. John Robinson, arrested by customs authorities, pleaded guilty before the police magistrate to smuggling cigarettes from the United States and was fined $100. The prosecutor showed the court that Robinson had an especially constructed pocket in his automobile in which he carried the contraband across the boundary.

OIL BOARD WILL URGE ECONOMY

President's Committee Ready to Report

Members Hold That Serious Shortage Impends

Wasteful Methods Found to be in Practice

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15. (Exclusive) That a serious oil shortage is in prospect within a comparatively few years unless conservation methods are employed will be asserted in the final report of President Coolidge's oil board to be presented to him within the next three or four weeks.

The final draft of the report has been prepared, it was learned today, and its transmittal to the President is awaiting its approval by all the members of the board.

Secretary of the Interior Work, chairman of the board, and Secretary of Commerce Hoover, another of the members, are said to have given their approval to the report. Both are now out of the city. A draft is in the hands of Secretary of War Davis and Secretary of the Navy Wilbur, the other two members, who also are away. The report will go to President Coolidge without waiting for a meeting of the four members of the board, nearly all of whom will be out of the city for another month.

President Coolidge will be advised in the report, it is understood, that wasteful methods are now employed by many oil producers and that measures must be taken to assist in a solution of the problems of the industry. No radical legislation will be recommended, as it is the opinion of members of the board that drastic government regulation would not offer a proper solution.

In holding that a serious shortage is likely, the board will take issue with the views expressed by many of the leading oil producers. Its findings will, in effect, support the conclusions of the Geological Survey and other government agencies heretofore. The report will point out that if it were physically possible to extract all the oil now known to exist in this country at as rapid a rate as during recent years the entire supply might be exhausted within the next decade.

It will not be possible to maintain that rate, it will be stated, and therefore no complete famine will occur at any early period. The annual production, however, according to the views of members of the board, is likely to fall off within the next six or eight years to such an extent as to cause a serious situation.

The board's findings will deal entirely with the domestic production situation and will not go into the question of prices or imports.

VEIN GAINS IN WESTERN APEX MINE

Manager Reports Face from Wall to Wall is Showing Ore

In the extension of the east drift of the 700-foot level of the Western Apex Mine at Oatman, Ariz., formerly known as the United Western Mines, Reorganized, the vein has continued to grow in length and width, according to Manager George W. Long, and the face is showing a full breast of ore with neither wall in sight. In cross-cutting, Mr. Long has disclosed the fact that the ore measure is twelve feet in width from wall to wall.

He says that forty feet of drilling from the cross-cut has shown a still further increase in the size of the ore shoot as it gradually approaches United Eastern endline, where the ore body, in the underground workings of the Eastern, is reported to have been from twenty-five to thirty-five feet in width, and from which large tonnages of rich gold ore was taken.

On the same level of the Apex, in the west drift, the vein has again widened after a "pinch" of fifteen or twenty feet, and is now showing a good ore heading, assaying $29.76 in gold to the ton. At this point, according to Long, a winze is to be sunk on the ore and it is believed that with greater depth size and values will materially increase.

The two ore faces on the 700-foot level of the mine are now over 675 feet apart, with a continuous body of ore uncovered for a length of 665 feet, and it is anticipated this shoot will be found to have a length of at least 1500 feet. Greater depth is to be attained in other portions of the property, where continued improvement is looked for, as it is believed that the ore discoveries on the 700-foot level were made on the peak of a great ore shoot.

CLARK PLANS TEST IN BOWIE DISTRICT

BOWIE (Ariz.) Aug. 15. (Exclusive)—John W. Clark of Long Beach has spudded in a new wildcat well ten miles north of Bowie. He expects a small producing oil sand at a depth below 600 feet. In the same locality was the well of the United States Oil Company, abandoned years ago.

FILLMORE ABSORBER OPERATING

Gasoline Salvaging Plant Expected to Produce from 1000 to 3000 Gallons Daily

The $125,000 gasoline-absorption plant of the Southern Counties Gas Company, located at the eastern city limits of Fillmore, was put into commission Saturday, with Frank Huntington of Taft in charge of operations.

The plant is capable of picking up from 1000 to 3000 gallons of casinghead gasoline per day from the gas passing through the company's trunk line that extends from the Ventura-avenue oil field at Ventura to the outskirts of Los Angeles.

Reports are to the effect that the Richfield Oil Company has contracted to take the entire output of the plant, delivery to be made by tank wagons. The gasoline is temporarily stored in three 10,000-barrel tanks at the plant.

The gasoline made by this plant is salvage gas that is squeezed out of what is supposed to be dry gas which is turned into the supply line of the gas company in the Ventura field after the oil companies in that field have run the wet gas through their gasoline-absorption plants, and apparently extracted all the available gasoline.

Western Leases New Blocks in Seal Beach Field

LONG BEACH, Aug. 15. (Exclusive)—It was reported here today that the Western Oil and Refining Company of Los Angeles, headed by Richard Florian, has obtained leases enough for thirty-five oil-well locations in the new Seal Beach field, adjoining this city, and is seeking still other leases.

Landowners in the Alamitos Heights district are not demanding cash bonuses, but for the most part are content to take their winnings, if any there may be, from actual production.

Expressed opposition of the City Council and various Long Beach organizations to drilling in the Alamitos Heights and Belmont Heights areas, and a threatened mass meeting of antidrillers has not halted the activities of lease-seekers to any considerable degree, it is said.

Many lease experts have expressed confidence that when the time comes for drilling the official sanction of the City Council will be forthcoming.

Randsburg Gold Mine May Build Large New Mill

It is stated that a large block of the treasury stock of the San Francisco Gold Mines Co., operating in the Randsburg district of Kern county, has been contracted for by a syndicate of Arizona mining operators and capitalists, and that the proceeds of the sale are to be used in the construction of a forty-ton milling plant, supplementing the five-stamp mill which has been in use during the past year. The machinery for the new reduction works, it is asserted, will soon be purchased, following exhaustive metallurgical tests to determine the type of machinery and process best suited for the run of mine ores.

The last run of twenty-four tons through the stamp mill is said to have shown values of $71 to the ton. The mine owned by the company, the famous old King Solomon, is said to be in better physical condition, with large tonnages of mill ore available than ever before in its history.

MIOCENE SELLS OIL TRACT

BAKERSFIELD, Aug. 15. (Exclusive) The Associated Oil Company has purchased the Miocene Oil Company's twenty acres on Sec. 32, 12-23, the famous gusher section of the San Joaquin Valley. It has been rumored for days that the deal was under way. No consideration has been mentioned in connection with it. The property adjoins the Associated's Atlas forty acres, which was purchased from the Grindell interests last fall.

The Miocene twenty acres was developed under the direction of A. J. and R. R. Pollak, and has been one of the big producers of the Maricopa Flat, approximately $1,000,000 worth of oil having been sold from the lease during the few years that a government receiver was impounding the proceeds from its oil. This does not include the vast quantity of oil produced before and since that time, of which the record has not been available.

BRANCH AGENCY TO CLOSE

COALINGA, Aug. 15. (Exclusive)—The San Joaquin Valley branches of the Independent Oil Producers' Agency will cease to function after September 1, next. This agency is one of the oldest in the State, being made up of small independent companies. R. W. Dallas, pioneer in this field and prominent in the affairs of the Lucile and other well-known local companies, has represented the agency for nineteen years.

So many small companies have been absorbed by the large companies that the necessity of branch agencies has become almost nil. Business of the agency will now continue out of the main office in Los Angeles through its contract affiliation with the Union Oil Company, which marketed the agency's product for seventeen years, and has a three-year contract yet to fulfill.

WE SET THE OVERALL FASHIONS

King George has never been able to outdo his son, the Prince of Wales, as unofficial dictator of Englishmen's fashions. The king still makes his public appearances which his trousers neatly creased at the sides. Several years ago the English "man about town" did adopt this fashion for a time, but it passed quickly. Although many English gentlemen of the old school still watch any change the king makes in his wardrobe, the youth of England, if not of the world, copy the styles dictated by the Prince, who first wore balloon trousers. And it was the young man's grandfather when Prince of Wales who introduced the long-enduring cuff which still appears at the bottom of most trouser legs. The fashions in overalls all originated in this country.—[Capper's Weekly.

REFINERS MAY FORM MERGER

Co-operative Export Bureau Under Discussion

Would Take Place of One Bought by Standard

Mid-Continent Field Said to Have Suffered

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 15. (AP)—Oil refiners and producers from the Mid-Continent field indicated, after a meeting here, that a move will be made in the near future to form a co-operative export corporation to take the place of the Independent Export Corporation bought by the Standard Oil Company of Louisiana in 1921.

Another meeting will be called, probably in Tulsa, Okla., in two weeks to further discuss the marketing situation, according to George D. Locke, Chicago, vice-president of the Barnsdall Refineries, Inc.

The utmost secrecy surrounded the meeting. None of those in attendance would discuss the program and said nothing definite had been done.

"I will say this, however," said Mr. Locke, "we are much interested in marketing conditions and in exporting our products, not only gasoline, but all oil products."

Kansas City oil men, though reluctant to discuss the meeting, said that the Mid-Continent field had suffered of late because of poor export facilities, it was pointed out, and consequently the Mid-Continent operators were anxious to be able to meet competition in foreign fields.

GAS FORCE WANING IN OIL FIELD

Apparent Subsidence at Kerto on Maricopa Flats Reported

MARICOPA, Aug. 15. (Exclusive)—The gassy pool in Sec. 6, 11-23 and Sec. 31, 12-23, at Kerto, on the Maricopa Flat, appears to be losing its gas pressure. The Standard's No. 17, an east offset to the No. 16, deepened about 100 feet, is only an ordinary pumper compared with the No. 16, which had an initial production of 3000 barrels and is still flowing 700 barrels beaned down.

The Bankline Oil Company's No. 8, a south offset to Standard's No. 17 and an east offset to the Beverly Oil Company's No. 9, on Sec. 6, 11-23, is only an ordinary pumper and is 300 feet deeper than Beverly No. 9, the latter being only 1898 feet deep. The Standard is due with its No. 32, an inside new location on Sec. 31, 12-23, and likely to be even shallower than the Beverly No. 9. The Blanck No. 6 rig, a south offset for Beverly No. 9, is still standing.

Beverly No. 8 and No. 9, on Sec. 6, 11-23, were both off production the first of the week, the former resetting pipe and the latter being sanded up, according to reports.

It is understood that E. G. Lewis has purchased the 60 per cent interest of the Beverly Oil Company in the forty-three-acre lease on Sec. 6, 11-23, which he turned over to the Beverly on a 40 per cent royalty a few months ago. The purchase price is reported to have been $275,000. The nine stockholders of the Beverly Oil Company, residents of Taft and Los Angeles, have profited exceedingly from their six months' investment, it is asserted.

Lucky Boy Mine Cross-Cut Opens Fresh Showings

Word has been received from Oatman, Ariz., that the cross-cut from the 250-foot station of the main shaft of the Lucky Boy Mining & Milling Co., had apparently encountered the footwall of the new vein, recently discovered by Superintendent H. Ray Woods on the surface, and which is believed to be a parallel fissure to the ledge upon which development work was formerly carried on.

The cross-cut, 100 feet in length, disclosed a decided change when the footwall of the vein was penetrated, and quite unexpectedly, Mr. Woods states, the vein material disclosed the presence of native gold, every condition leading to the belief that with further development the workings would place in sight the ore body predicted by surface indications.

The formation at the point of contact with gold-bearing rock, had undergone a decided change, according to Mr. Woods, the red material giving way to a decided gray matrix containing disseminated pyrite across the face and showing a few gold colors.

With such a favorable showing the company has renewed its efforts in mine exploitations, and the Los Angeles office confidently awaits news of further encouraging disclosures.

Date Set for Kern Oil Men's Entertainment

BAKERSFIELD, Aug. 15. (Exclusive)—Plans for a buffet supper, entertainment and get-together meeting of all oil operators and oil land owners in Kern county were made Friday at the regular business meeting of the Bakersfield branch of the California Chamber of Mines and Oil in the Elks' clubhouse.

The tentative date for the affair is September 2. Arrangements for the meeting have been discussed in recent meetings of the chamber and it is believed that final plans will be ready for announcement by the end of the month.

OIL REGISTER OUT

International Directory of 1926 Ready for Circulation

The 1926 edition of the Petroleum Register, the only international directory of the oil trade and allied industries, is just off the press. This well-known publication is again issued annually under the direction of Holland S. Reavis, who established it in 1917.

New features in the current issue include digests of financial reports of the more important oil companies, reproductions of oil-lease forms used by producers and prospectors in various fields, and a personnel department, an alphabetically arranged list of all oil-company executives in the United States and foreign countries.

This department is a veritable who's who of petroleum.

SPINDLE TOP MAY SMASH OLD RECORD

Once Famous Field on Outskirts of Beaumont in New Bid for Fame

AUSTIN (Tex.) Aug 15. (Exclusive)—It is indicated that the spectacular production performance of the Spindle Top oil field, situated on the outskirts of Beaumont, in its heyday period of twenty to twenty-five years ago, may be far outdone by the remarkable record which it is now making, according to reports received by the oil and gas division of the Railroad Commission.

The total production of the old field, which had long been regarded as exhausted, had climbed to approximately 86,000 barrels a day on the 5th inst., and it is expected that it will go well beyond the 100,000-barrel mark by the end of this month. The Yount-Lee Oil Company alone has a production of 45,000 barrels a day. It put down the discovery well of the deep sand less than four weeks ago. The rapidity with which derricks were erected and wells drilled is one of the marvels of the industry.

In order to handle the enormous production Spindle Top economically desperate efforts are being made to provide pipe line and storage facilities. The Yount-Lee Oil Company has awarded a contract for 100 steel storage tanks, each of 55,000 barrels capacity. It will construct a loading terminal on the Neches River, where crude oil may be loaded into tank steamers. The Gulf Production Company plans to erect a number of steel storage tanks to handle its production in the reawakened field.

NEW PRODUCER FOR EVANS OIL

Project is Second Brought in on Taft Lease

Phelps Drilling Another Hole in Elkhorn Valley

TAFT, Aug. 15. (Exclusive)—Hugh Evans, Inc., has completed the second well on a 120-acre lease on Sec. 4, 32-23, northwest of Taft. The first day's pumping indicates that it is probably a 200-barrel producer and better than the No. 4, which pumped 162 barrels. No. 6 is drilling, and a deep test will be also be drilled, the belief being that another and more productive stratum should be found somewhere below 3700 feet.

The Caribou Oil Company has been engaged in a vexatious fishing job for several months at 3940 feet, it being thought for a time that the hole would have to be abandoned and the desired deep test delayed. Caribou is starting a test on one of its leases in the new Poso Creek district twenty miles north of Bakersfield.

Z. L. Phelps of Taft is drilling another test in the Elkhorn Valley district, along the Temblor range southwest of Taft. A number of assessment holes have been drilled in that territory, but only small showings of oil have been found.

Ralph Lavin and associates, of Taft, have finally overcome difficulties in the Fortuna test on Sec. 28, 32-22, south of Fellows, and are making a production test.

Two wells producing oil of 28 and 29 degree gravity, and the best crude in the Midway district, are the Murvale Oil Company's No. 11 and No. 12, on Sec. 12, 32-24, just northeast of Taft on Thirty-six Hill, but they suddenly went off production recently and dropped three degrees in gravity, for no apparent reason.

A new twelve-foot stroke pump has been installed in the No. 12 and it is showing increased production, but all adjustments have not yet been perfected. Counter-balance weight of about two tons has been put on and more weight will likely be required to properly balance the stroke.

SHOWING IN LOST HILLS WELL POOR

Location of Marland's Project Once Regarded as Most Promising

LOST HILLS, Aug. 15. (Exclusive) The Marland Oil Company's Iazard No. 1, a deep test on Sec. 26, 34-26-21, two miles west of Lost Hills production, is now below 5100 feet and has had no reported showings of oil or gas. This hole was started in what was supposed to be the most favorable location after more than thirty shallow tests had been drilled to discover upper structures which were regarded as indications of the crest of the structural high.

Official notice of abandonment by the Union Oil Company of its Theta No. 1 deep test northwest of Belridge production has been made, the exact depth not being given. Seven miles east of the Theta location, in the North Belridge small pool, the Union Oil Company completed a flowing well eleven years ago at a depth of 4500 feet, and in the same pool the Belridge Oil Company is pumping a 4000-foot well, bottom of the hole being 5000 feet. The production of these two wells is coming from what is supposed to be the Vaqueros sand, which is the long-sought and rarely found goal of all deep tests in the northwest part of Kern county as well as in Fresno county.

The Carneros Oil Company and the Belridge Oil Company continue to drill 700-foot wells on Secs. 30 and 31, at the western edge of the Belridge field, the wells bing thirty to thirty-five-barrel pumpers.

The Shandon Oil Company's test near Shandon, in San Luis Obispo county, about twenty-five miles west of Blackwell's Corners in Kern county is temporarily shut down at about 2800 feet, waiting for pipe. Pasadenans are sponsors for the operation. Twelve drillers from Long Beach are reported to be doing the work for an interest in the production.

Production of Maricopa Flat Well Increased

MARICOPA, Aug. 15. (Exclusive) Knoen & McPherson of Santa Monica, recent purchasers of the Californian Oil Company property on Sec. 4, 11-23, Maricopa Flat, increased the production of No. 4 well 140 barrels by cleaning it out, and have started to drill the No. 5 hole. One well on the lease continues to pump 300 barrels after some years

The Empire Gas and Fuel Company, having worked over its No. 1 well on Sec. 4, 11-23, which was completed two years ago at 3970 feet as a 300-barrel pumper that made too much water, is now getting a daily flow of better than 400 barrels of clean oil, the well being 3804 feet deep after having been plugged back. This is the only oil production the H. L. Doherty & Co. interests ever have had in California.

OIL FEVER SPREADS

Visalia Communities Reported Ready to Sign Leases

VISALIA, Aug. 15. (Exclusive)—With practically all the machinery set, actual redrilling operations will be resumed this week on the Neame oil lease north of Visalia, according to authentic information just received. Meanwhile, other districts near-by are holding mass meetings and agreements are being signed to lease land.

The landowners of the Creek-Taurus district, almost without exception, agreed to lease their property for oil prospecting after holding a meeting in the Elbow Creek schoolhouse.

RARE MINERALS, METALLURGY, CHEMISTRY

Qualifying analyses will be given in this department of The Times to correspondents on ores and minerals free of charge. Make each sample of an ounce or so in weight. Be sure to write a letter stating what tests are desired and give the approximate locality from which samples were taken. Do not pulverize the specimens. Give your name and address on paper wrapped with samples.

Three Samples

BARSTOW, July 28. Question: Will you please make a test of the inclosed ore and tell us what we have, its value, etc. X.

Answer: Sample No. 1 is quartzitic rock with some hornblende. It carries microscopical traces of mica (cat silver,) and microscopic pyrite traces. No. 2 is altered rock; partly kaolinized. Iron oxides, aluminum silicate, mica (muscovite,) lead, zinc and antimony, all, more or less present. No. 3 is quartzitic rock with ferromagnesium silicate; a little brown zinc ore, microscopic pyrite, lead, and traces of native gold. The samples probably represent a gamole for monetary profit on a small scale—if taken from a prospect, but of rather doubtful value if obtained from a developed mine.

Sericite Schist

SAN BERNARDINO, July 28.—Q.: We are sending you a sample of supposed-to-be abrasive mineral found in a large deposit in the Panamint range near the Inyo-San Bernardino county line and would appreciate your advising as to the character of this rock and its possible value. It was found by Mr. J. A. B. of this city. M.

A.: The United States Geological Survey describes Schists as follows: 'A thinly laminated or foliated metamorphic rock, generally containing a large amount of mica, which splits more or less easily along closely spaced, nearly parallel planes. Modifying means are given, according to the conspicuous minerals, such as quartz schist, mica, schist, sericite schist, and garnetiferous schist. Used locally for building stone under the name of granite and for crushed stone the name of 'trap rock.'"

The mineral, sericite, consists of microscopical mica—known also as muscovite. It is probably doubtful that your samples of sericite schist represent abrasive material.

Silver Glance

TOLUCA (Mex.) July 29.—Q.: Please classify the microscopical black crystals in the samples accompanying this letter. They are taken from a (mining) pertenacia, sixty-eight miles southwest of the City of Mexico. C.

A.: The samples run very high in silver, and the crystals are: "In octahedrons and rhomble dodecahedrons." The irridescent tarnish shown on some of the crystals is from exposure to the elements, and they are easily cut with a knife. Silver glance is sulphide of silver, and when pure consists of silver 87.1 and sulphur 12.9, percentages respectively.

Four Samples

PASADENA, July. 30.—Q.: Sample No. 1 is a granitic rock consisting of hornblende, calcium, magnesium, iron, aluminum, and other substances; it seems to have a hardening and toughening effect on iron, and it comes from near Old Baldy Mountain. No. 2 is a white volcanic rock or clay; think it might be a good filtration clay. No. 3 seems to be a sort of iron oxide, and it might be of value in the paint industry. No. 4 is a yellow clay, or chrome yellow and it ought to be of value in the paint industry. The last three samples are from Death Valley.

A.: Sample No. 1 is the tough, massive variety of dark-colored and typical hornblende. It occurs in great tonnages at many places in California; it is often reported to be "full of platinum and carrying all known rare minerals." Such "stuff" has no commercial value. No. 2 is not Bentonite (clay;) it does not "swell immensely in water;" it appears to be a siliceous mixture of clay, and a very doubtful filtering medium. No. 3 is hematite. No. 4 is probably of value in the paint and certain other industries. The sample was too small for testing thoroughly, and should be quantitatively analyzed.

Carbon and Carbonate

MARICOPA, July 30.—Q.: Please make a general analysis of the ore mailed to your office July 7, last. I would like to have the results published in Sunday's edition. Has the gangue material any commercial value? The samples are from San Emidio ranch district. H.

A.: This Times department is published on Mondays only, and quantitative analyses are not given unless samples are of extraordinary interest. Your specimens are limestone containing microscopic scales of graphite in low percentage.

Calcite and Feldspar

ALHAMBRA, July 30.—Q.: The two samples are from Tujunga Canyon, Los Angeles county. What is the name of sample No. 1; is it a commercial building stone, and could you determine whether it would disintegrate if cut for building facing? I am told that No. 2 is feldspar. P.

A.: Sample No. 1 is a variety of lime carbonate containing a trace of microscopic molybdenite (molybdenum sulphide.) Sulphides are not of good repute when found in stone for building purposes, but, nevertheless, you should submit samples to those industries making use of mineral represented by the sample. It is not marble, however. No. 2 is impure feldspar; pyrite and hornblende (both of microscopic sizes) sparingly present. The sample represents feldspar not suitable for fine pottery products.

Mountain Paper

LOS ANGELES, July 31.—Q.: The asbestos-like sheet comes in a seam between rock that looks like aluminum-magnesium silicate. Location, Holcomb Valley.

A.: The sample is a variety of asbestos. When it occurs in thin sheets (like your sample) it is known as "mountain paper," a variety also of mountain leather.

Selenite

SAN BERNARDINO, July 31.—Q.: I would like to have this sample of rock analyzed for mineral contents. It was found in the eastern part of San Bernardino county. MRS. B.

A.: It is crystallized gypsum (Selenite) known also as sulphate of lime.

Opaline Silica

VICTORVILLE, July 31.—Q.: I am sending you today a sample of rocks from the Kramer Hills, and would like to know the name of it and its commercial value. It looks to me like hornstone and occurs in a well-defined fissure vein. Would it likely carry anything of value at depth? B.

A.: The samples indicate that better grade opal should occur at the locality. There is no free gold in the samples, and it might be that sodium silicate could be made from such silica, but a try-out is necessary to determine the matter.

Quartzitic Rock

PASADENA, July 31.—Q.: Accompanying this letter you will find a package containing rock found in San Bernardino county, near Mount Baldy, which I believe to be of gold or silver. R.

A.: The sample is ferruginous quartz, mica, ferromagnesium silicate, traces of magnetite, and hematite present. Free gold a trace only. For other gold and silver values kindly consult assayers.

Free Gold Absent

NEEDLES, July 31.—Q.: Under separate cover I am sending two samples of ore from a location about forty miles south of Needles on which I would appreciate qualitative analysis. This would be a steam-shovel proposition if the ore, which is said to contain a considerable value in gold, proves to be worth working. H.

A.: The locality referred to is well known to the writer, and it is true that native gold occurs there. It is mighty hard, however, to figure on a steam-shovel proposition with approximately two avoirdupois ounces of samples.

Both specimens carry traces of microscopical pyrite and probably will assay gold. No. 1 is a mixture of silica, soda, iron and manganese oxides with low percentages of potash and iron sulphate. No. 2 is silicious and ferruginous limestone; hematite (iron peroxide found.)

Two Samples

REDLANDS, Aug. 1.—Q.: Please test the two samples. K.

A.: No. 1 is calcite (crystallized lime carbonate.) Strontium in low percentage. No. 2 schistose, altered rock showing streaks of hornblende—schist, quartz, calcite . low percentage, and microscopic pyrite in traces.

Brine springs that brought fame and fortune to Syracuse, N. Y., have been abandoned by Thomas Gale, owner of the city's last salt yard. The springs were once worked by Indians. Because of modern methods, this Syracuse industry suffered a steady decline.

GOOPS!

FIDGETING.

The people whom you like the best
Are motionless when they're at rest.
No nervous, twiddling fingers, nor
Fidgety feet that tap the floor.
Try to be like them! No one cares
For Goops who can't sit still in chairs!

Railroads Earn $65,000,000 in Hauling Wheat

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 15. (AP)—Five railroads engaged in transporting the wheat crop from the Southwest have earned approximately $65,000,000 in freight charges, according to a report made public by Clyde M Reed, chairman of the Trans-Missouri-Kansas Shippers' Advisory Board, car service division.

Mr. Reed has compiled reports received from the five major carriers which operate in the wheat belt in Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. The reports cover the sixty days from June 9, last, when the Frisco hauled the first carload of wheat, to the 9th inst.

Only the Santa Fe, the Rock Island, the Missouri Pacific, the Frisco and the Union Pacific, are shown in the table, but those roads, Mr. Reed said, hauled 90 per cent of the wheat.

CHINESE AT FUNERAL DESPITE TONG PERIL

PORTLAND (Or.) Aug. 15. (Exclusive)—Half of Portland's Chinatown braved the possible bullets of the other half to do funeral honors to Louis Chung, prominent Chinese merchant, and lately a leader in their councils. Louie was a member of the Bing Kung-Bow Leong tong. One gunman was picked up lurking in the procession with a loaded revolver in his pocket. A dozen police were outriders when the cortege started. Because of the Hop Sing-Bow Leong tong war the funeral was postponed several days in the hope that peace might be declared and relatives and friends might attend the funeral. It did not work out in the desired way, but the many friends of Louie took their chances.

PAVILION FOR GARBAGE DUMP

Park Visitors Now Watch Bears in Comfort

Teaching Staff Announced for Orosi High School

Plaintiffs Fail to Prosecute in Water Dispute

GIANT FOREST, SEQUOIA NATIONAL PARK, Aug. 15.—Pilgrimages to the "garbage dump" during the afternoon and evening hours continue to interest park visitors, twenty-two bears including six cubs having been counted there recently. Platforms have been erected for the comfort of visitors. Despite the fact that many bears must have drifted outside the park lines last winter, and met death thereby, they are very numerous this year, as are all forms of wild life in the park this season. The fawn crop at Giant Forest is above normal, many does with twins feeding about the public camps, both does and bucks being so tame they allow the campers to pet and feed them. With the enlargement of the game protected area of the park, it is expected that mountain sheep, now practically confined to the main Sierra range on the Inyo side, will gradually return to their old range on the Kaweahs and Great Western Divide, so that hikers to Alta Peak and Mt. Silliman may within a few years, be afforded a sight of these rare animals.

TEACHERS ANNOUNCED

OROSI, Aug. 15.—The high school faculty, ready for the opening of the fall term September 20, has been announced as follows: L. M. Williams, principal; J. S. Brown, Mrs. Carl Rafenstine, Mrs. Lillian Miller, Miss Grace Cochrane, Frances Noel, Mrs. Roy Whittington, and E. M. Smith who were here last year, and three new teachers, Clarence Weaver of San Bernardino, Miss Ann Butler of Berkeley, and Miss Maud Melvin of Porterville. Should the fruit harvest in the district be nearly over, it is possible that school will open a week earlier.

WATER SUIT DISMISSED

VISALIA, Aug. 15.—Suit of the Wutchumna Water Company vs. Gilbert P. Stevenson, involving an agreement referring to a higher dam around Bravo Lake at Woodlake, has been dismissed on order of Superior Judge J. A. Allen, granting motion to that effect. The motion was based on failure to prosecute the case.

Stevenson was sued by the water company, owners of Bravo, or Woodlake, for expenses contracted in raising the levee around the lake four feet, which, it was charged, Stevenson had agreed to do under the agreement. Stevenson, the "father of Woodlake," owned the land about the lake. There was a counter-complaint, both ranging around $30,000. Since the agreement, however, Stevenson has disposed of his holdings in the Woodlake district.

GARAGE BURNED

PORTERVILLE, Aug. 15.—A garage was burned late yesterday afternoon on the Lowell Washburn ranch in the Success district, completely destroying the building, a truck and a tractor, as well as several drums of gasoline and oil.

The explosion of a gasoline storage tank, cause of which is unknown, started the fire, which would have destroyed the handsome new dwelling house on the property, it is thought, but for a fortunate turn in the direction of the wind. The pressure system which supplies water for domestic use at the ranch was out of order, a mechanic from Porterville being on his way to the ranch when the fire broke out. Mr. Washburn was vacationing on the Coast, and Mrs. Washburn is visiting with relatives in Kentucky. About a year ago the Washburn home burned, the house and all contents being lost.

PASTOR'S BROTHER DROWNS

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Aug. 15.—(Exclusive)—Rev. R. G. McGill, brother of the Rev. R. T. M. McGill, pastor of the Alamo Heights United Presbyterian Church here, was drowned in Alexandria, Egypt, when he and Rev. J. W. Faird, also dead, attempted to save the life of a woman after they had brought four girls safely to shore, according to word received here. Both of the men were missionaries, Rev. McGill being president of the United Presbyterian Seminary at Cairo.

DIVORCE SEEKER MUST SUPPORT HIS FAMILY

RENO (Nev.) Aug. 15. (Exclusive) Coming to Reno from Santa Barbara, Cal., with the avowed intention of obtaining a divorce, A. P. Riberdy was arrested on a charge of failure to support his wife and two children. He was ordered by Justice Longabaugh to pay $60 per month to his wife for six months and required to furnish a surety bond. Mrs. Riberdy came to Reno to fight the case. One of the two children is crippled. Riberdy remains within the jurisdiction of the justice court until his divorce case is tried.

Wales Visit to Canada Ranch in Fall Likely

LONDON, Aug. 15. (AP)—Although no official announcement has been made as yet, the London press seems to take it for granted that the Prince of Wales will visit his ranch in Alberta next year. This would be about the same time as the autumn round-up and would afford the British heir glimpses of the culminating excitement of ranch life.

The Prince's friends say it is one of his greatest regrets that he cannot content himself with flying visits to his Alberta home, which is to him as a resting-place from the cares and responsibilities of his public life in England.

Norge History Discord Denied by Ellsworth

NEW YORK, Aug. 15. (AP)—Lincoln Ellsworth, co-leader with Roald Amundsen of the Norge's flight over the North Pole, cabled the Norwegian Aero Club of Oslo today to deny the report he had charged officials with bad faith in their dealings with him.

He has not refused to write part of the official history of the expedition, if the club allows Umberto Nobile, Italian captain of the dirigible, to write more than the technical appendix to the book, Ellsworth said in repudiating an interview printed today in a Norwegian newspaper.

TALL CEDAR FLAGPOLE ORDERED TAKEN DOWN

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Aug. 15.—(Exclusive)—After having stood for fifteen feet lopped off the flagpole of the government building here in Victoria, every few years the tall cedar stick that was erected to its full height of one hundred and eighty feet when it was first installed, has now become a staff of only one hundred and thirty feet, and even at that it has been ordered down. The pole has been historic as it was found by a sailor floating off Brotchie Ledge, there was litigation for years as to whom it belonged. The sailor finally it was his because it went adrift from Admiralty by him, and the Admiralty claimed it because it went adrift from Admiralty anchorage. Finally the latter won and he sold it to the government. The pole has been ordered down because it is considered unsafe.

A LOUD AND EMPTY NOISE

In political campaigns charges frequently are made and mischievous rumors set afloat by unscrupulous and irresponsible individuals for the purpose of confusing and misleading an electorate. Political cunning frequently suggests methods for subordinating real issues and substituting false ones. The most successful of such maneuvers are based ordinarily on appeals to prejudice.

A striking example of this base form of propaganda is afforded by the campaign utterances of Lieut.-Gov. Young and those associated with Mr. Young's candidacy for the Republican nomination for Governor. Five months ago relatively few residents of Southern California had ever heard of C. C. Young—and this despite the fact that Mr. Young has been active in California politics for eighteen years.

Now Mr. Young's utterances are blazoned in large type in the Hearst newspapers and his propaganda in still larger type may be seen on hundreds of expensive billboards in various parts of the State. It is significant of the unimportance of Mr. Young's contribution to State affairs, however, that none of his propaganda relates to his nearly two decades in public office. On the contrary, a deliberate and somewhat strained effort is made to blot out his unimpressive and uneventful past by fulsome and grandiose references to his plans for the future.

DISCARDED TIMBER

The fact is, Mr. Young is a genuine political Micawber; he has been waiting and waiting and waiting for something to turn up. Time after time when the leaders of his own professional political group cast about for one thought to be sufficiently strong to win election to this or that important office Mr. Young has been rejected and told to stay in the Lieutenant-Governorship, where opposition to his continuance in public office could be disposed of as a side issue.

In almost a literal sense he was taken from a place of political discard and made to appear as a gubernatorial candidate with individual views, policies, convictions. Never interested in Southern California until the quadrennial canvass for votes made it necessary for him to put in an appearance locally, Mr. Young and his presumptuous backers: Boss McCabe, Boss Finn and Boss Parrot, are asking Southern California Republicans to support Young's candidacy for Governor on the Lieutenant-Governor's fervid indorsement of the proposal to develop and control the Colorado River.

There is no division of sentiment in Southern California as to the need for construction of works on the Colorado River adequate to protect Imperial Valley from flood, to supply Imperial and Coachella valleys with water for irrigation and domestic use, to supply Los Angeles and other Southern California communities with additional water for domestic use, and to develop a maximum amount of hydroelectric power.

NO ISSUE HERE

Every man and woman of common sense favors such development; there is no candidate for any office who opposes such development; there is no agency, either openly or secretly, in opposition to such development.

The Colorado should have been harnessed years ago; it could have been and would have been developed had not a group of short-sighted and selfish politicians seized upon it and made it an issue in their own political schemes and activities. It is the meddlesome tactics of self-seekers such as Mr. Young that constitute the only real obstacle to early solution of the river problem—a problem so great and so involved in basic economic principles as to be unintelligible to the politician of the caliber of Mr. Young.

And yet this Northern California man of straw, having accomplished nothing worth while during nearly a fifth of a century in the political and official affairs of the State, is made to pose and gesture and indulge in oratory designed to befool the people into placing reliance in his empty promises.

Mr. Young's single contribution to the Colorado River question, which he admits was unknown to him a scant two years ago, was to lend support to the emasculating reservations to the Hoover six-State Colorado River Compact imposed by the McCabe-controlled Legislature of 1925—thereby effectually blocking action at the last session of Congress.

COLOSSAL BLUNDER

THE COLOSSAL NATURE OF THIS BLUNDER, WHICH WAS DICTATED BY SENATOR JOHNSON AND CARRIED OUT UNDER THE SUPERVISION OF McCABE, DID NOT FULLY APPEAR UNTIL THE COMMITTEES OF THE SENATE AND THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES FORCED SENATOR JOHNSON AND CONGRESSMAN SWING, THE SO-CALLED AUTHORS OF PENDING RIVER LEGISLATION, TO WRITE INTO THE BILL BEARING THEIR NAME SPECIFIC PROVISION FOR UNCONDITIONAL RATIFICATION OF A SIX-STATE COMPACT BY THE CALIFORNIA LEGISLATURE.

HAD THE COMPACT BEEN RATIFIED UNCONDITIONALLY, AS URGENTLY REQUESTED BY SECRETARY OF COMMERCE HOOVER AND AS FORMALLY RECOMMENDED BY GOV. RICHARDSON IN A SPECIAL MESSAGE TO THE STATE SENATE, TWO-THIRDS OF THE CONFUSION AND DELAY AT WASHINGTON LAST WINTER WOULD HAVE BEEN AVOIDED AND A DECISION COULD HAVE BEEN REACHED.

IT IS NOT TO BE EXPECTED THAT THOSE WHOSE SELFISHNESS OR WHOSE LACK OF INTELLIGENCE CAUSED THEM TO MAKE SUCH A COSTLY MISTAKE WOULD MAKE HONEST CONFESSION OF THEIR ERROR—AT LEAST, NOT PUBLICLY. BUT IT IS AN INSULT TO THE INTELLIGENCE OF THE PEOPLE OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA FOR MR. YOUNG AND HIS ADVISERS TO PARADE BEFORE THE PEOPLE AS CHAMPIONS OF A CAUSE THEY HAVE SO GRIEVOUSLY ABUSED.

The best and quickest way for the people of Southern California to assure construction of a dam in the Colorado River and such other works as engineering skill and economic conditions will permit, is to take the river out of politics by kicking out of politics those men who are using the Southland's dire need for ignoble and selfish ends.

ENEMY TO STATE

Mr. Young and those who are manipulating his campaign are engaged at this moment in schemes calculated further to mislead and confuse the public mind on the Colorado situation. There has never been a more deliberate abuse of public confidence in the history of California. Such conduct is both reprehensible and a dangerous menace to the welfare and future of the State as a whole and to this portion of the State particularly. On the sole basis of facts as established in California during the last two years, that man or woman who believes in the sincerity of Mr. Young's Colorado River protestations is grossly deceived.

The electorate is justified in feeling great indignation at this unworthy attempt to mislead and deceive—and such indignation will be expressed undoubtedly at the polls on August 31.

RESIGNATION OF BRIEGLEB VOTED DOWN

Congregation of Westlake Church Refuses to Release Pastor to St. Paul's

At an overflow meeting of members of the congregation of the Westlake Presbyterian Church yesterday it was decided by a vote of 20 to 1 not to accept the resignation of their pastor, Dr. Gustave A. Briegleb, who announced two weeks ago that he had received a call to take over the pastorate of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church of this city. The members also elected ten representatives who will report the findings of the congregation to the Presbytery of Los Angeles, who will meet in two weeks.

Pending decision of the Presbytery, Dr. Briegleb will remain as pastor of Westlake Church. The meeting, which was attended by more than 1100 members of the congregation, was presided over by Dr. Henry T. Babcock, who acted as moderator. It was conducted directly after the morning services.

During the session Dr. Briegleb remained in his study. Dr. Briegleb said yesterday:

"I must abide by the decision of the Presbytery, which is the higher court. I feel very happy over the report of the vote of my congregation." He said that he received the call to become pastor of St. Paul's while on his vacation.

"R" CAR ROUTE TO CHANGE TEMPORARILY

Construction of the Seventh-street viaduct necessitates a change in the route of the street railway "R" line. Beginning next Sunday, all "R" cars will be routed by way of Mateo street, Ninth street and Boyle avenue. During the construction of the bridge the regular route on Seventh street from Mateo to Boyle avenue will be discontinued. Directly the cars are removed from Seventh street, all tracks will be removed from the bridge. They will be replaced as soon as the viaduct is completed. The "R" cars then will be returned to the regular route.

FLAMES RAZE FILM STUDIO

Century Corporation Building Burns and Other Structures in Hollywood Imperiled

A loss of $400,000, the destruction of a Hollywood motion-picture landmark, and explosions which shook the neighborhood resulted yesterday from a fire which destroyed the Century studio's plant at Sunset Boulevard and Gower street. Three other film plants were menaced by the flames, which also threatened destruction to a large residential area. The origin of the blaze was not determined.

The $10,000,000 plant of the Southern California Telephone Company, directly in the rear of the studio on Gower street, and which handles the Hollywood, Hempstead, Gladstone and Granite divisions, was subjected to a terrific test, but was saved from destruction by its fireproof construction and the immediate operation of mechanical fire-walls. About fifty telephone girls continued to handle the calls throughout the blaze. The operation of the plant was not disturbed, although the electric power was cut off, throwing the entire load on the emergency plant. The alarm call was handled by Mrs. L. Brockett.

For a time the entire central part of Hollywood was endangered, as the fire was extremely hot and great curling rolls of tar-roofing and burning film were swept on to the roofs of residences by a high wind. One small cottage at 5926 Carlton Way, owned by John Donahue, was destroyed, while numerous homes were set afire. Residents for blocks around used hoses on the roofs of their homes.

Roof of the Christie studio, across Sunset Boulevard, was set afire, but extinguished. The roof of the Chadwick studio, 1440 Gower street, was seared. The Horsley Laboratories, 6060 Sunset Boulevard, were endangered. Firemen, fearing that two near by filling stations would explode, kept a continual stream of water upon them.

The Century plant, which houses the Stern Film Corporation, extends along Sunset Boulevard from Gower street to El Centro avenue, approximately 250 feet, and about 150 feet down these streets from the boulevard. It was of frame construction, erected in 1908, and at one time housed the Universal Film Company. It was one of the oldest studios in Hollywood.

The fire was discovered in the southwest corner of the building about 3 p.m., and so intense was the fire that the entire structure, with the exception of a small office, was leveled within an hour. All available fire apparatus was called out and twelve companies responded. Acting Chief McDowell directed the fight, assisted by Second Assistant Chief Edwards and Battalion Chief Howard.

About twenty firemen and civilians were seared and scorched about the ency treatment, and five men were were injured to the extent of being removed to the hospital for treatment, according to reports last night. W. E. Palmer, 1134 Hyperion avenue, was treated at a private hospital for severely lacerated hands received in a fall from a burning house. Six firemen were treated at Receiving Hospital for first and second-degree burns, one with a sprained wrist and one for injury suffered when a nail was driven into his hand.

Heavy detonations, caused by the explosion of chemicals, films, gunpowder in cans and blank cartridges in the arsenal, shook the neighborhood and caused many of the spectators, who numbered more than 10,000, to flee to shelter.

About six motion-picture concerns, eager to get fire scenes to use in their productions, had cameramen on the job, and while the fire was still burning two producers were heard dickering, at the corner of Sunset and Gower, over 600 feet of fire films.

FORESTRY MAY BEGIN AT HOME

Beautifying Los Angeles With Trees to be Topic of Conference Today

Ways and means of beautifying Los Angeles by lining the streets with trees in all residential districts will be discussed today at a conference between officials of the park department and representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, various improvement associations, city and county departments and other civic bodies.

The meeting was called by W. S. Rosecrans, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce reforestation committee, and will be held in the Chamber of Commerce Building.

Especial attention will be given to means of inducing property owners to plant trees, the prevention of indiscriminate destruction of trees and their proper care.

President Griffith of the Park Commission pointed out yesterday that the park department has been considering the situation for more than a year and is trying to devise some means to carry on a widespread tree-planting program.

He declared that an apparent conflict in the city charter over whether the Park Commission or the Board of Public Works has jurisdiction over trees along curbs has delayed final action. The matter has been referred to the City Attorney and an opinion which will clarify the situation is expected soon, he said.

The Park Commission, according to Griffith, intends to request the City Council to pass an ordinance or ordinances authorizing it to plant and care for trees from one to five years in blocks where 51 per cent of the property owners have signed a petition.

Under this plan, which is similar to that used in other public-works improvements, the cost would be pro rata among the property owners and assessed against the property.

TRAFFIC SIGNAL ORDERED

Chief of Police Davis has notified the Council that an automatic traffic signal will be installed immediately at the intersection of Santa Monica and Sunset Boulevards.

ANYONE inexperienced in modern business methods would rub his eyes . . .

At one of the dictums of the credit men's convention.

It was agreed that department stores should invariably adopt the policy of placing the jewelry counters in out-of-the-way places.

Otherwise, women customers might be tempted to buy beyond their means!

HOLDING THEM DOWN

American merchants have long ago abandoned the policy of getting the dough at any cost.

In most reputable modern stores the shopgirls are always instructed gently to steer women customers away from articles that are obviously beyond their means.

WHEN HUBBY BUYS

Just so, in many stores, shopgirls always tactfully discourage a man from buying clothes or hats to take home to his wife. They know that his "surprise" will be entirely too surprising. The startled wife will exclaim: "Oh, how lovely, dearie; just what I wanted." But she will add in a strained voice: "And at what store did my little lovebird find the beautiful blue hat with pink trimmings?" And she will hold a grudge against the store for the rest of her life.

THE GOLDEN RULE

In short, modern business finds that the Golden Rule, like most of Holy Writ—is based upon sound business common sense.

It has been discovered that, in the end, it is bad business to make contracts which contain tricky clauses and benefit only one of the parties. Just so, it has been found that the wisest course is to protect the cash customers from themselves.

GASOLINE POLITENESS

To my mind, modern American business finds its highest expression in the street-corner gasoline stations.

It is really a charming experience to buy a gallon of gasoline. The attendants are usually young college boys; their manners are invariably charming. It doesn't matter whether you fill the tank or buy a quart—you are treated with a courtesy and consideration that is a lesson in good manners.

Very few boys at these stations will accept tips; but the charming grace with which they refuse tips is the high art of etiquette and tact.

A SOUL BATH

Natacha Rambova is a witty and cynical lady—the former wife of Rudolph Valentino.

She said that when she couldn't stand the gabble and chatter of Hollywood any longer she always stopped in at a corner gasoline station and gave herself an intellectual treat—talking with the college boys who turned on the tanks.

AMERICAN KINDNESS

The keynote of American business is kindness.

You get your glasses adjusted for nothing; they set your watches for nothing. In fact, it becomes almost impossible to pay for small services.

In Europe, everybody has his hand out; but in this country it seems to me that tipping is becoming less frequent.

Your money is returned with a smile so many times that you have hoarsely to discuss the probabilities with your wife before you dare finger out a coin to anyone. And this is as it should be. It always gives me, in other countries, a feel-

ACTION NEAR ON FOREST STATION

Supervisor Cecil Reports on Nursery Project

Federal Confirmation of Site Selection Expected

Location in Devil's Canyon Favored by Officials

Early action may be expected from Washington confirming the tentative selection of a site for a government reforestation nursery near San Bernardino, according to George H. Cecil, supervisor of Angeles National Forest, who spent considerable time with forestry officials from Washington during their recent visit to Southern California.

At a banquet recently tendered the government officials at Arrowhead Springs, the San Bernardino Chamber of Commerce offered to donate a nursery site on a large ranch owned by the City of San Bernardino in Devil's Canyon, which is reached by way of the Cajon Pass highway. This site met the approval of Earl H. Clapp, chief of forestry experiment stations of the United States government, and E. I. Kotok, head of reforestation work in the California district.

FUNDS AVAILABLE

According to Forestry Supervisor Cecil an appropriation of $30,000 for reforestation nursery work in California became available at Washington July 1. The main nursery, he states, will be located in the San Francisco Bay district, with a substation at the site chosen at Devil's Canyon, San Bernardino. Later, when more funds are available, a third nursery will be established in the redwood district of Northern California.

"The big work of the Devil's Canyon nursery," said Supervisor Cecil, "will be experimental work to determine the best varieties of trees for reforestation work and the best and cheapest methods of planting. It is expected that the government will co-operate closely with the Los Angeles county nursery at Altadena. The government nursery will probably confine its experimental work to native varieties of trees, chiefly Coulter pine, Jeffery pine and Knob Cone pine, but may try a few exotics, particular the Deodar cedars. A few of these have been successfully grown at Henniger's Flats.

"When the hills are covered with pines, forest fires will be much easier to control. The coming of the government nursery to Southern California is tremendously important in the work of reforestation and water conservation."

FILM PAIR WED IN CATHEDRAL REPLICA

A wedding in a reproduction of St. Stephen's Cathedral at Vienna united Claire Del Mar, film actress, and Hal Mohr, cameraman, at the Associated Studios Saturday night. Erich Von Ttroheim, director, was best man, and Mrs. Von Stroheim was matron of honor. The service was read by Rev. Dr. Johnstone of Hollywood Congregational Church. Mr. and Mrs. Mohr will take their honeymoon on location at Mt. Whitney.

WAITRESS BEAUTY PRIZE CONTENDER

Alpha Teague

Rainbow-colored hope runs riot through the dreams of pretty Alpha Teague, coffee-shop waitress at the Ambassador, because she earnestly expects to draw the prize as America's most beautiful waitress at a beauty contest to be staged in Chicago early in October.

Pulchritude from nearly all restaurants in the country will be represented at this competition, which is conducted by the National Restaurant Magazine of the Windy City, and to which only restaurant waitresses are eligible.

Miss Teague was chosen as the representative beauty of the coffee shop out of a bevy of twenty-four connected with that institution, and she feels that to hold this distinction in so exclusive a restaurant, should give her a half-Nelson on the prize in any beauty contest.

JUNKET FOR DEPUTY CHIEF

CANDIDATE PLEADS FOR WRIGHT ACT

Judge Scott in Talk at Church Points to Menace In State Rum-Law Repeal

Only bootleggers and anarchists can approve of the repeal of the Wright Act, as proposed in an initiative measure to be voted upon in November, Municipal Judge Scott declared yesterday in a speech at Temple Baptist Church. Judge Scott is a candidate for the Superior bench. He said in part:

"The repeal would not modify the Eighteenth Amendment nor the Volstead Act, but would merely withdraw the law-enforcement machinery of cities and counties from the task of making the law effective. The Federal courts again would be clogged with liquor cases and kept from the proper discharge of other duties, or else the law would be violated with impunity and offenders go unapprehended and unpunished.

"The bootlegger does not mind any law so long as it is not enforced, and the anarchist likes nothing better than to see disregard for a law and disrespect for officials and courts who are powerless to enforce it. But our righteous, thinking citizens, conscious of the truth so clearly visualized in a recent cartoon in The Times, that from this nest of bootlegging come the rats of countless other crimes, will vote to retain the act."

FOX HEARING IN MURDER CASE TODAY

Suspect Charged as Slayer of Harry Schwartz Due to Bootlegger Feud

James S. Fox, who was indicted for murder in connection with the slaying of Harry Schwartz, alias Munson, at the St. Regis Hotel the 4th inst., is scheduled to be arraigned this morning before Judge Burnell of Superior Court.

Theodore Eggers and Ernest Schultz, also declared to have participated in the gun battle, were indicted for murder in connection with the slaying of Harry (Cuter) Moran, who was shot as he attempted to flee the scene of the killing of Schwartz.

According to police accounts of the case, Fox stated that Schwartz and his confederates had attempted to "take him for a ride" and that he shot Schwartz in self-defense Moran, said to be a bootlegger on a minor scale and not connected with either Fox or Schwartz, was shot in front of the St. Regis, apparently having been mistaken by Schwartz's associates for Fox.

Fox surrendered himself at the Sheriff's office following the shooting, and is said to have confessed slaying Schwartz, but said he did so in self-defense. A Coroner's jury arrived at this verdict, but the decision of that body was not taken into consideration by the grand jury in its investigation of the case.

It is likely Fox and his attorneys will ask for time in which to plead when he is arraigned on the indictment today.

HER CHARGES END IN JAIL FOR TWO

Rose Marie Dolan

COMPLAINTS TO BE ASKED IN FILM CASE

Mother of Girl Accuser and Director Charged in Asserted Extortion

Complaints against Mrs. M. E. Dolan and Frank O'Neill, motion-picture director, charging them with threats to use libelous matter against Dave Allen of the Central Casting Bureau, will be asked of the City Prosecutor this morning, Detective Lieutenants Carman and Haek announced yesterday.

Both Mrs. Dolan and O'Neill were released on $250 bail each yesterday. The charges resulted from the visits of Rose Marie Dolan, 17-year-old daughter of the woman, to the offices of the casting bureau in the Guaranty Building, Hollywood. Miss Dolan, it was stated at the apartment she occupied with her mother at 6511½ Hollywood Boulevard, left early yesterday with friends and could not be located. Her mother said she did not know where she was, except that she had been at the Ambassador with friends at the time of the arrests.

O'Neill also could not be located at his apartment, 2125 North Highland avenue. At the time of his arrest he told Detective Lieutenants Dickey and Knowles that he entered into the matter merely because of his friendship for Allen. Allen could not be reached for a statement yesterday. He will be asked to sign the complaint.

Mrs. Dolan yesterday told a story of Rose Marie's ambitions to be a star, of her winning a beauty contest and leaving her home in Chicago, accompanied by her mother, to make a place in film circles. Hardships attended them and a $1000 ring was sold. When Rose Marie rejected Allen's advances, her mother said, she found it impossible to find work. Mrs. Dolan was advised, she said, to have her daughter sign affidavits recounting Allen's actions, to be distributed in motion-picture circles. O'Neill, whom she said she asked to write the affidavits, urged her to make a "settlement," by which Allen would pay her debts and aid the girl in finding work. She regretted she got no legal advice on the subject, and was arrested when she received $500 in return for a statement exonerating Allen.

FILM LANDMARK RAZED BY FIRE

Cullen Landis, who was working on a fire picture, was there in make-up and a trick fireman's uniform, with a pickaxe in his hand, and sustained burns on the wrists in saving the Christie roof.

COVERED BY INSURANCE

The property is owned by Mrs. Marie Blondeau, who lives in a cottage back of the plant, but who refused to desert her home. The lease is held by Abe and Julius Stern, now in Europe. The manager is Sig Newfeld, who reported the loss as $400,000, which, it is understood, was covered by insurance. David Frankel, the watchman, was in the plant when the fire broke out.

According to the report of Detective Lieutenants Trosper and Taylor, the Snub Pollard Company had been shooting in the plant until about two hours before the blaze started. Lieut. Trosper said that about a year ago a woman, opposed on general principles to film studios, had attempted to set the place afire at the point where yesterday's fire began. Three fires in one day started at that point several months ago, Lieut. Trosper stated.

Injunction in Deauville Club Case Dissolved

Advertisement of sale of memberships in the Deauville Beach Club, which was enjoined by a restraining order several days ago, may proceed, Judge Stephens, presiding judge of the Superior Court, has ruled in proceedings to set aside the order.

The restraining order was obtained by the Deauville Club in a suit for a permanent injunction to restrain the Deauville Beach Club from using the word "Deauville" in its advertising.

SUNDAY OUTING ADVICE HEEDED

KHJ's Weekly Reminder of Nature Stirs Response

Letters Attest Influence of Radio Admonition

Sabbath Day Program Rich in Pleasing Melodies

BY UNCLE JOHN

For many months, every Saturday night with the giving of the correct Pacific standard time at 9 o'clock, KHJ has briefly and in happy vein urged, "Friends of Radioland, we hope you will enjoy your Sabbath day and and that you will make an effort to get in touch with Nature. Beautiful mountains reached by perfect roads leading to refreshing camps and resorts are calling you. Seek the shores of the broad Pacific and when you return at night, rejuvenated and happy, if you do not go to church, you will find a restful program awaiting you from this station."

Many letters attest that the substance of the above message oft repeated has really influenced people to seek that tonic of sunshine and blue skies which is so bounteously given in Southern California, and such a program was broadcast to our friends last night. Deep-toned melody from the viola of Frederick MacMurray, played without accompaniment, carried the murmur of pines, babble of brooks and voices of the sea. His own composition, musical interpretations and improvising ever carry a soothing effect. It has been noticed that when Mr. MacMurray plays, the recipients of the program and guests in the vistors' gallery generally close their eyes and settle back more deeply and comfortably in receptive mood.

ORPHEAN MELODIES

The Orpheus Four Male Quartet, as usual, specialized last night with a half hour of semisacred music, followed by an approximate hour of popular and semiclassical numbers. These men, under the direction of Sam Glasse, are more than ever in their years of experience becoming deep students of harmony. Garrets, cellars and out-of-the-way places of many homes have been delved into for old-time compositions. It is believed that there is no quartet in the United States with a wider range and variety of repertoire than the Orpheus Four. They also have established a definite following with their singing nightly, with the exception of Mondays, from 6 to 6:30 at the Biltmore. Incidentally, in Chautauqua work and recital the Orpheus Four have sung in every State in the Union except Colorado. Again our studio was graced by the presence of Gertrude Farwell, dramatist, the wife of Arthur Farwell. She presented the third act of "The Servant in the House," by Charles Rann Kennedy. Her training was received in the Schuster School in Cincinnati, from which she was graduated, continuing at Leland Powers School in Boston. She also has studied extensively with her cousin, Catherine Jewell Everets. Mrs. Farwell has played Shakespearean and other classic and dramatic leads on the stage, including Sister Beatrice in the Maeterlinck play of that name; Clytemnestra in La Gallienne's "Orestes;" Queen Gertrude in "Hamlet," Constance in "King John," Portia in "Merchant of Venice," Annie Roberts in Galsworthy's "Strife," Mrs. Pierce, the Higgins housekeeper, in Shaw's "Pygmalion," and many other interesting roles. She also played Emilia in a production of "Othello" with Mr. and Mrs. Tyrone Power, and was the Questing Spirit of Womanhood in the pageant given in the Yosemite Valley by the State Federation of Women's Clubs. Last summer she worked with her husband in all the dramatic prologues for the Theater of the Stars Concerts, and played the part of the World Soul, a sort of Wagnerian Erda, in Arthur Farwell's beautiful masque, "The March of Man."

GETTING ACQUAINTED

"I am learning to love this microphone very dearly," said Margaret Owen last night. "The fear of it which I first felt is now entirely gone and I really feel the presence of friends out there on the other side." This development of human touch was reflected in her beautiful soprano voice when she sang, "Just Awearying for You," by Carrie Jacobs Bond; "My Laddie," by Thayer; that gem composition, "A Bowl of Roses," by Clarke, and "Sweetheart," by Lynes. "Where My Caravan Has Rested," by Lohr, completed her heartfelt program of songs. She was accompanied by Mona Content, concert pianist of KHJ. The Knabe also responded beautifully to the touch of Louise Tyson, who played "The Little Shepherd," Debussy; "Etude Japonaise," Poldini, and "Gavotte," Gluck-Brahms. This artist is a member of the musical colony of Santa Monica.

Devotees of KHJ have enjoyed the organ recitals by Sibley G. Pease, who has been substituting at the Methodist Episcopal Church for Arthur Blakely, who is in Europe on a vacation. It is understood that Mrs. Blakely will arrive home the latter part of this month. The morning sermon broadcast from the studio at 10 o'clock by Dr. H. C. Culbertson, pastor of Mesa Congregational Church, may be found in full elsewhere in this issue.

Outing Provided Less Favored Families

Rose McGee, with her Irish smile and happy disposition, is one of the scores of young girls enjoying the luxury of a vacation at Pacific Palisades, where the Salvation Army, with the assistance of the Community Chest, is offering girls of families in humble and medium circumstances a few weeks of vacation.

Hidden away in a picturesque spot, the quiet summer retreat is offering a haven of relaxation and fun to girls who would otherwise be unable to afford a summer vacation. Throughout Los Angeles at present thousands of young boys and girls are being cared for in this way, at camps operated with the financial support of the Chest. From November 9 to 23, next, the Chest will launch its 1927 appeal for funds.

fair. In those cities they feel Merriam is familiar with farm and orchard problems, as well as other important projects of the State, and they will therefore vote for him."

The presumptive presence in California of the Tammany tiger, the big issue in the struggle between Isadore Dockweiler and John B. Elliott for the Democratic nomination as United States Senator, was termed a "base canard" and a "feverish statement" by William Jennings Bryan, Jr., in a statement issued recently in behalf of Mr. Dockweiler. Mr. Bryan's father, it will be remembered, battled throughout his life for control of the Democratic party against the Tammany element. The statement follows, in part:

"Mr. Elliott has issued a statement in which he charges that 'candidates for our party have been selected in this State as part of an insidious plan to deliver the Democracy of the State to the Tammany machine and associated bosses.' He openly charges that the Fresno conference was initiated and carried out as nothing more nor less than a part of this Tammany plan.

"Of course, everyone knows that Mr. Dockweiler is the only other candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator, and Mr. Elliott seeks by innuendo and inference to brand him as the Judas who seeks to betray the Democracy of this State into the hands of the enemy. This statement does not ring true. It is the negative, backhanded, insinuating statement characteristic of one who lacks the courage of his convictions. It is the sort of canard we have learned to expect of those who seek to further their personal ambitions at the expense of party welfare."

Meanwhile, Mr. Elliott, commenting upon a letter from former Senator Phelan, said he was for more harmony and less Tammany in the Democratic ranks.

"It seems to me," said Mr. Elliott, "not so much a question, as Senator Phelan observes, of 'supporting the troops in the field,' as it is of not supporting the tigers in the field. I am for the Senator's platform of more harmony and I hope he is for mine of less Tammany."

EDITOR TO GET HEARING TODAY

Battle Looms Over Effort to Prove Story True

McPherson Followers Pass Resolution for Press

'Surprise Witnesses' Will be Called in Vender's Trial

A. R. Sauer, editor of the San Diego Herald, a weekly newspaper, will be arraigned this afternoon before United States Commissioner Head on a charge of sending obscene literature through the mails, as a result of an article published in the Herald edition of July 29, last, pertaining to Aimee Semple McPherson. Sauer was arrested several days ago and is now at liberty on $5000 bail.

The complaint against Sauer specifically charges that he mailed a copy of his newspaper containing the article to the E. E. Childs Company, 1405 Dale street, San Diego.

According to Federal prosecutors, whether the Herald's article was based upon the truth or not will have no bearing upon the point of contention that the phraseology is obscene. For this reason, the prosecutors are expected to oppose any move by defense attorneys to question Mrs. McPherson upon any point not directly involved, and particularly with reference to the asserted Carmel evidence.

Yesterday at a "closed meeting" in Angelus Temple a resolution was adopted by temple leaders protesting against methods employed by news venders in crying their wares, particularly where they use Mrs. McPherson's Christian name alone, which is interpreted by her followers as a mark of disrespect, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of the evangelist, announced following the meeting.

BOYCOTT IMPLIED

Although a report was sent out by a temple worker that the consensus of the meeting was to "boycott" Los Angeles newspapers, Mrs. Kennedy declared there was nothing said during the meeting bearing out the report. She did announce, however, that the temple as a whole believes that Mrs. McPherson is being persecuted.

"Continued repetition of stories bearing upon phases of the case now past and forgotten, is nothing short of persecution, in the belief of most of our people," Mrs. Kennedy said.

"Why Sister's name should be linked with the trial of the San Diego editor is puzzling to us all. It is a case in which she played no part, and is another one of the many mysteries of persistent efforts to discredit her. It isn't fair to link her name with it. All we are asking is fair play, but we have not been getting it."

It was also said at the temple that the meeting was a preliminary step taken by temple workers to rectify mistakes which have involved the evangelist's name.

PROTEST CURB ON SALE

Injunction proceedings to prevent police interfering with continued sales of the San Diego paper here were threatened yesterday by Milton Golden, attorney representing four news venders, also facing trial for selling the paper. Their trial has been set for the 23rd inst, before Municipal Judge Stafford. Mr. Golden announced yesterday that he intends to launch action in the Superior Court this morning on the contention that the article in question has not yet been proven obscene, and that the action of police in arresting the news venders is in direct variance to free speech and press.

The attorney also announced yesterday that he has two "surprise witnesses" for the defense of his clients.

Any attempts to have the Angelus Temple pastor cross-questioned on the stand on any point not involved in the actual case against the news venders, will be vigorously protested by Mrs. McPherson's attorneys, they announced. She has been subpoenaed as a defense witness. Dist.-Atty. Keyes and Dep. Dist.-Atty. Ryan, Keyes's chief investigator of the McPherson case, also was under subpoena as defense witnesses.

PARK TO BE NAMED FOR CITY'S FOUNDER

At the suggestion of the donor, Dr. Edwin T. Janss, the Park Department will name a new two-acre park in the Westwood district De Neve Square, in honor of the founder of Los Angeles, according to President Griffith of the Park Commission. Gov. Felipe De Neve officially founded Los Angeles September 4, 1781, and, according to Dr. Janss, has never been sufficiently recognized. Dr. Janss has volunteered to erect a bust or statue of Gov. De Neve in the park when it has been landscaped and named. The park is one of two recently donated to the city by the Janss interests. They are located on Beverly Glen Boulevard, in a tract adjoining the site of the University of California of Los Angeles.

BORN MONARCHS

You can't convince any doting mother of a new baby that all men are born free and equal. She knows right well that hers was born vastly superior.

AN OLD-TIMER

A Fresno man at the age of 103 years takes daily walks and is able to work if he has to. Those raisin grapes are great stuff.

THIRD OCCUPATION

An internationally noted actress, still young and lovely, announces that she is through with both the stage and the screen. Going to devote all her time to marrying.

WHEELS FOR BRAINS

The head of the mathematics department of William and Mary College has patented a device which, like an adding machine, makes all sorts of engineering calculations. Why not call it a mechanical engineer?

PRIMED FOR ACTION

A Los Angeles girl who objected to the attentions of an admirer pumped his pelt full of shot when he came to her door. The modern girls are getting very direct and efficient. If the men folks are in the way they are shown very emphatically where to head off.

CUTTING A MELON

A Pasadena party received a 105-pound watermelon from Texas and now the melon-growers of the Imperial Valley are for the moment dumb. They will still claim, however, that if they do not develop such monsters they provide fruit with a flavor all their own.

THE BUILDING BOOMS

Building construction in America for the first six months of this year considerably exceeded the figures of last year. People who want homes are finding them and there are not many housing problems left save in the slums of the big cities. There are none such in Los Angeles.

PIE AND CAKE

Food specialists of the American Medical Association say the popular belief that pies and cake are indigestible has no foundation in fact. It seems that both the mince pie and its green-apple brother have been slandered. But it takes a lot of expert advice to overcome unpleasant memories.

MAYBE THEY WILL

A majority of the members of the Democratic National Committee have declared themselves in favor of the ancient rule which requires a two-thirds vote to nominate a President. The Democrats are dreadfully slow in breaking from tradition. They also feel that it should take a two-thirds vote to discard the two-thirds rule.

THE BREAKFAST FRUIT

Nobody in California seems to know who put the grape in grapefruit. The pioneers still call it the pomelo, but it isn't a native. Some writers assert that the original came from Asia and that Spanish adventurers established it in the West Indies and later in Florida. The original fruit sometimes grew in small clusters, like a bunch of grapes, and it is suspected that that is how the grapefruit drew its title. Otherwise there is surely no resemblance.

UP IN THE AIR

A scientist argues that the weather reporting stations of the future will be in balloons. Anyhow, they will be above the clouds and will have radio equipment to broadcast their findings. They will be in position to gather first-hand information about the winds and their movement and will be able to spot a falling barometer fifty leagues away. This contention sounds as if there might be something to it—later on.

NOONDAY PROPOSALS

A woman writer suggests that all marriage proposals should be made at noon rather than night. In that way the young people would get a real line on one another and the glamour of the moon would cease to be a factor. The idea is that a transaction of this kind should be opened in the full light of day. More engagements would be made at luncheons and fewer in hammocks. Possibly this might be well. It is easy to fall out of a hammock.

FARMING BY ELECTRICITY

California farmers are said to consume more electric power than the farmers of any other State. As to the moral effect of such new-fangled ways Dr. Slosson, director of science service, has doubhts. Incandescent lights in a pig pen, he exclaims. Electric fans in the cattle shed! Ultraviolet rays for hogs and hay! He thinks it does young hens no good to go gadding around under the white lights, stuffing their crops with fancy foods. On the other hand, electricity is largely responsible for the "back-to-the-farm" tendency of present-day times. Electricity, particularly the radio and telephone, is transforming the old-fashioned farmer into a country gentleman and, whether for better or for worse, this country gentleman, having learned the magic meaning of electricity, knows better than Dr. Slosson when a farmer is well off.

GRAND JURIES

Recent happenings in Los Angeles county prompt the inquiry if the California grand-jury system is not more than a little out of date.

In an earlier and more leisurely age no doubt an investigating body meeting once or twice a week could dispatch reasonably the small volume of business that came before it; but this section has grown, and the grand-jury system has not grown correspondingly. It is probably no fault of the personnel of the present grand jury that the investigations it has undertaken have seemed to drag interminably and to get nowhere; it is the fault of the system, and it is time that serious consideration was given to bringing that system out of its archaic condition.

There is much to be said also in favor of changing the personnel of a grand jury oftener. In some States a new grand jury is drawn every month in the cities and for every term of court in the rural districts where court does not need to be in continuous session. Investigations under way by any particular grand jury, are, of course, kept going by the continuance of the body until the investigation is concluded, but there are few cases in which all the investigating necessary cannot be done within the thirty-day period by a jury meeting daily and keeping continuously at work. This system entails less sacrifice on the part of the individual jurors, taking from them no more than about twenty business days instead of the 100 that California grand jurors, in this county, give up.

Then, too, would it not be much better to do completely in the open some of the investigations that are now conducted in nominal, but not actual, secrecy? Where public officers are involved the public is entitled to know all the facts; and in other cases it should either know nothing about what the grand jury is doing, or all. It should not be compelled to gain its information by leak, inference and innuendo.

This merely theoretical secrecy has operated, in the past few months, for instance, to enable a conscienceless political machine to befog, in many minds, the record of the County Board of Supervisors, as able a body of officials as ever functioned in this section of California. Circumstances and subsequent developments have taken the force from the attack and, in the minds of those who have followed the investigation from the beginning, the Supervisors stand higher than they did before it was begun. But, had this probe been conducted in the open and continuously, the whole matter would have been disposed of long since.

There is another argument in favor of more frequent changes in the grand-jury membership. It would remove a tendency, were any such tendency to be manifested, for a grand jury to seek to dictate how public business should be conducted. It can readily be seen that the wrong kind of a grand jury, or one subject to political pressure, might hang like a millstone around the neck of executive administration which really is responsible only to the people and there would be no method of getting rid of the incubus till the jury's term expired. It is obvious that such a jury could do far less damage in thirty days than in 365.

TRADE PROMOTES PEACE

That the trade ties linking us with Japan tend greatly to promote and maintain peaceful relations between the two great nations facing each other across the Pacific is made more manifest than ever by the reports of the meeting of the Institute of Politics held recently at Williamstown, Mass. This meeting was attended by a number of Japanese economists and consuls, together with representatives of the Far Eastern Division of the United States Department of Commerce, college deans and others.

It was clearly pointed out that the basis of Japan's foreign policy was a pressing need for the cultivation of markets abroad. For Japan to lose a single foreign market, especially that of the United States, would be highly detrimental to her if not ruinous. It was asserted that the diminution of influence of the military party in Japan was a healthy sign, pointing in the direction of the strengthening of civilization influence, which is strenuously opposed to war.

The United States is Japan's best customer. Nine-tenths of her raw silk, which is 42 per cent of Japan's exports, comes to this country and will continue to come as long as peaceful relations are maintained between the two countries. That those relations have been strained in the past was freely admitted by H. Saito, Consul-General for Japan in New York, who, at the Institute of Politics meeting, contrasted his country's aggressive policy in Asia during the World War, when Japanese imperialists were in control, with the more recent policy, which has shown a very liberal trend. At one time in 1918, Mr. Saito said, the truculence exhibited by Japan brought her into several disputes with the United States and war between the two nations actually hung in the balance for three days.

Following this frank revelation came a statement by Dean Frederick E. Lee of the University of Maryland, recounting a hitherto unwritten incident with relation to Japanese interference in Siberia during 1918. Dr. Lee said that in that year Japan sent 70,000 troops into Siberia instead of the 7000 agreed upon, but of a sudden quickly called the extra forces back. "It appeared," said Dr. Lee, "that President Wilson, disappointed by the failure of Japan to carry out the agreement, authorized the War Trade Board to employ the strongest economic pressure against Japan to compel her to live up to her agreement." The War Trade Board made an unofficial threat that the cargoes of rationed steel and cotton then en route to Japanese ports would be diverted and that shipments of raw silk and other products on their way from Japan to this country would not be accepted and no more imports would be licensed. The effect of this application of pressure was immediate. The Japanese troops in excess of the number agreed upon were at once withdrawn from Siberia.

This incident shows the value Japan sets upon her trade with this country—a value which even the military party, then in power, is not slow to recognize. Japan knows that the United States has no desire to take from her anything that belongs to her and that we are as anxious to maintain trade and other relations with her as she is with us, although this commerce is more vital to the interest of Japan than to those of this country, for the balance of trade is in Japan's favor.

Say what he will about the sordid and material considerations of commerce, the idealist must admit that those considerations are among the strongest ties that bind nations together in enduring peace. In the case of Japan, struggling so valiantly to increase her trade and feed, clothe and educate her people in the modern way, these considerations are paramount.

Inadequate Protection

ALHAMBRA'S OPPORTUNITY

Alhambra, one of the loveliest of Los Angeles' suburban settings, has a Main street. Alhambra also has notions, one of which is that this fast-growing community does not deserve the gibes and jests which are often opprobriously flung when visitors learn that the name of the main street is Main street. Wherefor Alhambra proposes to change the name of Main street.

It may perhaps be reasonably argued that it is nobody's business outside of Alhambra what Alhambra chooses to call her chief and most attractive boulevard, but when the cognomen "Broadway" is so seriously considered that it has already passed one affirmative vote of the City Commission it may be pardoned outsiders to venture an opinion on the subject.

Broadway is only one degree removed from Main street. Every crossroads in the country big enough to have two main streets calls the other one "Broadway." It means nothing, has no antecedents and is as cold, and unromantic as "Eleventh street" or "Third avenue." Even if, as suggested, the street should eventually become an extension of the Los Angeles thoroughfare of the same name, nothing but confusion would result.

With a background filled with the romance of an early day when there was time to sit beneath the bells of the Mission of San Gabriel and dream the golden hours away in a hacienda all but hidden in a bower of richly laden trees; when La Bonita was truly the beautiful and not the given name of an Italian dictator and Spanish words of meaningful charm attached themselves almost automatically to the dusty highways leading off toward mysterious oases, why wish such an appellation off on a helpless people?

BOBS AND BEARDS

"Women who bob their hair are complaining by the thousands of the growth of mustaches, beards and hairy growth upon their faces," says Miss Frances Martel, secretary of the American Cosmeticians Society.

And then the news item pictures the grandmother of a couple of generations from now stroking a long gray beard.

It seems that there is so much hair in the overstuffed human make-up, and it has to come out either at the back of the head or in front. The women who have cast off the coiffure on top of the head may have only exchanged it for luxuriant foliage on the chin.

If women are determined to have some of the masculine characteristics they will have to take all the accessory trimmings. If women are insistent on being men they will have to accept the disabilities with the blessings.

When woman invaded the barber shop and pushed man from the chair she at once became liable to being the victim of a shave. A hair-cut and a shave have ever gone together.

This may be unwelcome news, but nature is a jealous jade. She will brook no tampering with her laws. The garb of a man and the hair of a man consort together.

This whole matter is fraught with many possibilities for the imagination. Is the beard the potential part of man? Is that potency passing? Will the ladies of the future swear by their beards? Does the strengthening of the weaker sex mean a mane like that of a man? Are bobs and beards the two horns of the feminine dilemma?

SEEKING FRESH OIL

They are boring for oil in Michigan. It would be a fine thing if Henry Ford could tap gasoline right at his own plant. That would be the last word in efficiency.

WOMEN AND THE LORDS

Britain's upper chamber, that supposed relic of ancient chivalry, has again denied British peeresses the right to seats in their august assembly. Probably the chief result of this reactionary move will be to save the real live, red-blooded girl from tying herself to a title that every year means less and less to the holder.

The noble lords debated the question with that heavy truculence so noticeable in Englishmen of mediocre attainments and hereditary mentality. Lord Norton exhibited a peculiar type of chivalry by declaring that "the middle-aged ladies eligible for seats" would hardly prove an attraction to the house and that "to introduce a number of chorus girls" would be more agreeable . . . presumably to the senile lords.

Lord Birkenhead capped the compliment paid to women by his brother peer in the courtly suggestion that "not one of the peeresses proposed for admission would be nominated by any competent tribunal to any legislative body at all," a distinction which, if true, ought to be a fine qualification for a seat in the musty House of Lords.

One bright remark, however, enlivened the ponderous humor of the heavy debate. It came from Lord Cecil in answer to the objection of another peer that women are physically unfitted to become legislators. To this Lord Cecil, supporting the bill, replied, "It would be a very weak woman who could not withstand the physical demands made upon members of the upper house."

This apt rejoinder reminds one of the jest in one of the Gilbert and Sullivan operas, "The House of Peers throughout the war—did nothing in particular—and did it very well;" and another in the same song, prophesying continued greatness for Britain, so long as "Noble statesmen do not itch—to interfere in matters which—they do not understand."

British nobility can hardly be said to have added to its prestige either by turning down the demands of the women or by the character of the debate that accompanied the refusal. But since women are eligible to seats in the House of Commons, they can gracefully disregard both the denial and the jocosity accorded them by men who represent only the dead wood in the old and weather-beaten British oak tree.

ELBOW GREASE

One after the other the strikes this year have proven a failure. The striker will neither work nor let work. He may have the right to a certain limit to refuse to work; but he has no right to keep others from work.

A noted man of the seventeenth century said, "We think and let think." He might have said with equal clarity, "We work and let work."

Elbow grease is secure in its right and strength. Kings have had their day. They can no longer command and have it done.

The servant now rules supreme. But he may not usurp controls and refuse the right to others to work. Vassalage whether to king or slave is hateful.

The golden age and the iron age and the age of reason have had their place successfully in the sun. Commonplace as it may seem, elbow grease now enters upon its age.

Elbow grease has polished more surfaces, plowed more fields, cleared more thickets, built more highways, lifted more loads and installed more machinery than any other lubricant known. It keeps down friction and makes the world turn round.

Lack of this lubricant keeps the divorce mills clanking and furnishes the largest output of trouble. And when elbow grease goes on a strike the bearings burn out and the universe burns up.

A loose tongue seems able to run on forever without oiling, and a vacant, vagrant mind may wander over the earth without harmful results; but no business nor home can run without elbow grease.

If all the Democrats, Socialists, Prohibitionists and the neutrals vote in a lump Los Angeles county Republicans will still dominate by over 52,000.

WHY SO CRUEL TO BULGARIA?

BY MURZA BARONOVA

Why is America, the land which has offered shelter and assistance to so many Russian refugees, driven forth into the wide world, so pitiless toward little, unfortunate Bulgaria, the only country in the Balkans that offered us asylum when we were driven from Southern Russia by the Red Terror from Moscow?

I have found Americans kind, generous, appreciative of the suffering of others. If they only understood the heroic struggles that the Bulgarian peasantry are making to maintain for themselves and their descendants a tiny, tiny place in the sun and to protect the graves and the sanctuaries of their ancestors, I am sure they would be more tolerant.

When I was driven forth from Odessa, after my father and brothers had been killed by the Bolshevists from Moscow and the Ukraine—just one of more than 6000 refugees on the ill-fated steamer Vladimir—Varna, a little port of Bulgaria on the Black Sea, was the only haven open to us. That was in 1920—in dead of winter. The port to which we were directed — Sebastopol — refused to receive us because typhus had broken out on board. Serbia, Rumania, Turkey, Egypt; we approached them all, only to be driven away by armed boats. Outside each harbor a patrol line was established which we were not permitted to pass. Men, women and children were dying of exposure, hunger—for there was no food on board after the first two days—and of the terrible typhus; but they were pitiless. The foreign peoples would not receive us and death at the hands of the Bolsheviki awaited us if we returned to a Russian port.

Then it was that little Bulgaria, already flooded with refugees of their own blood, driven from the neighboring states, opened the port of Varna and permitted us to land.

Bulgaria had fought against Russia in the terrible World War. But the Bulgarians were not inhuman to the refugees of another people in distress. They shared their little with us and aided us to depart to other lands—at least those who were fortunate enough to have relatives to receive us.

During the months I spent in Varna before my sister in Honolulu was able to arrange to bring me to the land of the American flag and the American dollar—to the land where there is food for all who are willing to work for it, where life is not a treadmill for men and a nightmare for women—during those months I learned many things about the Bulgarian people and the government under which they live.

If the people of hospitable America knew more of this I am sure they would give to Bulgaria words of encouragement instead of abuse.

I read in a Los Angeles paper only last week that the Bulgarians are unclean, that they take no baths and their homes are fit habitations only for swine. If the writer of that article had ever been in Bulgaria I am sure he would not have written that.

The little city of Sofia, with less than a twelfth part of the population of Los Angeles, has expended more than $500,000 on public baths. Would a people inclined to be unclean pay so much in taxes in order that the poor as well as the rich might keep their bodies clean?

If the Bulgars were slothful would they establish public libraries and public museums? Would they have one of the best systems of public highways in Eastern Europe? Would they have art galleries with paintings and statuary worth several times as much as those in any public gallery in Los Angeles—Los Angeles, the rich and the beautiful?

In the little city of Varna, with less than 50,000 population, there is a wonderful public park on the palisades overlooking the Black Sea. It is well cared for. Foliage and flowers are diverse and beautiful. It is as large as Golden Gate Park in San Francisco.

Bulgaria is a land of roses. Most of the genuine attar of roses produced in the world comes from Bulgaria. Think of the acres and acres of glorious rose gardens necessary to produce so much perfume! Could a people living in the midst of all this beauty and fragrance be insensible to the emotions awakened by the beautiful?

Some who know not the Bulgarians say they are uncultivated; but Bulgaria is the foyer of the cultivation of Eastern Europe. The Russian language — my own — is founded on the old Bulgarian, as any student of the Russian tongue knows.

The Bulgars have been called a fierce people. But it must be remembered that they were enslaved by the Turks for centuries, that they were compelled to fight for the right to live and that it was only half a century ago that they won back their ancient freedom. Their fierceness was that of the tiger and the lion protecting their young.

Bulgaria, although an elective monarchy, has as democratic a constitution as any country of Europe. I have space only to give six fundamentals of the Bulgarian constitution.

(2.) Equality of citizens, as regards civil and political rights.

Are people living under such a constitution not trying to work out their problems and achieve their manifest destiny along lines that must appeal to free Americans?

Bulgaria's only offense, according to those with whom I have talked here, is that she fought by the side of Germany and Austria in the World War. But you do not understand that Bulgaria at that time was smarting under the injustice

Engagement Announced

One of the lovely affairs of recent date was the bridge-tea with which Mrs. George Wade Barnes and her daughter, Miss Betty Barnes, entertained at the Hollywood Athletic Club, the occasion serving to announce the engagement of Miss Barnes to Ewing Nagel. The rooms were charmingly decorated with summer flowers and the place cards were cupids with golden hearts containing the names of the betrothed.

Miss Barnes was graduated from Hollywood High School, while Mr. Nagel is a son of Dr. Frank Nagel, and a brother of Conrad Nagel. Those included were Mrs. Conrad Nagel, Mrs. Frank Geiger, Mrs. Charles Hutchinson, Mrs. George Tompkins, Mrs. William Bennett, Mrs. George Troutt, Mrs. Elmer Higgens, Mrs. A. L. Lewis, Mrs. A. J. Linkle, Dr. Alice H. Anderson, Mrs. George Wade Barnes, Jr., Miss Margaret McCone, Miss Mary Louise McCone, Miss Harriett Schillington, Miss Sudrey Schillington, Miss Ruth Woods, Miss Mary Nelson, Miss Camilla Emery and Miss Helen Dykes.

Eastern Trip

Miss Vivienne Martinez, popular member of the younger set, daughter of Mrs. George H. Gregg of West Adams street, has returned from an extended eastern tour. While in Washington, D. C., Miss Martinez and Miss Helen Fuller of Santa Monica were received at the White House by Mrs. Coolidge, who is a personal friend of Miss Fuller. Other points of interest visited included the Grand Canyon, Chicago, New York City, Montreal, Niagara Falls, the New England States and Denver.

Miss Martinez is a senior at the University of California and plans to return to Berkeley to complete her studies there.

Schulze-Weitman

The marriage of Miss Irma Schulze, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Schulze of North Arden Boulevard, to Weseley Weitman was solemnized in the Evangelical church, Twelfth and Hope streets, the 12th inst.

The bride wore a gown of white georgette and lace embroidered in pearls, the veil caught into a coronet of pearls and orange blossoms and she carried an arm shower. Mrs. Pannier, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor, while Misses Frances and Marion Schulze were bridesmaids. The decorations were carried out in pastel shades. A reception to which 100 guests were bidden followed at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Weitman are on their wedding trip and after their return will make their home here.

Mrs. Weitman was graduated from University of California, Southern Branch.

Summer Plans

Mrs. Ben Givens of Pasadena is enjoying the summer at Casa De Monana in La Jolla. Later she plans to go east for an extended visit and will return to Southern California in the early winter.

The Woman and Her Job

BY VALERIE WATROUS

THE STOP-GAP PROFESSION

Dear Mrs. Watrous: I am coming to you for help. I cannot decide whether to take up nursing next year, or to take the teachers' course at the university. I am only 17 years of age now.

Family finances are low, and nursing seems the wisest occupation. My sister has been in college for two years, working most of her way through by staying in homes. It really amounts to being a maid with many responsibilities. I thought of doing the same, but she discourages me. She declares one cannot get the best out of the work, perform the duties of a housemaid, and keep healthy.

We are too far from the college to make street-car traveling possible. Yet we cannot afford to rent a room. Would you advise us to borrow money if we could? Where could we get it? I have saved about $60 this summer taking care of children. Would you advise me to try to work my way through, or take up some other profession?

Sincerely,

GENEVIEVE J.

Genevieve, you have given me a hard nut to crack. I don't know what type of girl you are, and what you can do depends so largely upon your physical characteristics.

If you are sturdy and muscular there is no doubt about your ability to work your way through college. If you are a tall, lightly built young woman of the flapper type, you'd flop along in your second year. We folk with small bones and long backs are poor burden bearers. You have to take your body into consideration, my dear girl.

Let's suppose that you are sturdy. Then I'd take the maid's job and work my way. There are thousands of girls who do this. Yes, they miss much of the real value of college life, its intimate contacts that develop poise and leadership. However, better a half loaf than none.

You are looking toward nursing as something temporary; a stop-gap until you are able to take up your college work. When one has given four years to any profession it is difficult to step out of it and take up something else. Yet if you enter it in this spirit, you never will be satisfied, but always longing for the teaching experience, which is your real goal.

I believe it would be quite difficult to borrow money to cover your college years. The College of Industrial Arts in Texas has a large fund from which it draws to help needy students; other colleges have scholarships, but those must be won by superior achievement in school work, or in the first year or two of college.

If you will send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope I will give you some information that may help you in making your decision. I also suggest that you talk over your problem with the dean of women at the university. She may be able to offer you some better solution than that of being a maid.

Take a careful inventory of yourself, your strength of body and your will. If you think you can stand it, jump in and do your four years. You know you can begin teaching on a junior certificate, especially if you supplement it with commercial experience. Send me that envelope and I'll talk to you about it.

CIDER TENDERLOIN

After cutting away all arteries and splitting open four lambs' hearts, boil in slightly salted water until very tender; chop fine and add one onion, a stalk of celery, one tart apple chopped fine, a half cupful of bread crumbs, an egg well beaten, one-half cupful of melted butter, a half saltspoonful of pepper, a quarter teaspoonful of salt, and a wineglassful of cider.

Have ready two pork tenderloins; spread the mixture between; fasten together by small skewers or with cord; place in baking pan; dust with pepper and salt; cover and roast until the meat is done (about a half hour,) basting with a little melted butter and cider very often; remove the cover and let brown; place on a platter and pour over the gravy made fro mtthe trippings and a little water added, thickened with browned flour. Garnish with slices of hard-boiled eggs and parsley.

PULLED BREAD

Take a loaf of two-day-old bread, preferably French bread, and trim off the crusts, then tear the bread apart with two forks into pieces a little larger than an egg; place these on a tin in a cool oven and when they are thoroughly dry increase the heat and allow them to become a delicate even brown color.

WHITE GRAPE TART

Line ramekin dishes with rich puff paste and bake in a brisk oven for about ten minutes. Let the paste cool, then fill with white grapes. Take six ounces of icing sugar, mix with one and a half tablespoonfuls of water and a few drops of vanilla essence. Let cook for a few minutes and use while hot to glace over the grapes.

AVOCADO CANAPE

Pare, seed and dice two avocados and let them marinate in French dressing for an hour. Prepare a thick slice of toast for each portion, hollow out the center, sprinkle with grated cheese, and let stand a couple of minutes in the oven to melt the cheese. Drain the avocado and heap in the center of each slice of toast. Garnish with olives, stuffed with almonds. This will make six canapes.

CHICKEN A LA MARENGO

Cut a tender young fowl, after singeing and cleaning it, into eight or ten pieces; put them into a clean stewpan with four tablespoonfuls of the best olive oil, brown them over a moderate fire, and when slightly browned dredge them with about a tablespoonful of flour. When that is done pour in a pint of rich stock and let simmer gently for about half an hour, taking off the fat as it rises to the top. Add twenty button mushrooms halved, a saltspoonful of pepper, and a half teaspoonful of salt, a teaspoonful of sugar and a half bud of garlic. Cook five minutes; then remove the chicken, piling it pyramid fashion on the dish. Reduce the sauce by boiling it quickly and pour over the fowl. Garnish with toast sippets and parsley.

Music and Radio Trades Will be Guests of Bowl

Three thousand members of the Music and Radio Trades in Southern California have been invited to attend the concert tomorrow night at the Hollywood Bowl.

Invitations to musicians and radio "bugs" to hear the first Alfred Hertz concert have been issued by Mrs. Leiland Atherton Irish, general Bowl chairman.

Hertz is to direct for two weeks, when the regular symphony season will close for the year.

A factor in musical circles of California for more than ten years, Hertz was one of the leading conductors of America at the time he made the move to California. He is called the "father of the Bowl" because he launched the first symphony season at the outdoor theater.

The program for tomorrow night follows:

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

A Better Flavor

Baste the goose with salted water instead of the drippings from it and a great deal of the heavy, greasy flavor will be taken away.

Crisp Cereal

Crisp up the cereal in the omelet pan or double boiler instead of the oven. It is a much quicker process and saves time and gas.

Cleaner Linen

A little butter rubbed under the spout of the cream pitcher will prevent the cream from dripping and making grease spots on the clean table cloth.

Into Hard Wood

When driving nails or screws into very hard wood, rub them over with soap before attempting to force them and you will find they will go in easily without splitting the wood.

Fancy Sandwiches

If you are going to cut the sandwiches into fancy shapes, slice the loaf of bread lengthwise, using a very sharp knife. This will give a much larger surface upon which to cut and will mean less waste.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health" and "Diet for Children"

MILK, THE ONE INDISPENSABLE FOOD

The recent scandals concerning the milk graft in New York have made us realize that there should be a unification of the milk control in the United States. There is no doubt that it is now in a chaotic, non-uniform state.

There is no more important food than milk, no one food upon which so many lives depend. It is the one indispensable food in infancy, childhood and almost as indispensable in adulthood. But it must be pure.

Do you know that impure milk is probably responsible for more sickness and death than all other foods combined? There are several reasons for this: First, milk can convey a greater variety of infections than any other food; bacteria grow well in it, therefore a very slight infection may produce very widespread and serious results. Second, of all foodstuffs, milk is most difficult to obtain, handle, transport and deliver in a clean, fresh and satisfactory condition. Third, it is the most readily decomposible of all foods. Fourth, milk is the only standard article of diet obtained from animal sources consumed in its raw state.

One drink of stale milk may cause such a severe diarrhea in a child that his intestinal tract may be irritated for a long time, and thus have its resistance lowered; one drink of milk containing infectious disease germs may give the baby or child the disease which the germ is responsible for.

You can see from what I said, if you haven't thought of it before, how important it is to have pure milk and laws so stringent that the selling of impure milk will be made impossible.

Do not forget, however, that milk can be contaminated after it reaches the home. For instance, if the bottle of milk is left on the doorstep, dogs and cats may lap its top—this frequently happens—and flies, perhaps carrying disease germs, may light on it. (Therefore, the necessity of carefully washing the top, so that when the milk is poured over the lip of the bottle it will not be contaminated.) Milk may also become contaminated by diseased persons who handle it in the home unless they are very careful.

All foods must be protected from dust and insects and this is especially true of milk. Unless it is kept in the original bottle, it should be kept in a seamless, nonrusting dish and it should be placed in the refrigerator on or touching the ice. In the summer if milk is to be kept over a day and there is no ice chest, it is best to boil it and cool it as rapidly as possible under running water.

PASTEURIZED MILK

Pasteurized milk is milk that has been heated to a temperature of 140 to 145 deg. F., and kept at that temperature for thirty minutes. (212 deg. is the boiling temperature.) Sometimes it is heated higher than that, and not held so long at the higher temperature. The lower temperature for a longer period is most used now, for it alters the flavor of the milk less.

Pasteurized milk loses practically none of its food value, with the exception of part of the vitamins which protect against scurvy. This is of importance when it is given to babies who are on an exclusive milk diet. Then the full quota of orange juice—or, failing this, tomato, fresh cabbage or turnip juice—must be given to make up the lack of the vitamins. Pasteurization kills the dangerous forms of bacteria and is much safer to use, unless you can get the certified milk.

A point to remember: Milk that is pasteurized or boiled does not sour so readily as raw milk. So these milks, if kept too long, may be stale and unwholesome even though they do not taste sour.

Milk is such an important food that I will continue the subject tomorrow.

MISS DARE BEAUTY WINNER

LONG BEACH, Aug. 15.—Miss Hope Dare of Ocean Park won the first grand prize as the most beautiful girl, and Miss Marjorie Williamson of Long Beach successfully defended her title as "Miss Southern California" in the second annual Long Beach bathing beauty pageant today.

Miss Williamson retained the silver cup, which she won last year as "Miss California," which must be won three times for permanent possession. She was not eligible for the other events.

The prize winners were:

Most beautiful girl—First, Hope Dare of Ocean Park, $500 cash, a silver cup, her portrait and miniature to be painted by well-known artists, a $75 pair of slippers by a motion-picture designer, and a contract with Fanchon and Marco; second, Margaret Ord, Los Angeles, $150; third, Ruby McCoy, Los Angeles, $100; fourth, Evelyn Fontaine, Ocean Park, $75; fifth, Jean Douglas, Ocean Park, $50; sixth, Amo Ingraham, Los Angeles, cup; seventh, Hazel Newman, Hollywood, cup; eighth, Antoinette Johnson, Los Angeles; ninth, Anne Mosier, Los Angeles; tenth, Vivian DuBarry, Los Angeles.

Prizes of $50 each and Fanchon and Marco contracts were won by Margaret Oliver of Los Angeles as the most beautiful blond, and Esther Garcia of Los Angeles, last year's winner in this class, as the most beautiful brunette, while Hope Dare, who already has one Fanchon and Marco contract, took $50 additional as the most beautiful girl with auburn hair.

Martha Strang of San Diego was acclaimed the most beautiful out-of-town girl.

Jocelyn Murray was voted the most beautiful Long Beach girl. Evelyn Hunt of Glendale took a cup for the most charming personality. Jean Douglas of Ocean Park took a cup and a Fanchon and Marco contract for the most beautiful figure.

A record crowd began gathering early in the morning to obtain a favorable view of the pageant. There were 125 entries, the majority of whom were from Los Angeles and Hollywood. There were two parades one in the afternoon, a sort of elimination contest, and the final this evening. Fifty-six young woman got into the finals by vote of the judges.

The judges were representative of film, theater and artistic lines. Among them were George K. Arthur, Tommy O'Brien, Estelle Clark, Dolores del Rio, Louise Fazenda, John Muschl, Anton Kesthyli, Harry D. Wilson, Edna Carewe, June Mathis, Frank Newman, Marco of Fanchon and Marco, and Marcella Arnold, holder of the "Miss Los Angeles" title.

Old Friends at Beach to Back Shortridge Race

LONG BEACH, Aug. 15.—Senator Shortridge spent yesterday and today here renewing old friendships and greeting old friends at Hotel Virginia. Yesterday he attended the Iowa State Association picnic at Bixby Park, where he addressed the gathering from his native State.

Senator Shortridge is pleased with the support he has been given in this city. He has been given a great deal of assurance of support from friends during his stay here. The Senator intends to put in a very busy week touring the near-by counties. His schedule, which was announced tonight, includes the following: Monday, Los Angeles, and a meeting at Beverly Hills at noon, and Wilmington in the evening; Tuesday, Riverside and Redlands; Wednesday, San Bernardino; Thursday, Santa Ana and other places in Orange county; Friday, San Diego; Saturday, Imperial, El Centro and Calexico, and Sunday he will return to Los Angeles.

In announcing his schedule here tonight he said: "Of course, these counties are not new to me. I have been familiar with each and every one for many years, and I have marveled and rejoiced over the wonderful development and growth of this part of the State."

RICHARDSON GIVES TALK AT CHURCH

Governor Makes Address on Business Administration Before Congregation

Brief addresses by Gov. Richardson and Mary McLeod Bethune, educator and president of the National Association of Colored Women, featured the program at the evening services last night at the Douglass Temple, Universal Brotherhood of Spiritualist Church, 1434 East Twenty-first street.

Asserting the State of California is enjoying a prosperity greater than ever before in its history, Gov. Richardson, in the course of his address, stated he has attempted to give the people of the State a business administration during his term as State executive. He outlined briefly the functions of many of the State departments and commissions and explained the protection they afford the people, stating the State government during his four-year administration has not been a political one. Declaring his administration economical, he pointed out that there is a surplus of $10,000,000 in the treasury, a financial condition hitherto unequaled in the history of the State.

Gov. Richardson was introduced by Mrs. A. E. Walker, a member of the church, following a short talk by Dr. G. W. Shields, the pastor.

Stressing the importance of education and the need for schools and churches, President Bethune declared members of the negro race are gradually leaving behind them ignorance, poverty and superstitution.

Mrs. Bethune also spoke at a mass meeting yesterday afternoon at the People's Independent Church of Christ, East Eighteenth and Paloma streets.

YEGGMEN MAKE DRUG HAUL

Narcotics Valued at More Than $5000 Taken by Gang of Burglars and Safe-Crackers

Narcotics valued at more than $5000 were stolen by a gang of burglars and safe-crackers who broke into the Western Wholesale Drug Company establishment at Second and Los Angeles streets yesterday, according to a police report.

The theft of the narcotics, which police believe will be "doctored" and sold to addicts and peddlers for at least five times the original value, followed an attempt to blow open a large safe in the office of the drug company. A smaller one was opened through manipulation of the combination dial but contained nothing of value, according to E. A. Talbot, assistant-secretary of the firm.

From the manner in which the burglars broke into the establishment and the wholesale ransacking of the office and narcotic room, the police drew the supposition that the burglars are members of a well-systematized ring of burglars, yeggmen and bandits, which has been under the surveillance of Assistant Captain of Detectives Cahill's robbery squad for more than a week.

Gaining the roof of the building the gang cut out a pane of glass from a skylight door and jimmied open a door at the foot of a short stairway.

WORSHIP OF JESUS LAID TO LIFE HE EXEMPLIFIED

Speaker Over KHJ Says Carpenter of Nazareth Was Radiant, Loving Character

Declaring that Jesus is worshipped today not because He was virgin-born nor because He was raised from the dead but because of the God-like life which He taught and exemplified, Dr. Henry C. Culbertson, pastor of the Mesa Congregational Church, in a sermon from The Times broadcasting station yesterday said that it is possible for the ideal of the Master to be realized in every human heart. Preaching on "We Gods," Dr. Culbertson spoke in part as follows:

"Every era since the time of Jesus has been marked by the recovering of some overlooked truth in His teachings, and the quickening of human society in response to that truth. It has been said, 'The disciples of Jesus were devoted to His person, but His gospel never penetrated their minds.' They loved Him, but they caught only glimmerings of the great ideas He was striving to convey.

"The Carpenter of Nazareth saw all the world in terms of His own great heart of love. Where others thought of God as a mighty king, rewarding the righteous and executing vengeance upon the wicked, Jesus thought of God as a great Father, making the sun rise and the rain fall on both evil and good, loving all mankind even as a tender-hearted parent loves all of his children. No other person who ever trod this planet has been so vividly conscious of God as this Carpenter. He though of God as His own Father, and He entered so deeply into this relationship that He declared, 'I and the Father are one.' Jesus not only thought of God as His own Father, but He longed to bring all men into a conscious realization of the same experience.

IDEA COMMON

"The idea of an incarnation, deity taking human form, is common to many religions. Ancient peoples often told stories of gods who became men and men who became gods. The only incarnation story that grips our souls convincingly today is the story of Jesus, because in the Carpenter of Nazareth is revealed a radiant, loving, glorious character, a new standard of moral idealism, which is so convincing that we know He has verily shown us the heart of the heavenly Father.

"It uplifts and exalts us when we think, in terms of the most modern philosophy, of the progressive revelation of God. As an organ-builder expresses himself in the fine woodwork and delicate mechanism of the instrument, so the infinite God expresses still higher faculties of his nature when he sits before the keyboard and wakens the instrument with symphonies, so the infinite God expresses still hihger parts of His own nature in the creation of mankind, the evolution of free-thinking and free-choosing beings, with moral possibilities. Man, however, is yet an incomplete revelation of the nature of God. Only once thus far has the supreme character, the soul of God, been revealed, and that is in the personality of Jesus.

"How Jesus's message has been misinterpreted! Paul, while he entered into a mystical experience of God through Christ, and wondrously served in breaking down barriers so as to make possible the world-wide spread of Christianity, yet confused the message for many by interpreting the mission of Jesus in terms of the Jewish doctrines of sacrifice, atonement and court procedure, instead of in the simple language of family life, the relationship of father and son, as Jesus taught.

SUPREME MESSAGE

"Let us get back of all these doctrines to the simple, supreme message of Jesus! The Carpenter-Poet-Prophet of Nazareth is revered among us today, not primarily because he was born of a virgin or raised from the dead, not because He was a Jew or an Asiatic, nor because of the mighty ecclesiastic hierarchies and complicated theological systems that have been erected about His name, but because in His life are revealed both the character of God and the infinite possibilities of our human lives. The greatest of all the forgotten truths of Jesus's teaching is that His consciousness of God as His Father should be shared by every man. He is the way, the truth and the life because He shows the only type of life through which man can become like our Heavenly Father. He sets up an infinite goal before us when He bids us be perfect even as our Heavenly Father is perfect.

"Newspaper stories tell of a new leader from India, Krishnamurti, whose followers, it is said, believe him to be a reincarnation of the Christ. I do not believe he is the reincarnation of Jesus, for there is only one Jesus, and He is spiritually present among us today and always. Not only Krishnamurti, however, but all of us, may become incarnations of the Christ-nature which is in the heart of God, if only we open the windows of our souls heavenward and let the glory of God come in."

DISCUSSES COMING OF GREAT TEACHER

Manly P. Hall, pastor of the Church of the People, spoke at the Trinity Auditorium yesterday on "The Expected Teacher." He said in part:

"All the religious people of the world are waiting for the coming of their Redeemer, who is to establish an empire among them and make them rulers of the world. Many have predicted the time of His coming, basing their beliefs upon statements in Scripture or upon visions and dreams. But all, up to the present time, have been disappointed. When we consider the Savior that the different people of the earth look forward to, it is difficult to imagine any one person who could even in part fulfill these expectations. The Persians are waiting for their flaming spirit to descend from heaven. The Chinese, the Hindus, the Jews, all are waiting for one who will be of their own race, color, faith, and will make them the greatest of all nations. All this makes it seem probable that whatever revelation is given to mankind to solve its problems will not come through any one person but a great number. Minds will arise among every nation ministering to the needs of that particular people in a way that they can understand. The hope of Christendom that it would convert the world is almost a thing of the past. It is realizing that its code is not suited to the various races and that among many of them it does more harm than good. Some believe that the World Teacher is already here and are vowing allegiance to him. Others are attacking the belief and doing all that can be done to ridicule the idea. Both these parties are to a certain degree wrong in their attitudes. What God has up his sleeve no man knows, and to say this is so or this is not so, is to deprive God of His power to fashion things as he would have them. Time is the test of all things. Time will prove the power and dignity of every creature. In the meantime we must wait and watch and work."

SAYS CHRISTIANITY TEACHES EQUALITY

Dr. Bruce Brown of the South Park Christian Church preached yesterday on "The Superiority of Christianity." He said in part:

"Christianity is the only one of the world's great religions that teaches thequality of mankind and that offers the same rewards and emphasizes the same obligations to all men. Wherever other religions are in the ascendency, caste and class rule are always the established order. Go to other lands where Christianity has been deformed, where its teachings have been mongrelized with superstition and we find the rights of the common people recognized in the exact proportion of Christianity to the whole moral and religious content. In nations where there is freedom of conscience and religion the common man comes into his own just so far as Christianity is believed and practiced. No other fact is quite so plain in the history of the last twenty centuries as that the only hope of the poor and oppressed lies in the precepts of the New Testament. The great wrongs that have ever crushed the common people have never been removed until its teachings have been preached and practiced. Whatever speculative doubts any mann men have, there can be no doubt about the effects that come from the teachings of that Book. We can afford to forget our theories when we face indisputable facts. As certainly as daylight follows the rising of the sun, a great moral and social awakening follows the advent of the Christianity of the New Testament."

SERVICE IS CALLED KEYNOTE OF RELIGION

Rev. W. C. Isett, pastor of Amanda Chapel, preached yesterday on "Could Christianity Have One Church?" He said in part:

"The question wether Christians could unite into one church can only be answered in the affirmative. It is not a question of ability, but one of willingness. The basic principles of Christianity are the same in all denominations. There is no difference in our belief in God. All Christians believe in God. They believe He is a Being of love and justice. They believe in His supreme power, though they differ in the interpretation of the extent to which He exerts that power. All Christians believe in the person and work of Jesus Christ. It would not be Christianity without Christ. Also, we all believe in the Holy Spirit, and the unity of God. All Christians believe in the duty of those who follow Christ to serve their fellowmen. Service is the keynote of Christianity. There are only two basic principles of Christianity, and Jesus summed them up and put them in a sentence: 'Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and thy neighbor as thyself.' A union church, therefore, starts on those two commandments as its foundation. They are the foundation of every church. Then why do we not have all union churches? Because we enter the field of human conduct, and make rules for our fellowmen. But remember that law is made for the law-breaker and not for the law-observer, but in religion we have made laws for the law-observer—for our fellow-Christians, and have tried to make all walk after the same human laws."

IDEAS OF JUDGMENT DAY ARE INDEFINITE

"Vague and indefinite ideas prevail concerning the judgment day. Some think that Jesus will be seated upon a literal cloud and judge the world in a twenty-four hour day; others contend that each person is judged at the moment of death, and that therefore a future judgment is unnecessary. Others believe that neither of these views is the Scriptural idea," said Mr. J. P. MacPherson in his lecture on "The Judgment Day," in the Trinity Auditorium yesterday.

"Judgment cannot be at death, for the Scriptures say, that God 'hath appointed a day in which he will judge the world in righteousness, by that man whom he hath ordained.' Isaiah declares: 'When thy judgments are in the earth, the inhabitants of the world will learn righteousness.' It is evident from these statements that the world's judgment day has not yet arrived.

"The whole world of mankind was plunged into sin and death through heredity from the failure of the first man, Adam, in his trial. For knowing man's fall, the love of God for the human race prompted him to use wisdom in the formation of a plan of redemption for Adam and all his posterity. This was provided for in the ransom sacrifice of the Lord Jesus. (John vi:51; x:10.) In due time Christ died for the ungodly, laid down the purchase price; and as a reward for his faithfulness God highly exalted Him to the glory and honor of the divine nature.

"St. Peter points out that the old order of things is reserved unto the day of judgment, and that the day of judgment is 1000 years in length. The destructive influence of the fire of God's wrath against wickedness began with the downfall of nations in 1914, and will continue until righteousness is fully enthroned in the earth.

"Judgment signifies a trial and a sentence rendered based upon that trial. This judgment, being of God, will be based on knowledge not on ignorance; and this judgment day will be tolerable for everybody, but more tolerable for those who have sinned undes less light and opportunity."

PROHIBITION ASSAILED FROM CHURCH PULPIT

Prohibition is splitting the nation; dancing, drinking, card-playing, theater-going and Sunday sports, in moderation, are all entirely innocent, said M. M. Mangasarian from the pulpit of the First Unitarian Church at his Sunday-evening lecture on "The Tragedy of Prohibition." Mr. Mangasarian stated that the cause of reform in the hands of novices or fanatics, like the extreme prohibitionists and those advocating Sunday closing laws, is bound to defeat its own purpose. He accused many well-meaning people of holding the theory that by curtailing our liberties here we would be made to long for the world beyond. He said that dancing would be an improvement upon many church services, and that ministers, by denouncing innocent pleasures, had only succeeded in confusing the world and the judgment of the people. According to Mr. Mangasarian, prohibition is repressive legislation, is breeding disrespect for law, and is dividing our nation.

BURGLAR USES CHLOROFORM

Woman Beaten by Intruder Who Enters Her Bedroom in Hunt for Plunder

Beaten about the head, chloroformed into unconsciousness and robbed of jewelry valued at $800 and $100 in cash, was the experience of Mrs. Charlotte Beuther in her home at 805 East Forty-seventh street early yesterday morning, according to her report to the police.

Mrs. Beuther stated that she was awakened by the burglar crawling through the window of her bedroom, from which he had removed the screen. Considerably frightened, but determined to save her valuables, Mrs. Beuther said she slipped quietly out of bed and started for the door to call for help. In moving across the room the burglar heard her and at once leaped upon her, stifling her attempt to scream.

For a short time, she said, she struggled desperately with her assailant in an effort to break free, but was forced to her knees by blows on the head and face. Helpless in the intruder's grasp, she was forced to submit while the burglar applied a handkerchief soaked with chloroform over her nose until she lapsed into unconsciousness.

Later, when she recovered her senses, Mrs. Beuther discovered, she said, that the burglar had taken her diamond jewelry and the cash from a trunk.

O'NEILL SYMBOLISM

'GREAT GOD BROWN' HIGHLY RARIFIED DRAMA

By Edwin Schallert

The most radical and direct charge that Eugene O'Neill, chiefly heretofore an artistic rather than a purpose-inspired iconoclast, has essayed at the modern mood of life is comprised in "The Great God Brown," which is now being presented at the Pasadena Community Playhouse.

The production of this creation by America's perhaps most idealistic and daring of innovator of the theater, is an exceptional one; in fact one of the very best that has been given at the noncommercial Crown City institution. The cast is headed by Arthur Lubin, who has already done duty here in "Desire Under the Elms," while Irving Pichel, identified very prominently on the Coast with little theater and community theater activities is responsible for the direction.

The significance of "The Great God Brown" is one both of mysticism and of reality. O'Neill, in a rather lengthy explanation, has gone to the extent of making this dual meaning more or less obvious. It is one of the first occasions on which he has semiofficially removed the mask and sought to elucidate one of his creations for the theater and in extenuation it must be mentioned that he has done this with an apology.

The conflict is one that involves both elements of materialism, accepted religious belief, and the import of life lived for the sake of life.

The dramatist proffers a denouement primarily by inference, and suggests that "the solution, if there ever be any, will probably have to be produced in a test tube and turn out to be discouragingly undramatic."

Aside from its underlying meanings, "The Great God Brown," is in many respects a triumphant O'Neill achievement in imaginative beauty, that attains a compelling fascination. Though it is wholly episodic, with no less than twelve different scene changes, in addition to a prologue and an epilogue, its suspense is dramatically amazing.

Primarily, the appeal of this dramatic impression (it is not strictly speaking a play) will be to those interested in the modern and expressionistic types of drama. It is the ultra of the ultra in this aspect. Not only do the characters express abstractions in the words they speak—rather than anything remotely resembling conversational dialogue—but the technique is further complicated by their wearing of masks on occasion. These are designed to show them as altered and ever completely changed as they appear to the surrounding characters.

To say that O'Neill has brought out his purpose clearly for an audience questing chiefly entertainment would undoubtedly be too large and liberal an assertion. This play is more elusive in its qualities than many of his others. One does not on this account remain unmoved either by its moments of exquisite idealism, or of frenetic emotion, or those when it touches an uncanny spark of sentiment. Most potent, perhaps, are those at the close. These are of the most exquisite and poetic beauty.

In the playing of "The Great God Brown" some of the scenes were much less delicately handled than they should have been. I felt a tendency particularly on the part of Lubin to overdo some of his, though in the main his performance was a tremendously forceful one. Pichel was exceptionally good at times, though his portrayal was a little uneven. Violette Wilson's performance was quite consistently sustained, and in the last scene possessed a note of manifest beauty. Helen Hardinson played Cybele creditably in the final scene. Elsewhere her work was not so sure.

Pauline Seen in Revival of Stage Favorite

A great star in one of the great plays of the century is the treat in store for Los Angeles when Pauline Frederick comes to the Playhouse in "Madame X" on Tuesday evening.

Louis O. Macloon is responsible for bringing Pauline Frederick back to the stage.

Miss Frederick is said to bring to Jacqueline a feeling which happens to have been the gift of but few actresses to hold; that she is ideal for the part is best evidenced by the success she met with when she played this character upon the screen. This was one of the first convincing proofs that pictures could have long runs, as Pauline Frederick in this play enjoyed more than the passing engagement in the silent drama houses.

Lillian Albertson staged the production.

Bard of Avon Mistaken, Says Star of 'Aloma'

Maryanna Michalska is in town!

There doesn't seem to be anything particularly exciting about that fact to theater fans, perhaps, which only goes to prove that Shakespeare was all wrong.

For Maryanna Michalska is one of the most celebrated theatrical personages and one of the highest salaried dancers on the stage and screen today. Maryanna is at the Million Dollar Theater in person on the stage and in her first screen star picture, "Aloma of the South Seas."

If you want to know who Maryanna is, just ask Gilda Gray, for that is her real name!

VAUDEVILLE DOESN'T CHANGE WITH TIME'S ONWARD MARCH BUT ITS FUNNIER THAN EVER

BY ALMA WHITAKER

Well, there's one thing left in the world that doesn't go getting newfangled ideas anyway. All those dear old things that resent modernism can always go to see vaudeville and revel in the old days.

They sent me to the Orpheum yesterday—and it was the same jolly old show that was going strong when I was a flapper in pigtails. It starts the bill with the same acrobatic stunt—two nice muscular young Angel brothers, in leopard-skin panties, to enthrall us with palpitating balancing tricks. I loved them—and if they weren't strictly sober boys they must have been dead long ago, doing their dangerously risky stunts.

Then came the two patter men in funny clothes, Shaw and Lee, who sing a little, and talk a little and dance and bang each other about. But they started with a door—just a door—which was moved away after they walked through it. Not like the fatal doors in "Rain," and "The Green Hat" and "Fata Morgana," which are not moved—which, of course, is just as well, considering.

And there's a young male troubadour with a guitar—this time he is Nick Lucas—and Nick sings romantically about how he misses her—and how's he's tired of everything but her, and how he is all alone—and the dear chap perspired just like the acrobats, but the faithful audience loved him and called him back again and again. Who says we are a hard-boiled generation?

Eddie Conrad, masquerading as a foreign impresario, stages "L'Episode Peculiare," with the lovely blonde who sings and dances and the fat Charlotte who sings and dances, but who gets called the Hollywood Bowl and the Big Parade without flinching—and somebody throws a tin can so Eddie can get his "can" joke in.

And there were the child wonders—this time Mickey Daniels and Mary Kornman from "Our Gang" and introduced with a bit of screen to warm them up. Mickey's face should be a fortune to him. The lambkins dance a little and sing a little, too, and burlesque the movies — with some pretty nasty cracks about Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks, Doug telling Mary she is too old for kid roles, and Mary telling Doug he is muscle-bound. Bill Hart and Mae Murray also come in for some rather cruel burlesque—if we like our baby jokers a bit spiteful.

Lucille Ballantine, the dancing girl with four acrobatic young male dancers to set her off, wears some saucy pretty frocks, does some marvelous things on her toes, and smiles exactly right to show her nice teeth. We noted that ostrich feathers are in again—they were twenty-five years ago—so both Eddie's blond Marion Eddy and Lucille have ostrich feather fans and ostrich trimmings on their dresses—and it is all very pretty.

Johnny Burke was "different." As a doughboy in khaki and helmet, he just tells us all about it and keeps us giddy with laughter. This act is called "Dirty Work," but it is pretty clean fun at that.

The real piece de resistance of the show was the "Extra Added Attraction"—the Follies of 1926. The entire cast lends a hand in this one and it is described as an "impromptu revue." It is a burlesque of a burlesque—taking off the Charlot Revue in many recognizable spots. Eddie Conrad's Marion proved quite clever in a Beatrice Lillie stunt—an imported prima-donna in tacky vamp costume, singing with dignity and frightful aplomb in the face of sure disaster. And Shaw and Lee were really funnier in this than in their own act—especially in the Floradora take-off. Floradora about dates the whole show—and the audience for that matter. We all got the Floradora jokes. And simply loved the cherries on Sam Shaw's naughty bloomers.

Johnny Burke and Nick Lucas staged a duet—Johnny proving quite a pianist—and they jazzed "The Holy City," which was also a popular song when Pa was young.

NICOLA MYSTIFIES AGAIN

With that suave "deceiver," Nicola, calmly walking away with first honors the Hillstreet this week is offering a divertingly diversified bill.

Each of the five vaudeville numbers is excellent of its kind. And there are all kinds.

Nicola is such a poised individual and his superb self-assurance is bound to communicate itself to the audience. So even when he announces some peculiarly unbelievable feat, he is believed.

Perhaps the most completely astounding of all his "deceptions" is that one known as "Nicola's Sensational Trunk Mystery." Certainly, at its culmination the audience is gasping and enjoying the sensation hugely. Nicola's feminine assistants are as debonair as he, so the nonchalant impression is complete.

Combining personal charm with exceptional dancing ability, Ledova offers a series of interesting interpretations—from classical to folk numbers. Her act is artistically staged and the Sicherban Gypsy Quintet, composed of really accomplished musicians, adds a decidedly picturesque touch to the scene.

Ledova is assisted by two capable performers, Leon Varkas and Joseph Napolitano.

Billie and Dollie, two pictorial imps, offer their version of the inevitable sister act. But they are clever entertainers and have managed to make their numbers novel.

"Hoos Hoo?" is quite satisfactorily answered by Gloria Gray and Hal Jerome, while the Little Johns have something unique in the way of acrobatics, glitteringly staged.

On the screen "The Sporting Lover" boasts a fine cast—Conway Tearle, in his customary amorous role; Barbara Bedford, individual and appealing as usual; Ward Crane, that sleek heavy; Arthur Rankin, Charles E. McHugh and John Fox, Jr.

But the story is a silly jumble of the "funny side of the war," of racing in England and of love making. It is too bad that such talented players are not provided with a more suitable vehicle.

Musical Show Will Open at Mason Theater

Louis O. Macloon will offer at the Mason tonight one of the latest musical comedy sensations from New York entitled "Tip-Toes." This boasts a score by George Gershwin. Not one, or two, but at least a dozen song hits, it is said, abound in this new piece, the book of which is the work of Guy Bolton and Fred Thompson. Ira Gershwin did the lyrics.

The new production has four New York stars in Eddie Buzzell, Eddie Nelson, Ana Munson and Charles Howard.

DOVE EXCELS IN 'MARRIAGE CLAUSE'

Lois Weber Film at Forum Long on Sentiment, But Well Worth Seeing, Anyway

BY HERBERT MOULTON

It seemingly has remained for a woman to bring out in celluloid the full talent of an actress who heretofore has been more or less purely decorative.

The woman is Lois Weber, whose first picture in several years, "The Marriage Clause," is on view at the Forum this week.

The actress is Billie Dove, whose portrayal of Sylvia, the staage actress in the Weber film, is quite the most sound and interesting thing she has ever revealed on the silversheet.

The picture itself is really of second consideration. There were bright lights and not a few cinema celebrities at the Forum Saturday night, it is true, and there were virtually all of the gala festivities which usually accompany such affairs.

I cannot help but feel, however, that those who attended came away with a vivid impression of Miss Weber's genius in bringing forth a dramatic spark in a player who previously sparkled only in a pulchritudinous way, rather than a feeling that they had witnessed a great picture.

For "The Marriage Clause" is hardly that, while Miss Dove's metamorphosis touches upon the miraculous. She has become, virtually overnight, a film actress of the first rank and one whose work in the future will be interesting to observe.

While the picture, on the whole, is given commendable treatment, with an obviously feminine "touch" that lends a certain individualism, I am afraid it is going to be difficult for many people to swallow the many generous gobs of sentiment that Miss Weber has devised. Americans may be more sentimental than their European cousins, but there is a limit to everything—and we have become more sophisticated in the last decade or two!

Pictorially, as well as dramatically, the film has much to recommend it. There are many views of scenes from the plays in which Sylvia appears and they have been photographed in a very telling way. Altogether, the production may be said to be splendidly mounted, with careful attention given to the most minute details.

Theatrical life forms the setting for the story, which relates the glamorous career of an actress under the tutelage of a stage director. There is a suggestion of Svengali in some of the situations, brought about by the fact that Sylvia's success before the footlights depends to a considerable degree on the presence of her tutor, played by Francis X. Bushman.

This phase, however, differs from the "Trilby" idea in that the actress and her director are in love and are prevented from marriage only by a restricting clause in her contract. Hypnotism, as Svengali dispensed it, does not enter into the story.

There are many interesting turns in the plot, with a menacing note struck by Warner Oland, as the theatrical producer.

As I have said, though, the picture's chief charm lies in its revelation of Miss Dove's hitherto unglimpsed talents as an emotional actress. Her delineation is human, as indeed are those of virtually all of the principal players, Messrs. Bushman and Oland, especially.

Bushman instills a fine feeling into his role and earns a great share of sympathy.

Oland, while the "menace" in the story, does it in his usual suave way, to splendid effect.

A small sirenic role is nicely handled by Grace Darmond, while Caroline Snowden and Henri La Garde play supporting roles.

The picture is an adaptation of "Tecnic," a story by Dana Burnett, and has been given a nice musical accompaniment by the Forum orchestra director, Ted Henkel.

Other features on the bill include a number of musical and dancing selections, featuring Lillian Powell, Peggy and Mona Ray, Marshall and Pertle, and the Bill Brue Quartet. Sunny McKeen, as Snookums, is the humorously diverting feature of the comedy offering, based on the tribulations of a pair of newlyweds.

Norma Shearer Seen on Stage at Loew's State

Norma Shearer will make a personal appearance at Loew's State Theater tonight.

Miss Shearer is the star of "The Waning Sex," the current Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture now running at Loew's State Theater.

NORMA SHEARER

"The Waning Sex" is a story of "feminine papas and masculine mamas" according to a subtitle in the picture, and was adapted from the New York stage success by Frederick and Fanny Hatton and was directed by Robert Z. Leonard. Conrad Nagel plays the leading masculine role opposite Miss Shearer.

Miss Shearer will be introduced by H. B. Wright, managing director of Loew's State Theater, and Fanchon and Marco will present a special performance of their latest idea, which features Rube Wolf and his band, Vera Van, Rube's new little playmate, Warner and Meade, Oscar Taylor, The Gibson Sisters, and others.

Morosco Lead Says Motoring Gets Tiresome

John Litel, new leading man at the Morosco Theater, who will be seen for the first time on the Coast in "Dancing Mothers," beginning September 5, next, has arrived in Los Angeles.

He motored across the continent and says frankly that he did not enjoy the trip until he arrived in California, and then—ah, he became a Californian immediately.

While watching a performance of "On the Stairs," the current attraction at the Morosco, Litel between acts said: "I have been desirous of coming to Los Angeles for the past three years but every time I was about to accept a screen or stage off I would receive another part in some Broadway New York show. In the past three years I have played in the following shows on Broadway: 'The Naked Man,' with William Elliott and Henry Hull; 'Thorobred,' with George Marion and Ann Harding, and 'Beaten Tracks.' I was cast for the star part in 'The Half Naked Truth,' but was taken down with the mumps and had to give up the role. Four years ago I played the leading male role in the musical comedy 'Irene.'

A Society Wedding

JOHN, the colored sexton of a smart church in a small town, had a great passion for the Christian Endeavor Society and after much study learned the pledge. He was also a preacher, and many dusky lovers were united in happy wedlock by John. Recently he was compelled to appear before the divorce court with a negro couple whom he had some months previously married.

"John," said the Judge, "did you marry this couple?"

"Mister Marse Jedge, I did; en' den I didn't. I tole dat nigger dare, efen he wanted me to marry him fer him to bring me two dollars and a half, en' when he cum dare to get married, he didn't hab but six bits, en' you know, Jedge, I can't marry no two niggers fer six bits, so I jes' tuk and sed dat Christian Endeavor pludge over 'um en' dat's all de marr'in' de's had."

Embarrassing

Willis: "How do you like the combination furniture they have in some of these New York flats?"

Gillis: "Not at all. I went to bed in a piece of that kind of junk the other night at a friend's house and when I woke up, two women were serving breakfast on the footboard, a fellow was signing checks on the headboard and another fellow was underneath the bed making coffee."

DRYS RAID TEQUILA PLANT

A plant for making "moonshine" tequila was among the novelties discovered over the week-end by men under George Contreras, chief prohibition officer for the District Attorney, according to reports filed yesterday. The plant, the officers reported, was in two parts, one at 457 Branch street, Belvedere, where a forty-gallon still was found, and at 4052 Hamel street, where there was a small still. At the former address the officers arrested Jesus Robles and Isaac Mangana, and at the latter Albert Holguin, said to be an employee of the County Road Department. Labels of a well-known Mexican brand of tequila were found, it was declared.

Another distilling plant raided in Belvedere, the officers said, was that of Julio Alamanso, where two stills and quantities of mash and liquor were discovered. This plant was entirely underground, the floor of a series of caverns being twenty feet below the surface. Constable Ziegler of Belvedere, assisted the county officers in the investigation and raids.

At the McCoy ranch at Calabasas, according to the report, James Cerutti was arrested and 250 gallons of wine, forty of whisky and a 400-gallon still were seized. At La Crescenta, P. E. Palmer of 812 East Honolulu avenue, was arrested on charges of sale and possession.

Near Redondo, the officers arrested F. W. Patey and William Woodruff on selling charges in one place, and Pat Murphy and Ed Carpenter in another. At Puente, officers took into custody on selling charges Mrs. Jujana Moniato, Mrs. Elvira Ammenta, Leo Serrano, Vicente Aguilar and Jose Cuyas.

The officers also arrested G. W. Town, of the Fern Barbecue, 8841 Alameda street, for conducting a dance without a permit, and Al Dickinson of the Barn Dance in Altadena, on the same charge.

Rowboat Kiss Lands Marital Ship on Rocks

Annabelle Salient did not say she had regretted the kiss in a rowboat. But she was certainly sorry she had ever told Carl Salient about it.

"After I married him I confessed that another man had once kissed me in a rowboat," she told Judge Gates. "He was terribly jealous anyway, and he recalled that I had struggled when he had tried first to kiss me. He pointed out that I could not have struggled when the other man tried, because if I had the rowboat would have tipped over. I could not make him see that that was just why I had not struggled. He raised such a fuss about the matter that we simply could not live together."

Upon her showing that Salient's unreasonable jealously had caused her extreme mental anguish, she was granted a decree of divorce.

HE WINS BALM, BUT TRY TO GET IT

Judge Finds Wife Stolen and Awards $25,000 Damages, Not as the Price of a Wife, But Just to Salve Husband's Shattered Heart

If Robert Markey, St. Louis real-estate man, can find John A. Ewnis, who used to operate the Savoy Hotel here, he has a bill to present.

"To one wife—$25,000."

For Judge Valentine of the Superior Court has made a judgment wherein he found Markey used to enjoy the affection and companionship of Edythe L. Markey, that he has been deprived of such affection and companionship, that Ewnis is the person who deprived him of them and that Markey is entitled to $25,000 from Ewins by way of balm.

"I do not mean by this judgment to find that $25,000 measures the value of a man's wife. I believe this defendant to have been shamefully treated, but unfortunately no court can repair the damage done. All we can do is to award a money judgment, and it appears that even that may be difficult to realize on," Judge Valentine observed after hearing Markey's suit against Ewins.

It was testified that Mrs. Markey came to Los Angeles on a vacation in August, 1923, and that within two weeks of her arrival here she wrote her husband that she was not coming back, urging him to forget her. Markey, it was shown, immediately came here, and learned that she had fallen in love with Ewnis, at whose hotel she had been a guest.

A detective testified that Ewnis and Mrs. Markey had gone to Mexico together, and that Ewnis had invested in property there, probably sufficient to satisfy the judgment.

A letter from Mrs. Rosamond Witham to Mrs. Markey, her daughter, to which Judge Valentine referred, read:

"Don't have any qualms about working anyone for it is a wise thing to look after Number One, regardless of how generous the other fellow may be. He is getting value received by your giving yourself to him, and, being the gentleman you claim, he will appreciate it. If you have found a friend who will do so much for you, stick to him, treat him right, and make him love you all the more for it."

Neither Markey nor Ewnis was at the hearing. Ewnis had defaulted to the complaint.

ENFORCING OF LAW ASKED

The Fire Commission has requested the Council to take action to see that the ordinance be enforced requiring contractors to put in a safe condition those places in the bed of the Los Angeles River from which sand has been collected. The matter was referred to the Tunnels, Bridges and Viaducts Committee.

Gymnasium for New City Hall to be Provided

Municipal employees are to have their own athletic clubs, one for men and another for women, when the new City Hall is completed. A part of two upper floors has been set aside for this purpose.

A gymnasium, two floors in height, with every facility for the installation of indoor sports equipment, will be scheduled for use by both men and men. Part of one floor will be set aside for the women, with dressing-rooms, lockers, showers and other conveniences. A similar provision for men is made.

Finding that while the architectural scheme is adequate, there has been no plan made for the development of an athletic program or expert instruction and supervision, the Los Angeles playground and recreation department has sent a communication to the City Council offering to assume charge of these municipal quarters, providing athletic directors and systematizing the use of the two recreation floors.

peals, United States Supreme Court, Treasury Department or "Attorney-General's office can only follow the California law as covered by the California statutes and amplified and interpreted by the California Supreme Court," Stewart said. "This matter will be decided in the 'Stewart'" test case now pending before the California Supreme Court for decision. A case precisely pertinent to the issue in this matter has never been decided by the State Supreme Court, but such cases have been decided in all other community property States and as a result taxpayers of those States have paid 25 to 40 per cent less income taxes since 1917."

In California, he said, this involves the question whether income taxpayers recover about $100,000,000 in back taxes for the years 1917 to 1926, and whether husband and wife shall have the right to file separate returns.

BOGUS BILL SUSPECTS UP FOR HEARING

Accused Women Called for Trial This Morning; Men to Plead Later

Thelma Joan Ford and Constance Shockley, girl members of an asserted million-dollar counterfeiting clique that operated in Los Angeles, San Jose, Fresno and San Francisco, according to reports made by W. W. Aebe, chief of the United States Secret Service for Southern California, will have their hearing at 10 o'clock this morning before United States Commissioner Head, while three male coconspirators, Roy Garland, Walter M. Feagan and Earl Bowers, will have bearings at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

None of the local quintet, half the number under arrest in connection with the expose here and in San Francisco, has been able to make bond despite opinions by investigating agents that their broadcasting of spurious $10 gold notes netted the combine thousands of dollars.

In San Francisco, Jay R. Garner, William Barton, Orses Sherman, alias Brown, Myrtle Bersie and Laverne Whitney, a woman, are held by Thomas B. Foster, secret service agent for the northern district, on similar charges. They also have not offered to supply surety for their release.

The Ford girl is the neice of Barton and, by her own statement, "was drunk" when induced to enter the scheme of "peddling" the false currency.

SONS HONOR PARENTS AT FETE HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Gage, Wedded Fifty-five Years Observe Anniversary

A fifty-fifth wedding anniversary was celebrated by Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Gage yesterday at the home of their son, J. H. Gage, president of the Pig 'n Whistle Company, 851 Lafayette Park Place, with a dinner at which four of the sons were present.

The day also marked the seventy-ninth birthday of Mrs. Gage. Both husband and wife are in excellent health and joyously greeted members of the family who came to extend congratulations. Until five years ago they resided in Boston. Mr. Gage was chief freight claim agent for the Boston and Maine Railroad for fifty-four years.

Three of the sons reside in this section. They are J. H. Gage, Fred A. Gage contractor and builder, and Dr. Arthur Gage of Redlands. Another son, Edward C. Gage came from Boston to participate in the anniversary celebration.

Arraignments in Arson Ring Plot Set for Today

Seven asserted members of a so-called master arson ring are scheduled to be arraigned in Judge Keetch's court this morning on a grand-jury indictment charging them with two counts of arson and two of burning and destroying insured property.

The men are Fred Kaplan, Max Rachoff, H. Leviton, H. Meyers, Ben Rassow, Benjamin Sugerman and Joseph Greenberg. Sugarman and Greenberg, insurance adjusters, surrendered Saturday and deposited $25,000 bail to obtain their release pending trial. Others named in the indictment, who were said to be engaged in various mercantile businesses, were taken into custody earlier in the week.

The seven men are charged with setting fires in a building at Seventh and Hill streets, belonging to the Sun Realty Company, and in a structure at 618 South Spring street belonging to the Meredith Building Company.

The authorities are pressing a city-wide investigation to determine the extent of the operations of the asserted ring and, according to the District Attorney's office, it is expected a half-dozen other arrests will be made in the case within the next few days.

THOUSAND HELP COLE CELEBRATE

Pasadena Pioneer Honored on Hundredth Birthday

Program of Tribute in Songs and Speeches

Host Acts as Toastmaster Introducing Speakers

PASADENA, Aug. 15.—A thousand Pasadenans, mostly old-timers, gathered at Library Park this afternoon to help Galusha M. Cole, well-known and better-loved local pioneer, celebrate his one hundredth birthday in a program of tribute in speeches and song.

Mr. Cole, who counts this day one of the happiest and fullest in a long and useful life, himself acted as toastmaster for the affair and presented the speakers. Nearly everyone in the audience was his personal friend, won through the thirty-seven years which he has lived in Pasadena.

Dr. A. W. Lamport of Los Angeles, an old-time friend who knew Mr. Cole half a century ago in Richmond, Ind., where he was in charge of the teaching of music in the public schools, opened the program with a glowing tribute.

Dr. Lamport was followed by Miss Eleanor Miller, State Assemblywoman from Pasadena; Dr. S. G. Livingston, pastor of the Calvary Presbyterian Church of South Pasadena; Col. John Sobieski of Los Angeles, and finally by Mr. Cole, who expressed his gratitude for the ovation given him.

Born in Collin county, Connecticut, 100 years ago today, Galusha Cole has probably seen and interpreted as long a span of life as any man in America today, for he is still active, full of energy and eager to enjoy life. He goes downtown every day and is interested in all the current affairs.

He looks forward to many more years of life, he told the crowd at Library Park today, although he admitted that he would not attempt the feat he accomplished on his ninety-fifth birthday, that of scaling Mt. Wilson. The most important thing in life, he says, is to be honest, kind and good-natured.

Mr. Cole has been a Mason for fifty-six years, and is the only living charter member of the Pasadena Commandery, Knights Templar. Tomorrow evening his brother knights will present him with a mammoth cake in honor of his birthday and are planning a banquet in his behalf at the new Scottish Rite Temple.

Southland Elks Plan Two Days Frolic at Venice

VENICE, Aug. 15.—A two-day frolic on the Venice pier will be staged by the Santa Monica Bay Elks' Lodge Tuesday and Wednesday, the 17th and 18th inst., according to plans announced by Secretary Olaf Klausen of the Elks, and President D. J. Davis of the Venice Amusement Men's Association. A percentage of all returns during the two days is to be paid by pier concessionaires and showmen toward the Elks' charity fund. Lodges throughout Southern California have promised to send delegations during the frolic.

MYSTERY IN ACCIDENT

Upland Rancher Found in Street With Skull Fractured

UPLAND, Aug. 15.—James Loch, aged rancher of Fifteenth street and Mountain avenue, is in a serious condition at the San Antonio Community Hospital suffering from a fractured skull. Little hope is entertained for his recovery. Loch was picked up this morning on Mountain avenue near Seventeenth street by a passing motorist who found the rancher lying in the road unconscious.

Local officers at first felt certain that the aged man had been struck down by a hit-and-run motorist, but, according to Chief of Police J. F. Sawyer, a careful examination by physicians revealed no bruises on the man's body excepting the right shoulder and the skull, both of which it would have been possible to receive in a fall on the concrete pavement.

Up to a late hour this evening Loch had not regained consciousness.

MIDWICK POLO TEAM MUST DEFAULT TITLE

PASADENA, Aug. 15.—Midwick Country Club's national champion polo team will not go east next month to defend its title, won in 1924, according to Carleton Burke, president of the club and captain of the team. Injuries received by Burke several weeks ago in a practice match make it inadvisable for him to compete, and E. G. Miller, who played No. 3 on the championship team, is unable to make the trip on account of business pressure. Elmer Boeseke of Santa Barbara, who was expected to replace him, will likewise be unable to make the journey.

SAN FERNANDO WANTS ALL STORES LIGHTED

SAN FERNANDO, Aug. 15.—Agitation is being started by the Chamber of Commerce to induce merchants to provide for more lights in store fronts in order that the town may have a better appearance at night. The police department has offered to co-operate if the merchants will install outside switches so that the patrolmen may turn the lights off at a designated hour.

POLICE HONOR AIDE

MONROVIA, Aug. 15.—"Commissioner of Monrovia Police" is the caption on a handsome gold badge presented to City Trustee Little last night by Police Chief Scott. Mr. Little has been active in behalf of the police department and members of the force chose this means of expressing their appreciation.

FUND DRIVE PLANNED

Greater Santa Monica Club Will Marshal Forces for Publicity Campaign Tuesday

SANTA MONICA, Aug. 15.—Launching a drive for $30,000 for carrying on their campaign of advertising and publicity, the Greater Santa Monica Club will marshal its forces Tuesday morning, the 17th inst., at an "on-your-marks" breakfast at 8 o'clock, in the Santa Monica Athletic Club.

Arthur S. Bent, president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, has been invited to speak to the campaign workers prior to their actual start of the subscription canvass.

President W. W. Bennett of the club and Campaign Director C. W. Lee, have named leading business and professional men of Santa Monica and Ocean Park to carry on the work. At the campaign headquarters today both officials spoke of a recent demonstration of the widespread influence of the Greater Santa Monica Club's publicity in the past, pointing out the desirability of carrying on with the work through the funds sought for 1926-1927.

The demonstration was supplied by C. C. C. Tatum, past president of the California Real Estate Association, who spoke before the Santa Monica realtors at last week's meeting in the Gables Club. Mr. Tatum, who returned to his home recently after an European tour of six months, said that during his travels he met two Japanese graduates of Harvard University, who informed him they had been attracted by newspaper advertising to Santa Monica, and were considering the installation here of a Japanese tea house on a scale of oriental magnificence never before attempted along the Pacific Coast. The Japanese had with them copies of Greater Santa Monica Club advertising which had drawn them to this section.

Tuesday's breakfast at the Athletic Club will mark the launching of a determined drive to finance what Mr. Bennett and other club officials have termed one of Santa Monica's most essential and profitable investments in carrying on the development of this city.

FRIDAY NOT BUGABOO TO OIL DRILLER

Work on Gallagher Well Started on Thirteenth; Shaft to be Deepened

LONG BEACH, Aug. 15. (Exclusive)—Although oil drillers have their superstitions, the bad omens supposed to be connected with Friday, the thirteenth, did not halt the activities of Superintendent Gallagher, of the Gallagher Trust, who Friday commenced swabbing the Gallagher No. 2, at Linden avenue near Wardlow Road in Los Cerritos. The well was cemented at 4730 feet. Swabbing is still under way.

A. J. Delaney, prominent Independent operator in the Los Cerritos extension, is preparing to deepen the Shreve well on Pasadena avenue, south of Wardlow Road.

The Harbor Oil Company is arranging to take over and deepen the Delaney No. 5, on Elm avenue south of Thirty-sixth street. This well produced 1700 barrels, initial yield, from the top sand, in the early days of the extension's development.

Work of tearing down the derrick of the Coombs No. 5 at Bixby Road and Pine avenue, started Saturday. The Coombs No. 5 is the well which blew out several months ago wrecking itself and a number of neighboring wells and some residence property. A new derrick was built following the disaster, but the hole was found to be in bad shape and was abandoned.

NEW LODGE INSTALLED

Sons of St. George Organized With 500 at Inglewood

INGLEWOOD, Aug. 15.—More than 500 persons thronged the Inglewood Woman's clubhouse last night to witness the institution of the new lodge of the American Order of the Sons of St. George and the installation of its officers. The occasion was made more brilliant by the presence of the head of the order, Supreme President Arthur Pinchbeck of New York City. He instituted the new lodge and presented its charter as No. 484.

Grand President George Fake, who presides over the Pacific Coast jurisdiction, installed the officers. C. E. Freshwater heads the new lodge, which will use the Woman's Club as its lodge rooms. George Fotte is the charter secretary.

Mayor Miller gave the address of welcome. The Inglewood Municipal Band gave a concert preceding the ceremonies. A number of the grand officers of the Pacific Coast jurisdiction took part in the ceremonies.

WRECKED HOSPITAL REBUILDING STARTS

SAN FERNANDO, Aug. 15.—Work is starting on the reconstruction of the womens' ward at the United States Veterans' Hospital, three miles north of San Fernando, according to Dr. S. H. James, commandant. The building was partially wrecked while under course of construction last winter when a gas explosion occurred. Other improvements are under way on the grounds, including landscape gardening features. The cost of reconstruction is estimated at $75,000. The hospital now has 200 patients, of whom thirty-two are nurses suffering tuberculosis. The working personnel of the institution also is approximately 200, as it required about one employee to each patient.

LEASE ROYALTY HIGH

One-Sixth to be Paid Owners of Kimberlina Area Tract

BAKERSFIELD, Aug. 15. (Exclusive)—The General Petroleum Corporation has filed a lease with the County Recorder, in which one-sixth royalty is assured if oil is brought in on sixty acres leased from S. W. and Ruth T. Spencer, in the Kimberlina district, on Lerdo Mesa.

The land involved in the lease is the SE 1-4NE1-4, S½SW1-4NE 1-4, Sec. 28, 27-26.

The lease is an offset to that held by Woodward & Sheedy who are preparing to drill on the adjoining section, 29. Work on the rig is progressing rapidly. A rotary outfit from Los Angeles will be used in drilling.

WATER CONSERVATION PLAN OF VENTURANS

VENTURA, Aug. 15. — A petition for the formation of a water conservation district was filed with County Clerk Hallowell by Henry C. Downes of Oxnard, the district to include the entire watershed of the Santa Clara River, some of which is owned by the county. The district, it is pointed out, will act to prevent floods and deposit of silt, will regulate the flow of streams, construct canals, divert water courses for the conservation of flood waters, build reservoirs, canals, dams and levees and straighten, widen and deepen present water courses.

BOY'S SPINE BROKEN IN DIVE AT FRESNO

FRESNO, Aug. 15. (AP)—His spine crushed in a dive into shallow water in Dry Creek here Charles Lomier, 12 years of age, will recover, physicians believe. The boy was paralyzed and was floating down stream to his death when companions leaped into the stream and rescued him.

Writers Seek Humid Spots for Inspiration

INGLEWOOD, Aug. 15—Two well-known Inglewood writers, Ben Arid, poet of the desert places, and Raymond S. Spears, an authority on field and stream and a past master of woodcraft, are leaving here to take up their autumn abode below the border. They plan to make their headquarters at the clubhouse and shooting preserves of the Compania Coronado Club in Baja California.

Mr. Spears, who is a regular contributor to the leading periodicals of the country, including the Times Magazine, will be the director of woodcraft for the club and also has been elected an honorary vice-president of the organization, which controls the right to hunt, fish, camp and ride over 70,000 acres of land, with miles of bathing beach along the Pacific, twenty-five miles below the border.

Ben Arid, known and loved throughout the fervent expanse of the Mojave Desert, is planning a long sojourn, he says, in an environment the opposite of that of the dry and arid, from which he takes his name.

NEW PAVING ASSURED

Protests Against Improvement at Van Nuys Denied

VAN NUYS, Aug. 15.—The paving of Saticoy street from Van Nuys Boulevard to Santa Ana avenue is now virtually assured, the protests against the improvement having been denied by the City Council in regular proceedings.

The street, for a distance of about eleven miles, will be paved twenty feet wide with concrete and will provide another important traffic artery connecting Van Nuys with the west part of San Fernando Valley. The improvement also will open up for development a long stretch of some of the most desirable land in the valley.

The project soon will be submitted to contractors for bids by the Board of Public Works, and the work should be under way very shortly.

GYMNASIUM PLANNED

Monrovia Board Lets Contract for School Addition

MONROVIA, Aug. 15.—A contract for a gymnasium building at the high school here was awarded by the school board last night to V. R. Bush, local contractor, who submitted a bid of $18,945. The new building will be completed in time for the basketball season after Christmas.

The board also ordered furniture and equipment for the high school building from several local furniture concerns and authorized new teachers' desks from Jones & Weber of Los Angeles.

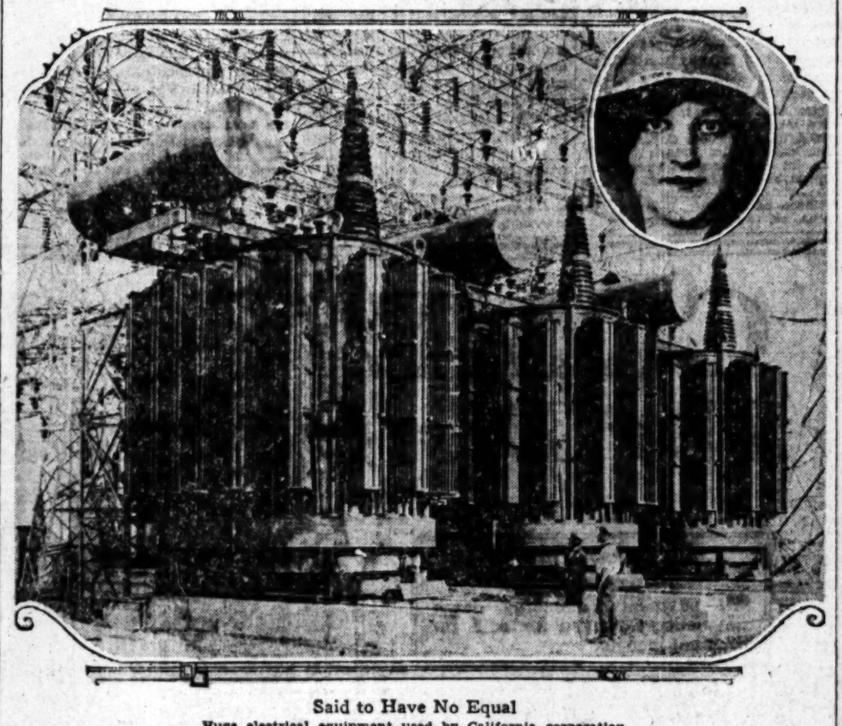
That a printing department probably will be established at the high school this fall was revealed today when the board called for bids on printing press and other machinery. B. L. Goodwin of El Centro will take charge of the new department, it was said. With this addition the Wildcat, high school newspaper, and other school printing probably will be produced by the students.

MONROVIA EXPANSION SHOWS IN TAX ROLL

MONROVIA, Aug. 15.—An increase of nearly $700,000 in assessed valuation was credited to Monrovia yesterday when the new tax roll was completed and approved by the City Trustees. The 1926-27 valuation was placed at $10,612,375, as compared to $9,934,185 for last year. Other than general improvement, the increase was produced by the annexation of Norumbega Heights, a high-class residential foothill section, and a 10 per cent increase assessed against the Oak Park section, which was annexed early in 1925.

LARGEST TRANSFORMER PUT TO WORK

Two Great Power Companies Joined at Celebration



Said to Have No Equal

Huge electrical equipment used by California corporation.

MERCED, Aug. 15.—Marking another progressive advancement in the electric-power development of the State was the celebration yesterday of the joining of the Great Western Power Company and the San Joaquin Light and Power Corporation.

Lester S. Ready, chief engineer of the California Railroad Commission, who was one of the speakers at the celebration, declared that the great tranamission line and the Wilson substation which tie together the two systems are physical demonstration of the co-operative spirit that has developed the State.

Sharing the honors of the evening with Mr. Ready was Miss Maxine White of Bakersfield, who, as "Miss San Joaquin," recently represented her home valley in the State-wide beauty contest at San Francisco. Miss White threw the switch that set the great substation in motion.

Citrus Growers Receive Checks for Initial Pool

ORANGE, Aug. 15.—Checks totaling $126,077.20 have been received by citrus growers affiliated with the McPherson Heights Citrus Association, representing payments in the first pool according to the management.

One hundred and twenty-seven cars were shipped in the pool, which covered the period between May 1 and July 1.

The second pool shipping has just been completed, but checks will not be received for several weeks. The second pool returns are expected to be much larger than those of the first pool, because of the higher market prices during July.

The association is now engaged in shipping the third pool, which is expected to be concluded by September 15.

The final pool of the year will be completed early in November. The Citrus Association management predicted that more than 400 cars would be shipped to market from the association packing house this year which total would make the 1926 season the best in the history of the McPherson organization.

The citrus market has been very good this year and the statement of the management was to the effect that no market decline was to be expected.

First Pool Pay for Walnuts in Orange County

SANTA ANA, Aug. 15.—Extremely large sizes and high prices are expected to net Orange county walnut growers an almost normal income from their groves this year despite the fact that Orange county's walnut crop is less than 30 per cent of normal according to announcement by J. E. Gowen, secretary of the Santa Ana Walnut Growers Association.

The Orange county crop is perhaps the lightest in the State according to reports. The State crop will average about 60 per cent of normal according to Gowen. Due to the light set of nuts on the trees near Santa Ana the entire crop will be of extraordinary size according to Gowen.

The large sizes coupled with the light crop should bring high prices for walnuts this year.

Reports from near by sections of the State show that walnut crops in all districts are light and have suffered from the ravages of aphis during the last several months.

Indications point to a good crop in the Pomona and Chino districts. Whittier also gives promise of having a good crop although the crop in that district spotted it was said. The walnue crop in Placentia and vicinity will be about 60 per cent of estimate.

Walnut shipments from the Santa Ana house are estimated at about 800 tons for the 'coming season. Last year 1800 tons of nuts were shipped from the Santa Ana house.

COLLEGE BONDS PROPOSED

Issue of $485,000 to be Submitted to Voters of San Bernardino Valley Late Next Month

SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 15.—A $485,000 bond issue proposal will be submitted to the voters of the San Bernardino Valley Junior College district on September 23, it was decided by the college trustees at a conference in Dean George H. Jantzen's office in Colton.

The $485,000 issue, if approved, will be expended to purchase a thirty-four-acre site midway between San Bernardino and Colton and to erect three college buildings.

The proposed units will be so located on the site as to permit the expansion of the institution and erection of additional buildings. The three proposed structures will house all of the departments of the college, the trustees announcing that an economy policy kept the bond issue figures under $500,000.

Approximately $51,000 of the bond issue will be required to purchase the site on Mr. Vernon avenue, overlooking the territory which the college will serve.

The college courses will begin in September, the classes using rooms at the San Bernardino High School and at Colton until the new buildings are erected. The bond issue requires a two-thirds vote for approval and there is apparently no opposition to the project, which was overwhelmingly indorsed at the election to form the district, which will serve San Bernardino, Colton, Rialto, Bloomington, Highland and Del Rosa.

Ventura Paper Changes Take Effect Today

VENTURA, Aug. 15.—The Post, a morning newspaper in its forty-sixth volume and dating back to pioneer times, today published its final issue.

It has been sold by Alfred H. Davis, who has been its editor and publisher for a dozen years, to the owners of the Star, an afternoon daily which began publication here fourteen months ago.

Beginning tomorrow the consolidated daily will appear as an afternoon newspaper under the name of Ventura County Star.

The consolidated paper is owned by the Ventura County Star, Inc., of which Roy Pinkerton, editor, is president; Talbot Kendall business manager, and W. H. Porterfield of San Diego vice-president.

Pinkerton formerly was editor of The Sun, San Diego; the Times, Tocoma, and the Star, Seattle. At one time he was employed on one of the Los Angeles newspapers. Kendall was employed at different times on the Star, Sacramento; The Sun, San Diego and one of the Los Angeles morning papers. Porterfieldis half owner in The Sun at San Diego, and a heavy investor in other newspaper properties.

The sale of the Post was made necessary, it was announced, because of serious illness of Mr. Davis, who is at his home here under the care of physicians. He bought the paper in 1914 from John H. McGonigle who had operated it under the name of the Democrat. The purchase includes a long-time lease on the Post Building owned by Mr. Davis.

YORBA LINDA SUBWAY HOLDS UP ROAD WORK

YORBA LINDA, Aug. 15. — Promise of early action on the completion of the new paved highway eastward from Yorba Linda, has been given by county officials to the Yorba Linda Chamber of Commerce. The road has been built and is paved to the Pacific Electric line where it is held up pending the building of a subway under the tracks. Dist.-Atty. A. P. Nelson has filed the application of Orange county with the Railroad Commission asking permission to build the subway and the application also asks for an apportionment of the cost south of the Pacific Electric. The right of way has been secured and Supervisors Willard Smith has agreed to complete the paving to a connection with the Atwood Boulevard. Orders have been issued for the work and County Engineer McBride has assured Secretary Walker that work will be started as soon as a crew can be sent there regardless of delay caused by the subway.

Fair Exhibits Preserved in Cold Storage

BAKERSFIELD, Aug. 15.—Fruit and vegetables representing Kern county's finest produce and destined for exhibit at the Kern County Fair September 14 to 18, already are being assembled at the new cold-storage plant of the Central California Ice Company. Individual exhibitors for the past month have been taking advantage of the opportunity to make sure that their displays will reach the fair in perfect condition.

Exhibitors will benefit this year by the fact that Kern county's fair will be held nearly a month earlier than last year. The date was fixed because of the fact that fruit and vegetables reach maturity here approximately three weeks earlier than the same products reach the market in other parts of the State, according to C. A. Melcher, chairman of the committee on processing, storing and displaying agricultural products. Produce placed in storage now is expected to retain its condition until brought from its icy retreat for the fair.

BURBANK, Aug. 15.—The next few days will be exceedingly busy ones for Manager Bob Cavenaugh of the Burbank auto show, which is scheduled to open in the big tent on Olive avenue near the City Hall Wednesday evening. He says the 30,000 square feet of floor space, according to present indications, will be filled to capacity with models of 1927 cars of practically every make that has a sales agency in the Los Angeles sector.
